BRITISH WARNED DICTATOR DEALS PERIL EMPIRE

Foreign Policy Hit in House of Lords.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 18.—Viscount Halifax tonight faced the fiercest political storm since he became foreign secretary while defending in the house of lords the British government's policy of conciliating dictators and the British-Italian deal to recognize Premier Mussolini's conquest of Ethiopia.

With his long legs stretched out and his eyes fixed on the ceiling, Halifax heard Baron Snell, leader of the Labor opposition, warn that Great Britain's reputation in the United States had plunged to a record low, that England is losing control of the Mediterranean and that the empire is facing a greater danger than since Napoleon's time.

Moves to Censure Government.

The baron moved to censure Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's government's foreign policy, which he denounced as "unrighteous pacts and un-English devices by which we are attempting to secure temporary respite from threats and acts of aggression."

"Our positions at the western gates of the Mediterranean are in danger," he said. "It seems to me our reputation in America has deteriorated during recent months.

"They [the Americans] see Great Britain conniving at spurious nonintervention in Spain and accepting, apparently with joy, the Italian invasion of Ethiopia, and they are not really impressed by attempts which have been made to harness the chariot of his majesty's government to the name of their president.

Refers to Arms Purchases.

"If it is right for us to buy arms in America when we are not attacked, why is it wrong for Spain to purchase arms wherever she can find them when she is engaged in fighting for her life and liberty against an oppressor?"

The Labor motion specifically assailed "acceptance of the sacrifice of Ethiopian independence," and said British foreign policy is "detrimental to the democratic government of Spain."

Leading Conservatives, headed by Lord Lloyd of Dolobran who just returned from a trip to the Mediterranean, supported the government's argument that it is trying to keep Britain from becoming involved in a war in Europe, but among other Tories there were rumblings of criticism.

Ecclesiasts Enter Debate.

A conflict among ecclesiastics of the Church of England was disclosed when the Rt. Rev. H. Hensley Henson, bishop of Durham, vigorously condemned Britain's pact with Italy. He expressed suspicions of Mussolini's good faith after the Most Rev. Cosmo Gordon Lang, archbishop of Canterbury, "with reluctance amounting almost to pain," supported Halifax's view in the interests of peace.

The archbishop of Canterbury pleaded with the government to urge Il Duce to let Haile Selassie, exiled emperor of Ethiopia, return to Ethiopia as part ruler of the East African empire under Rome's domination.

Concluding the debate, Halifax delivered a vigorous exposition of British foreign policy which, he said, sought "peace through understanding" and was based on realistic principles.

Insists on Neutrality.

The cardinal features of the policy as outlined by the foreign secretary were continuation of nonintervention in Spain as a means of preventing a spread of war which would involve Britain and support of the league of nations covenant's principles. He qualified the latter by insisting on "recognition of accomplished facts," meaning Mussolini's conquest of Ethiopia.

"I am convinced the only way in which the Italian position can be challenged today in Ethiopia would be by concerted military action—that is, war," Halifax said.

He emphasized the advantages to Britain of the agreement with Italy and indicated the Chamberlain government is anxous to reach a similar understanding with Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler of Germany.

The British move to acknowledge Italy's conquest of Ethiopia achieved general support in the league council, the foreign secretary maintained. He

GOVERNOR ASKS CITY TO FORK UP IN RELIEF CRISIS

Borrow or Levy New Tax, He Says.

Chicago's relief muddle yesterday resolved itself into a controversy between state and city officials, with Gov. Horner insisting emphatically that the city should provide more relief money either by borrowing from its own special funds or by levying new taxes.

City officials replied that Chicago is paying the state far more in sales taxes than it receives in benefits and that therefore the state should come to the city's rescue either through legislation or direct appropriation.

Suggests New Relief Taxes.

With Chicago's 23 relief stations closed because of a $1,500,000 deficit in relief funds for this month, Gov. Horner said:

"Chicago and any other city in Illinois should be ready, if necessary, to divert or borrow from its own funds to meet the emergency. If a city has a plan for raising relief revenue from new taxes it can divert funds on hand to relief uses while machinery is set up to collect the taxes. Then the city can replace the diverted money with the new revenue."

In his call for the special session of the legislature which begins tomorrow night the governor asked for a relief appropriation of $500,000 a month for the next nine months to be added to the present state appropriation of $2,900,000 a month. Of this amount Chicago could not expect more than $400,000 a month. The governor also made provision for the enactment of legislation that would permit Chicago and other cities to increase present taxes or find new ones.

Advised by Relief Commission.

In answer to questions as to why he had stipulated $500,000 as the maximum monthly additional relief grant from the state, Mr. Horner said he had written that into the call on advice of members of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission.

City officials pointed out that Chicago pays more than 60 per cent of the sales tax revenue collected by the state and that downstate is receiving the benefit. Sales tax collections in 1937 totaled approximately $74,000,000, of which Chicago contributed more than $44,000,000. The state gave Chicago less than $24,000,000 for relief last year.

The governor did not mention specific funds from which Chicago might borrow to get relief funds. In Springfield it was reported that he alluded to the city's $67,000,000 traction fund. Street car companies contributed $47,000,000 under the 1907 ordinances and the rest is income from investments.

Fund Called City's Bank.

"The traction fund is the city's bank," said City Controller Robert B. Upham. "We can't just take money out of the fund without replacing the money with bankable securities. At present there is slightly more than $600,000 in cash in the fund."

William H. Sexton, the city's expert

U. S. Launches Free Speech Quiz in Jersey

Washington, D. C., May 18.—(AP)—Charges that free speech and other civil liberties have been suppressed in the Jersey City domain of Mayor Frank Hague resulted today in justice department orders for a "thorough investigation" of the situation there.

Attorney General Homer Cummings, announcing the inquiry, told reporters it was prompted by newspaper reports and complaints received from many persons. It would be directed, he said, at determining whether any one in Jersey City has been deprived of civil rights guaranteed by federal law.

Forbids Conspiracies.

The statute to which he referred forbids conspiracies to deprive any citizen of his rights under the law. It recently was invoked in a case charging coal operators and officials of Harlan county, Ky., with conspiring to prevent coal miners from exercising their rights under the Wagner labor relations act.

The investigation, Cummings disclosed, has been in progress for a week or ten days to the extent that department attorneys have been examining complaints to see whether they come under the law. No investigators have been sent to Jersey City yet, he said.

Cummings' announcement was the Roosevelt administration's first recognition that all might not be serene in Jersey City under the administration of Hague, a local and national political power and a vice chairman of the Democratic national committee.

Organizers "Deported."

The charges of an infringement of civil rights in Jersey City stemmed originally from difficulties encountered by C. I. O. organizers in reaching the workers of that city. Some of the organizers were "deported" by the police.

A few weeks ago Norman Thomas, Socialist leader, was taken from Journal square when he attempted to address a street meeting and was put on board a Manhattan bound ferry boat.

Representatives J. J. O'Connell [D., Mont.] and J. T. Bernard [F.-L., Minn.] announced plans for a meeting in the same square on May 7, under the auspices of the International Labor Defense. The speeches were called off.

THEY'LL SETTLE TODAY WHETHER THE RACE IS ALWAYS TO SWIFT BIRD

Bet on William Lyon's cowbirds today if you want to. But before you pass up George Norris' racing homer pigeons you might read the story of the tortoise and the hare again.

Cowbirds have speed to burn. Even Mr. Lyon concedes, though, that they like to strut a bit, and boast, before going into their cage when they get home—and the winner's the bird which gets inside first. The pigeons, if a bit more leisurely, fly straight into their cages and on occasion, Mr. Norris says, even close the door behind them.

Six of Mr. Lyon's cowbirds and three of Mr. Norris' pigeons will be brought by plane to the Chicago airport today and released. The cowbirds, blackbirds which like cattle for playmates, will streak off at once for Mr. Lyon's home at 811 North Sheridan road, Waukegan. The pigeons will follow more philosophically, their destination Mr. Norris' place at 33 Douglas avenue, Waukegan.

GOLDFISH STEAL AWAY, BUT THAT ISN'T ANY CRIME

A week ago, when Mrs. Albert Dughi of Highwood went out to the pool in her garden and couldn't find the 200 fish that were supposed to be there, she was upset about it. It was a fine thing, indeed, that nothing auriferous was safe any more, not even goldfish. With some emphasis she put the matter before Police Chief John Smith of the suburb.

Yesterday Chief Smith got around to the scene of the stealing. He donned a pair of hip boots and armed himself with a stick to do a little probing into the case. Whether Chief Smith had special scientific knowledge or was just lucky probably never will be known. In any event, he found the fish. He squished to the house.

"Your goldfish will be back with interest," he told Mrs. Dughi. "They're in the mud at the bottom of the pool. They're spawning."

2 Dramatists Ready to Duel Over Liar Slur

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 18.—Henry Bernstein and Edouard Bourdet, two of the brightest luminaries in the French literary world, are committed to a duel within the next twenty-four hours.

Henry Bernstein.

After sharp letters, in which they called each other liars and worse, each appointed two seconds, who met today in the French tradition to decide whether the situation calls for a duel.

Both Bernstein and Bourdet are playwrights, the latter also being administrator of the French national theater, the Comédie Française. Several of Bernstein's dramas have been produced on New York's Broadway. He has fought eight duels in the last few years, while Bourdet never has fought one.

Quarrel Long Standing.

Bernstein's seconds are Charles Mere, president of the National Society of Authors, and Rene Prejelan, a well known swordsman. Bourdet's are Pierre Benoit of the French Academy and Paul Morand, an author, also well known in the United States.

Bernstein and Bourdet have quarreled frequently in the past and recently Bernstein withdrew his play, "Judith," from the Comédie Française, accusing Bourdet of deliberately having sabotaged his dramas by presenting them after insufficient rehersal.

Challenge Follows Letters.

Bourdet threatened to sue for scenery, costumes, and the time spent in rehersing "Judith." An exchange of letters followed, in which Bernstein challenged Bourdet.

The latest big duel in France was in 1937 when Serge Veber, a well known writer, wounded M. Michelson in a sword duel.

In ten big duels since 1923 four have been with swords and six with weak caliber pistols.

Invading Army Fights Through Hail of Bullets

BY KIMPEI SHEBA.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, May 19 [Thursday].—Japanese forces have captured all of Suchow except the southern section, where fierce fighting is going on, the Japanese military announced today.

Arrow indicates direction of advance of main Japanese force which stormed Suchow.

Both sides are rushing reinforcements to the contested area of the city which was the chief objective of the Japanese offensive in central China, an army communique said.

Domei, the official Japanese news agency, said Japanese troops advancing from the southwest captured the western wall of Suchow at 9 a. m. after artillery and planes had bombarded the city.

Prepare for Celebration.

The assault force fought its way through a hail of Chinese fire and there was furious hand to hand fighting in the streets. Then other forces stormed the walls from other sides of the city.

Tokio was preparing a grand celebration to commemorate the expected complete Suchow victory. A million citizens will be notified to assemble in Hibiya park to participate in flag processions during the day and lantern processions at night.

Later today, for the first time in history, a "shot by shot" account of the war will be broadcast from the fighting lines. Tokio's favorite announcer was sent to the Suchow front.

Japan is determined to push on to Hankow after the fall of Suchow, a spokesman for the foreign office said. If the Chinese resist they must be crushed, he added. The capture of Hankow is regarded as necessary from a strategic standpoint, and if that takes place, the importance of an attack on Canton will be diminished greatly.

Seek to Link Conquests.

Suchow is the junction point of the north-south Tientsin-Pukow [Nanking] and the east-west Lunghai railroads. Control of the Tientsin-Pukow would connect the Japanese conquered areas of North China and the Shanghai-Nanking zone and link the Japanese puppet governments of Peking and Nanking. The Lunghai was the Chinese link to the food producing areas of central China.

A Japanese military spokesman asserted the 200,000 Chinese defenders of the Lunghai zone "are in the bag." He admitted there still were some gaps in the encirclement of the Chinese, but declared the Japanese

PRIMARY COUNT EXCEEDS THAT OF DEMOCRATS

Deals Body Blow to Farley, Roosevelt.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., May 18.—[Special.]—Pennsylvania voters have dealt a body blow to the political ambitions of John L. Lewis, C. I. O. labor dictator, and jarred the Roosevelt administration to its deepest foundations.

These are the momentous implications of the primary held yesterday in the Keystone state. Candidates backed by Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization were rejected by wide margins, demands of National Democratic Chairman James A. Farley were ignored by his own party, and Senator Joseph F. Guffey, an original Roosevelt leader, was put on the road to political eclipse.

Back Toward G. O. P. Column.

Returns also revealed a groundswell back toward Republican conservatism. The Republican total vote exceeded the Democratic vote despite the heat of the Democratic campaign. This trend, coupled with the revelations of graft and bribery which the warring Democratic factions hurled at each other, may lead Pensylvania back into its traditional G. O. P. fold at the November election.

Thomas Kennedy, secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers of America and the Guffey-C. I. O. contender for governor, was running approximately 100,000 votes behind Charles Alvin Jones, Pittsburgh lawyer, with returns in from seven-eighths of the state. Farley urged Kennedy's selection in a desperate appeal on the eve of the primary.

Machine Functions Smoothly.

Gov. George H. Earle, with his state machine functioning smoothly, was running 400,000 votes ahead of Mayor S. Davis Wilson of Philadelphia for the Democratic nomination for senator. Wilson was on the Guffey-C. I. O. slate. He was snubbed by Farley when the postmaster general recommended Earle's selection in the primary eve pronouncement.

Charles J. Margiotti, former attorney general and unbossed candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, was running in third place with less than 200,000 votes. Margiotti was ousted as the state's chief law officer by Gov. Earle several weeks ago, when he demanded a grand jury investigation into the charges of misrule by the state administration.

With returns in from 7,995 of the state's 8,075 districts, Earle had 765,956 votes to 328,759 for Wilson.

For governor 8,011 districts gave Jones 584,435; Kennedy, 517,913, and Margiotti, 170,915.

Conservative Republican Wins.

On the Republican side Superior Court Judge Arthur H. James won a smashing victory, with a majority approaching the half million mark in late returns, over Gifford Pinchot, veteran campaigner and twice governor, for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

This was a second crushing defeat for C. I. O. Czar Lewis, who was reported to have been ready to back the Pinchot candidacy in the event Kennedy lost. Pinchot straddled the charge during the campaign.

For the Republican senatorial nomination Senator James J. Davis, the incumbent, was leading G. Mason Owlett, state senator and national committeeman, by more than 300,000 votes on fairly complete returns.

Returns from 7,936 districts gave James 928,071 votes; Pinchot, 435,626.

In the Republican senatorial race 7,887 districts gave Davis 787,536 votes; Owlett, 437,733.

Lewis Is Man Without Party.

Where Lewis will take his miners, his steel workers and other C. I. O. converts in the fall election is the matter of much conjecture.

Both the Republicans under James and the Democrats under Gov. Earle attacked Lewis during the campaign. Earle undoubtedly drew votes away from Kennedy by claiming the C. I. O. was attempting to take over the Democratic organization in the state.

The pre-primary boast of Lewis that he controled 800,000 C. I. O. votes in Pennsylvania was exploded at the polls. Kennedy's state-wide total, including all the ballots swayed by Guffey's federal and WPA machine, was about 520,000. And Pennsylvania is supposed to be Lewis' strongest state.

It will be surprising if Lewis supports Jones for governor in the fall because the latter was strongly backed during the primary campaign by the American Federation of Labor.

Senator Guffey, once undisputed boss of Pennsylvania's Democratic forces, had no comment on the outcome. Months ago he promised to support the party nominees, but it is said the senator's price for harmony will come high.

The crackup of the once powerful Democratic organization in Pennsylvania, built on pap, patronage and easy money from Washington, started in January of this year when Lewis demanded that Kennedy be selected as the state committee's choice. This was in repayment of the $500,000 which came out of the miners' treasury for Roosevelt in 1936 and for the votes Lewis had turned in for the elections of Guffey and Earle.

Seek White House Advice.

When the situation became serious, party leaders treked to the White House to enlist the President's aid. At this confab the name of William Bullitt, ambassador to France, was proposed as a compromise gubernatorial candidate. Those participating in the discussion with Roosevelt were State Chairman David Lawrence, Guffey, Earle, and J. David Stern, publisher of the Philadelphia Record and C. I. O. ally.

Hotfooting it back to the governor's mansion at Harrisburg, the quartet laid the proposition before other party bigwigs. There was immediate protest from Matthew H. McCloskey, political contractor, and John B. Kelly, leader of the Philadelphia organization. At this powwow, which lasted until nearly dawn, Jones was fastened upon as the candidate. Guffey was sore but silent.

Decide to Go It Alone.

Subsequently Lewis and Guffey decided to pick a slate and fight it out with the regular state organization. The result was the most bitter primary in the history of the commonwealth, apparently sealing the doom of this one time right bower of the Roosevelt administration.

Because of the surprising Republican vote, G. O. P. leaders estimated today they would gain at least a dozen seats in the house of representatives in the fall.

While Republican strategists were optimistic, they realize a hard fight is ahead. They will have to counterbalance the effect of millions of new Roosevelt pump priming dollars to be poured into the state after the legislation is passed by congress. The G. O. P. also will face the largest pay roll army in the history of the Pennsylvania commonwealth.

On the other hand, Republican leaders feel the Earle administration has been thoroughly discredited by the charges piled up during the redhot Democratic primary fight for control of the party.

Study Inquiry Demands.

The state Supreme court, meeting here today, reserved decision on the legality of a proposed grand jury investigation at Harrisburg into the graft and corruption charges.

Chief among charges the grand jury would be asked to look into is the financial dealing between Gov. Earle and McCloskey. Earle admitted under fire during the campaign that he obtained loans of $26,500 from McCloskey, who later was awarded nearly 10 million dollars worth of public works contracts.

Margiotti accused Lawrence and McCloskey of accepting $20,000 for passage of legislation favorable to the brewers in 1935. He also charged that the Democratic leaders exacted tribute of $100,000 as reward for passing a measure permitting Sunday motion pictures.

The clique around Earle also was accused of forcing state contractors to kick back sums totaling $1,250,000 on contract work which they have been awarded.

LEWIS HEAVIEST LOSER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 18.—[Special.] — Jubilant Republicans and downcast Democrats occupied themselves today with varied appraisals of the sensational Pennsylvania primary yesterday in an effort to establish which way the political wind is blowing in that state and the nation at large.

Just as Democratic National Chairman James A. Farley predicted Democratic success in Illinois next November on the basis of the preponderant Democratic vote in the recent primaries in that state, Republican National Chairman John Hamilton today hailed the prospective return of Pennsylvania to the Republican fold on the strength of a Republican vote in that state yesterday exceeding the total Democratic vote by 100,000.

Pinchot Defeat a Barometer.

Specially significant in the opinion of most Republican leaders was the defeat of former Governor Gifford Pinchot, a liberal Republican who was dubbed a "50 per cent New Dealer" by Judge Arthur H. James in the contest for the Republican nomination for governor. Judge James devoted his entire campaign to an attack on the New Deal. In the result was detected a stiffening of Republican opposition to the social, political, and economic innovations of the Roosevelt régime.

"The results of the Pennsylvania primary elections," said Republican Chairman Hamilton, "point to certain victory in the Keystone state in November. Pennsylvania will lead the nation then in returning the government of this country—state as well as federal—back to a sane, sound administration of the people's affairs.

"Handwriting on the Wall."

"For the New Deal and all its radical and crack-brain allies the Pennsylvania results constitute the handwriting on the wall.

"National Democratic Chairman Farley pleaded with the Pennsylvania Democrats to nominate John Lewis' hand picked candidate, Thomas Kennedy. C. I. O. leaders in Pennsylvania loudly proclaimed that Mr. Farley's indorsement indicated the President's desire for Kennedy's nomination.

"His stinging defeat was a well deserved rebuke to the President and Mr. Farley for their arrogant attempt to dictate in a primary contest to Pennsylvania voters. They found that the Pennsylvania primary was not the strawman setup they had in Florida."

DR. FRANK RAKES MINTON EFFORT TO BULLY PRESS

Charges Reckless Misuse of Official Power.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Dr. Glenn Frank yesterday charged Senator Sherman Minton of Indiana with a reckless misuse of governmental powers and a complete, absolute and indefensible misstatement of fact in connection with Rural Progress, a farm magazine assailed by the Indiana senator.

Dr. Frank spoke as editor of Rural Progress, and not as chairman of the program committee of the Republican national committee, over a national broadcasting chain which permitted the Minton attack to go on the air a week earlier.

Hits Vindictive Political Attack.

His talk was both a reply to the Minton speech and a scathing criticism of the attempt made to pillory the farm magazine before the senate's special committee to investigate lobbying, of which Minton became chairman after the appointment of Senator Hugo L. Black to the United States Supreme court. Senator Minton and his associates summoned the publisher of Rural Progress, Maurice V. Reynolds, to the witness stand but flatly turned down Dr. Frank's request, made in person, to speak at the same committee meeting.

Dr. Frank brought out that he also is president of the company which publishes Rural Progress and therefore doubly responsible for the editorial content of the publication, which Senator Minton asserted was sugar coated propaganda hostile to the Roosevelt administration.

Explains Policy of Magazine.

In discussing the background of the magazine, he explained that the profit making idea that prompted free distribution was the belief that money that would be required to obtain and hold expensively acquired subscribers might better be used to defray the cost of free copies to farmers and thereby assure quickly the circulation necessary for profitable advertising. He said the soundness of the theory has been established by three years of experience.

"It is clear to me," he said in reaching his climax, "that in Senator Minton we see a man out to do his level best to browbeat the press and citizens of the nation into as near universal submission to his philosophy as he can. And he seeks to do this in the case of a magazine by undertaking to frighten its editors and its investors. Will a nation of free men tolerate this gross prostitution of political power?"

In his opening remarks, the speaker described Minton's conduct as a bitterly vindictive, partisan, political attack.

Quotes from Editorial Comment.

"From one end of the nation to the other," he continued, "Senator Minton has been scathingly rebuked by Democratic and Republican papers alike for his utterly un-American efforts to malign, browbeat, and wreck everybody, every newspaper, every magazine, every voluntary movement of citizens that does not beat the tom-tom for every policy he advocates.

"In fact, the most scathing editorial rebukes of Senator Minton have come from the newspapers that have most sincerely and consistently supported the Roosevelt administration."

Dr. Frank quoted from an editorial in the New York Evening Post, published by David Stern, whom he described as one of the most intimate political associates and supporters of President Roosevelt. It was entitled "Spare the President Such Friends" and urged the senate to "sit on Minton."

"If Senator Minton's reckless misuse of governmental powers and misstatement of facts," continued Dr. Frank, "which marked his attack on Rural Progress, is tolerated by the American people, the senator and his committee will turn the hands of the clock back to about fifty years before the Bill of Rights was written into the American constitution.

Landmark of People's Freedom.

"At that time government in England was trying to invade and enslave the press. Out of the battle then waged, however, it was settled that editors should be free to publish what they pleased about the policies and acts of government as long as they did not violate the canons of decency or indulge in libel.

"Apparently Senator Minton has not heard of that landmark of a people's freedom in English speaking history. And he seems incredibly hazy on the American bill of rights."

In direct reply to the Minton assertion that Rural Progress was created and is supported by capitalists—"fat cats" in the language of the senator—to spread anti-New Deal propaganda, Dr. Frank said:

"This is a complete, absolute, and indefensible misstatement of fact."

Dr. Frank made it clear that he had no part in the launching of Rural Progress and hinted a suspicion that it was attacked because he, after becoming its editor, accepted the post of chairman of the Republican national program committee.

Tells of Taking Editorship.

"I associated myself with this enterprise," he said, "for business and professional reasons and nothing else. At the time of entering this enterprise, I had no idea, nor did any one else connected with the enterprise as officers or investors, of any political activity on my part or the part of the magazine.

"Nearly seven months afterward I answered a call to render to the party to which I belong an unpaid service as chairman of a special committee on program.

"But surely an American may still be free to discharge his duty as a citizen without putting his business or his profession at the mercy of partisan political assault!

"If not, we have allowed something very precious to disappear from American life."

2 TVA DIRECTORS ORDERED TO GIVE DATA TO MORGAN

Congressional Committee Plans Hearing.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 18.—[Special.]—The joint congressional committee appointed to investigate the Tennessee Valley authority agreed today to call the TVA directors at the "earliest practicable time," subject to arrangements to be made by Senator Vic Donahey [D., Ohio], chairman of the committee.

Dr. Arthur E. Morgan.
[A. P. Wirephoto.]

At the same time the joint committee ordered Directors Harcourt A. Morgan and David E. Lilienthal to make all TVA records and correspondence available to Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, the former TVA chairman who was removed by President Roosevelt after he accused his fellow directors of malfeasance and dishonesty. Correspondence made public by the committee disclosed that a request by Dr. Morgan that he be given access to the TVA files had been refused by Harcourt Morgan.

Plan Preliminary Hearings.

Under plans agreed upon today, the congressional committee will begin its investigation within the next two or three weeks by hearing former Chairman Morgan, who will repeat his charges against Directors Harcourt Morgan and Lilienthal and present such supporting evidence as he cares to offer at that time. He will not be cross-examined. Then the committee will hear the replies of the two directors, also without cross-examination.

During the recess of congress the committee will make its own investigation in the field, after which Dr. Morgan and the two directors will be recalled for cross-examination.

Administration partisans on the committee wanted to call former TVA Chairman Morgan immediately, while Chairman Donahey and Republican members of the committee wanted to give him all the time he might require to inspect the TVA files, heretofore withheld from him. Representative Ewing Thomason [D., Texas], moved to call Dr. Morgan within ten days, but Senator Lynn J. Frazier [R., N. D.] contended that the ousted TVA chairman would need time to study the records.

Early Hearing Approved.

Senator H. H. Schwartz [D., Wyo.], another administration partisan, replied to Frazier: "We want to erase any burden of suspicion on any one that the records might disappear, the records that might be wanted by any of the three directors." When Senator Schwartz made a motion to call Dr. Morgan and the two directors at "the earliest practicable time," as determined by Chairman Donahey, Representative James M. Mead [D., N. Y.], leader of the administration forces, assented and the motion was adopted unanimously.

The committee agreed to meet early next week, subject to call by the chair, to select personnel, including counsel, accountants, and investigators.

Chairman Donahey then read into the record an exchange of telegrams between former Chairman Morgan and Harcourt Morgan. On May 13 Dr. Morgan sent a telegram as follows:

"In preparing for congressional investigation I need access to files, information, records, and correspondence of the Tennessee Valley authority. I therefore request that you issue instructions to the general manager of the Tennessee Valley authority, as well as to other staf members concerned, directing them to grant without reservation such access to me and to my authorized representatives. I should have, not later than May 16, your definite approval of full and unhampered access to information and material. Please wire reply to me at Ludlow building, Dayton, Ohio."

Refuses Access to Records.

Harcourt Morgan replied that compliance with Dr. Morgan's request "would manifestly violate our duty not to permit interference with the official work of the committee of the congress and the business of the Tennessee Valley authority." The files of the TVA, he said, "will be released only to the committee and to its employés acting under its direction."

Senator Schwartz then made a motion, which was adopted, directing the TVA directors to permit Dr. Morgan or his representatives to examine any or all TVA files, correspondence, and records,

Weeping, Frank M. Weaver told the story of his broken romance with Mrs. Gretchen Bowers to a coroner's jury yesterday. Mrs. Bowers, an artist's model 23 years old, ended her life Tuesday night by shooting herself in her apartment at 607 Deming place. She told her grief in a note to Weaver, who lives at 118 Scottswood road, Riverside.

Weaver, 28 years old, said Mrs. Bowers had threatened suicide before and bought a gun which he took from her, then gave back when she promised to return it to the store. He said he had believed her reconciled to the ending of the romance, but described her as an emotional young woman, determined to have her way.

Mrs. Bowers' father, Richard N. Puetz, corroborated Weaver's story of her impetuosity. Other witnesses were Mrs. Irene Waldman and Miss Ruth Niemann, who shared the Deming place apartment. The verdict was suicide while temporarily insane.

SCHOOL BOARD CRITICS SUFFER TWO REBUFFS

Charges Concerning the Budgets Refuted.

Critics of the board of education and the policies of Superintendent of Schools William H. Johnson were rebuffed twice yesterday at a meeting of the board.

Harry H. Brackett, board auditor, in a letter to members, cited school records to refute charges of the citizens' school committee concerning school budgets and teachers' salaries. Then, by a vote of 7 to 2, the board rejected a resolution introduced by Mrs. W. S. Heffernan, asking an investigation of the grading of the recent principals' examinations.

Brackett's letter referred to a pamphlet used by the citizens' committee in soliciting new members. He said the pamphlet based its conclusions on tentative school budgets rather than on final budgets or actual expenditures, and added: "The charge is made that although appropriations for instruction were cut $1,000,000 between 1933 and 1938, $2,000,000 was added to total current expenses."

Points to Figures.

"Any fair minded person," he said, "could ascertain from an examination of the annual school budget as passed, that for the year 1938 the appropriation for instructional purposes was $38,064,724, an increase of approximately $8,000,000 over the expenditures for such purposes in 1933.

"The increase represents the cost of partial restoration of one-half of the reduction of teachers' salaries and the lengthening of the school year from nine months to nine and one-half months."

The letter was accompanied with a comprehensive table of tentative budget figures, final budgets, and actual expenditures for the years 1933 through 1937. The figures for 1938 showed tentative and final budget figures only. The totals for the two budgets and expenditures follow:

Year.	Tentative budget.	Final budget.	Expenditures.
1933	$54,140,391	$49,590,525	$41,097,894
1934	43,666,252	44,222,662	40,789,925
1935	46,287,820	46,726,669	41,945,479
1936	50,051,604	50,858,391	43,711,386
1937	52,678,985	48,384,095	46,456,192
1938	56,006,293	54,416,199	....

In all instances the total actual expenditures were below the final budget figures.

Quiz Request Turned Down.

After Brackett's letter was read Mrs. Heffernan read her resolution asking for the investigation of Supt. Johnson. She referred to charges against the board and the superintendent based on three suits protesting various phases of the recent principal's examination. The board has maintained that while the suits are in litigation it will leave the matter in the hands of the courts to decide.

Irwin Walker, board vice president, shouted, "Such a proposal is outrageous! The subject is up to the courts and we have faith in our superintendent." Mrs. W. F. Heineman, new woman member of the board, was the only member voting with Mrs. Heffernan favoring the investigation.

Johnson discussed informally with several board members his plans to place the Chicago school system on a twelve month basis ultimately. No action was taken.

CZECHOSLOVAKIA DEFIES GERMANS; WAR FEAR GROWS

Nazis Resent Refusal to Henlein's Demands.

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, May 18. —Hopes of any peaceful settlement of the controversy between the Prague government and the 3,250,000 Germans in Czechoslovakia tonight practically dwindled to zero.

Any meeting between Premier Dr. Milan Hodza and Konrad Henlein, leader of the Sudeten German [Nazi] party, which a government spokesman predicted would occur within a few days, has been postponed. Furthermore, the chances that the two ever will sit together at a council table are extremely unlikely.

The Germans and the Czechs refuse to commit themselves. They contradict their own statements and talk only for propaganda purposes in an effort to lure the world to their respective sides in a conflict which they envisage taking on world wide proportions.

Situation Is Outlined.

The essential facts of the dangerous situation seem to be as follows:

Officially, the two forces have not come into conflict. Hodza has issued no invitation to Henlein to meet with him.

But through parliamentary members of Henlein's party—the two sides have been in contact.

Convinced that as a matter of dignity Hodza could not send him an invitation, Henlein agreed to pocket his pride and solicit an interview with the premier.

Since, however, the interview might lead to nothing and leave him in a bad position with his impatient followers, Henlein insisted that the government submit to him a draft of the proposed minority statute in order to decide if it constituted a basis for discussion.

Fails to Heed Request.

Up to this evening the government had done nothing to comply with Henlein's requests, and officially he knows no more about the minority statute than anybody else. Unofficially, however, he has a very good idea of its contents. In his opinion it is practically nothing. His chief demand is autonomy for the Germans, but the new statute does not give them political independence.

In order to avoid the appearance of rejecting the proposition before he knows what it is—that is, officially—Henlein declined to say that he will not meet Hodza.

However, his followers said, the case has been practically decided. If the statute is as indicated the conversations between Henlein and Hodza would be practically a waste of time, they argued.

The Sudeten Germans maintained that Hodza has not changed his position since his speech of March 28, when he merely offered to codify existing minority laws and decrees. The Germans said the new statute is no more than a restatement of the rights they possess under the constitution.

Nazis Voice Displeasure.

The disappointment and resentment of the Germans was increased by a report that the three main principles of the minority statute are being kept a secret. Nevertheless, they claimed to know that these principles constitute obligations on them which would be imposed in return for what the government considers concessions.

Behind the scenes certain forces are doing their best to fan hatreds. The government suspects that Henlein is a pawn in the hands of Berlin and that his demands for autonomy are a prelude toward a new demand for a plebiscite in which most of the border districts probably would vote to become a part of the German empire.

The Germans have great confidence in Hodza, whom they consider intelligent, loyal, and fair. Around him, however, the Germans see a group of fanatical Czech nationalists who are thwarting attempts to reach a reasonable settlement.

Czechs Threaten Germans.

Prominent Czechs said they are restraining themselves only until after the municipal elections which begin next Sunday. They added that they then will smite the Germans with a heavy hand and "show them what oppression really is."

As a result of the deadlock in Czechoslovakia war in this part of Europe looms more likely than at any time since the annexation of Austria.

Beyond and above the grievances of the Germans are two factors which are highly dangerous.

The first is the state of mind of the Germans who said that the problem no longer is in Prague, but is in London and Berlin. Still more fraught with danger is the belief held by Czech leaders that they not only will receive military aid from France and Great Britain, but also from the United States. The Czechs are convinced America will rush to the aid of a "sister democracy."

HITLER STUDIES PERSONAL PLEA TO ROOSEVELT

Considers Letter to Heal U. S.-Nazi Wounds.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 18.—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler and his foreign office aids are studying ways to improve German-American relations, which suffered a serious setback in recent months.

Hitler, who is in his Alpine retreat at Berchtesgaden, is considering the advisability of turning directly to President Roosevelt in a personal letter and suggesting a compromise on misunderstandings which are dividing the two countries.

Fear U. S. Public Opinion.

The Germans feel that reports about Nazi activities in America and America's growing conviction that the Germans are seeking a stronger foothold in South America in violation of the Monroe Doctrin unduly agitate American public opinion and that Hitler's government must seek means of pacifying Washington before the agitation becomes greater.

America's protest against the recent regulations compelling American Jews living in Germany to register their property with German authorities also plays a part in the government's discussion.

It was stated in Berlin that Germany's failure to reply officially to the American protests through diplomatic channels was not meant as a lack of consideration for Washington, but represented an effort to gain time in which the Germans hope to find a solution that America might consider an acceptable compromise.

Germany to Reap Benefits.

As matters stood today, business circles asserted that German business concerns were receiving more money from their investments in America than Americans would be getting from Germany ever if she had not proclaimed a moratorium on the transfer of funds. Consequently it would be to the advantage of the Germans to come to terms with the Americans in this matter.

In recent weeks the German press has been increasing the number of reports about the harrowing conditions in America, especially among the American unemployed.

Today a new trend in German quarters could be noted. Blasts against America, which appeared in an early issue of the newspaper Der Angriff, were withdrawn in the second edition, presumably by order of the propaganda ministry.

PRIVATE PILOTS OF STATE TO FLY AIR MAIL TODAY

146 to Bring Pouches to City; 31 Will Go Out.

One hundred and forty-six private flyers—enthusiasts who fly purely for the thrill and sport of aviation—today will become air mail pilots carrying pouches in their own airplanes from towns and hamlets in Illinois which otherwise never have air mail service. The pouches will be delivered to Postmaster Ernest J. Kruetgen as part of the National Air Mail week program.

Thirty-one other private flyers, members of the Illinois Air Pilots' association, will fly air mail from Chicago to downstate communities so that the service will be a complete one with the mail moving in both directions. Every one of these flyers has been sworn as a regular air mail carrier and temporarily their small private airplanes will carry the designations of vehicles in the nation's air mail service.

Program Is Nation-Wide.

This phase of the program to awaken citizens to the possibilities of air mail service is being attempted on a national scale. Private flyers in every state have volunteered for the flights. The result will be that virtually every community in the nation will—for the day at least—be part of the great air mail chain.

Many of the towns to be served today are without airports. The private flyers will be demonstrating their skill in utilizing meadows, fair grounds, baseball and athletic fields, parking lots and in at least one case even a river as alighting places.

The one flight to be made in an amphibion plane will link Peoria and Chicago. Ellis G. Friedrich of Peoria will take off from the Illinois river at 10 a. m. [Chicago time] today and fly a pouch of mail to Chicago's great natural downtown harbor. He is scheduled to land at 1 p. m. and will taxi to the Chicago Park district's ramp at 7th street to deliver his mail to postal agents.

Picks Up Return Load Here.

Southbound mail will be turned over to him there and he is to fly back to Peoria, to land again on the river at his home port. Coastguardsmen in rescue cutters will stand by in the harbor here to keep a landing area clear of water trafic.

The little machines to be used today will be a decided contrast with the giant airliners which ordinarily carry the mail. Instead of 24,500 pound Douglas DC-3 airliners the pouches will be flown in 1,500 pound planes such as Aeroncas, Rearwins, Stinsons, Cessnas, Porterfields, Cubs, all with engines in the 40 to 200 horse power class.

Physician to Fly Air Mail.

Dr. Sidney Walker with his 320 horse power Howard cabin plane which cruises at 180 miles an hour probably will have the fastest private airplane to be used in Illinois. Dr. Walker, prominent eye specialist who flys his own plane for pleasure and quick transportation, will carry mail between Ottawa and Chicago.

Oddest of the private flights will be that of Lawrence Tiedt in a Stinson cabin plane. Tiedt, the air mail pilot, will pick up a pouch from Postmaster Lawrence Tiedt, his father, at Tiedtville, which was founded by his grandfather and which is thirty miles southwest of Chicago.

AGED WIDOW DIES IN HOME.

Mrs. Mariana Mossak, 84 years old, a widow, died in her home at 1710 Orchard street yesterday after a heart attack. She had come from Russia to live with a son, George.

lines were continuous "for all military purposes."

Lines Form Gigantic Net.

Japan's advancing lines were said by the Japanese to form a gigantic net extending from the Yellow river across the Lunghai railroad to Suhsien, which is forty-five miles south of Suchow. The capture of Suhsien, by forces moving north, left only sixty miles of the Tientsin-Pukow railroad unconquered.

[Chinese reported a counteroffensive south of Tangshan, which is fifty miles west of Suchow on the Lunghai, had driven a Japanese column back to Yungcheng in Honan province. The Chinese admitted Japanese raiding parties had stopped trafic over 200 miles of the Lunghai from the coastal terminus at Haichow to Tangshan.]

Reporters Ambushed.

Northeast of Suchow, it was admitted, Chinese still were resisting vigorously between Taierchwang and Pihsien, where two previous Japanese drives toward Suchow were stopped.

Six war correspondents and photographers of Domei, the Japanese news agency, who were ambushed by Chinese last night at Watzukow, thirty miles southwest of Suchow, still were missing tonight. The Domei men and three correspondents of the Tokio newspaper Asahi were moving toward the front with a Japanese infantry detachment when the Chinese attacked. The Asahi reporters all escaped but expressed fear for the fate of their comrades.

60 MILK DEALERS SUE FOR A WRIT AGAINST DRIVERS

Sixty small independent milk dealers, who operate retail stores, filed suit yesterday in the Superior court to enjoin the Milk Wagon Drivers' union, local 753, and its officers from interfering with their business.

The suit alleges that union officials and drivers threatened the store owners and ordered them not to buy any more milk from the Farmers Coöperative Milk company, an association of 150 farmers in Boone and McHenry counties from whom they buy supplies.

The complaint states that the union already has begun picketing.

SPAIN IS FIGHTING A 'HUMANE' WAR, OBSERVER FINDS

Spirit of Hatred Absent Among Men in Ranks.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Staf correspondent who has just returned from Spain.]

The Spanish civil war is, as is the nation, unique and individualistic. Strange as it may seem—and three-quarters of a century later—it greatly resembles the American civil war. In strategy, tactical problems, prosecution and results of maneuvering forces, history is being repeated. And stranger still is the conviction of one neutral observer, formed by talking to front line men on one side and prisoners from the other—and that is the rank and file on both sides haven't any idea what the war is all about.

To fortify political aspirations, propaganda has injected into the fray the question of communism. The issue, no doubt, as expressed by informal neutral sources, came about two years ago when Russia, wanting an outlet on the Mediterranean, began negotiations with the Spanish government. Opposing political forces, realizing that Italy and Germany were greatly concerned over the Mediterranean possibilities, seized the opportunity of operating a campaign of strife.

Spain Ripe for Venture.

Spain, being a country that thrives on excitement, having no longer any exploring to do, having been a long time without war, and tiring a bit of bull fights, was meat for the venture. The Spaniards love a fight.

To substantiate these conclusions a few facts are cited. Wounded prisoners taken by Gen. Franco's rebels—and all agree that the same conditions exist on the loyalist side—are as well cared for as is possible by modern medical science. Ambulances are up to date, base hospitals compare favorably with city commercial institutions. A big staf of nurses is on the job, taking care of friend and foe alike. Food is better in prison hospitals than in leading hotels in the towns.

In the country and in towns captured by either side, not the slightest spirit of animosity exists between populace and invading soldiers. No disorders whatever are discovered. It seems to be more of a homecoming week, with much hugging and handclasping.

The censorship is strict on the Franco side. One American correspondent filed a cable story to his paper quoting an American boy in the front line as saying his main complaint was that the "Reds ran away and wouldn't stand up and fight." The press officer crossed this out with the curt remark that Spaniards didn't run.

Friction in Italian Forces.

The fact that Russia is helping the Barcelona government and that Germany and Italy are helping Franco is true, but how much is difficult to ascertain. Best information from Italian staf officers and Franco spokesmen is that Italy has 30,000 men under Spanish leadership on the firing line and Germany about half as many handling communications and anti-aircraft, with none in the ranks.

Friction exists in the Italian forces. Some Spanish spokesmen openly accuse them of being bad fighters. The Germans, on the other hand, are doing an excellent job in erecting telephone lines, keeping communications open, maintaining liaison and supervising anti-aircraft.

The foreign aid for Barcelona is composed mostly of Russian officers, airplanes, trucks, tanks and guns. Some eighty Russian tanks have been captured by the Franco forces. They are mostly the light, maneuverable type equipped with one 3 pound small cannon and one machine gun. They are effective in reconnoitering work, but have proven vulnerable to bottles of oil dashed against them followed by inflammatory grenades tossed by concealed infantrymen.

Both Weak in Artillery.

Most of the material used by the Franco side is said to be made in Spain. The rifles are similar to American army Springfields, except that they are a little smaller and not so high powered.

Both sides are weak in artillery. In Franco's recent drive to the sea at Vinaroz only two batteries on the Barcelona side and one on Franco's side played an effective part.

One phenomenal factor is greatly responsible for Franco's successes. That is a miraculous organization of supplies and deliveries. Starting from practically nothing and a few good foods, he has developed a smoothly functioning quartermaster corps that keeps fleet after fleet of trucks and carts moving to and fro, with no congestion or tieups, day and night. Troops are fed at least one and most of the time two hot meals a day. This fact, plus officer leadership, is responsible for the high morale of Franco's troops.

Another factor, of course, is open warfare. A trench now and then is constructed by the retreating forces, but if the fire gets too hot they simply pull out. Casualties have been few, considering the length of the war with modern weapons. The reason for this is lack of training in use of firearms by the troops.

If the Barcelona forces decide to make a stand, a Franco general will move his columns up by the road until that zone is reached, then deploy and start shooting. As soon as enough racket is produced the other side starts withdrawing. Little hand to hand fighting has occurred. The Spaniards are game, all right, but strategy has called for other action.

SPANISH REBELS FIGHT TO IMPROVE POSITIONS IN TERUEL MOUNTAINS

HENDAYE, France [At the Spanish Frontier], May 18.—(AP)—Spanish rebel forces today continued strengthening their positions in the mountains east of Teruel preparing for a general attack on the loyalists' strong defenses on the Valencia highway to the south.

Near Teruel the rebels occupied the town of El Castellar which is west of the occupied town of Alcala de Selva. The objective in this sector is Mora de Rubielos. Farther east the rebels threatened the loyalist salient at Valdelinares and won new positions near Mosqueruela. In the eastern coastal sector the rebels cut a secondary highway between Albocacer and Villar de Canes.

Rebel dispatches from Irun, Spain, said a government plane was shot down on the eastern front near Alcala de Chisvert after a brief but spectacular battle between rival squadrons.

CARSON PIRIE SCOTT & Co

FRENCH RECRUIT ARMY IN AFRICA; EYE MUSSOLINI

Friendship Conference in Rome Bogs Down.

PARIS, May 18.—(AP)—France moved to reinforce her African defenses today as her friendship conversations with Italy were reported to have bogged down over differences on Spain and Tunisia.

Recruiting of 60,000 additional native troops was ordered started immediately by Gen. Jules Buhrer, new chief of staf of colonial armies. France's colonial forces now number 120,000, of which 60,000 are Europeans.

Besides enlisting new troops, France was said to be planning a "little Maginot line" in Tunisia, facing Italian Libya.

French military experts believe Libya would be Italy's best highway for an attack on French territory. They pointed out that on the European continent Italy's road to France leads through twisting mountains.

Thus, they said, Italy's first blow at France in the event of war would be in Africa, where possession of Tunisia would give her a direct line from Italy across the Mediterranean sea lanes.

Parley Reaches Deadlock.

Diplomats reported conversations between Jules Blondel, French charge d'affaires in Rome, and Count Galeazzo Ciano, the Italian foreign minister, had come to a deadlock because of Premier Mussolini's demands that France recognize Gen. Francisco Franco, commander in chief of Spanish rebels, as the master of all Spain and assure Italy equal governing rights in the Tunisian protectorate.

The turn in the conversations, looking toward a friendship agreement similar to the British-Italian accord, followed Il Duce's Genoa speech in which he expressed doubt last Saturday whether France and Italy could arrive at an agreement.

Refuses to Give Pledge.

Sources close to the foreign office said Premier Edouard Daladier's government refused flatly to give Italy any pledge regarding the Spanish conflict and that France considered the question of Italian rights in Tunisia settled long ago.

Although Tunisia is a French protectorate, there are 91,000 Italian settlers there—about the same number as the French have. Italians in Tunisia retain their Italian citizenship and send their children to Italian schools. They have no voice in the government, which is controled by a French resident-general.

Diplomatic sources said soviet Russia has threatened to withdraw from the French-British bloc in European politics unless France permits passage of soviet arms into loyalist Spain.

These sources said Jacob Surits, soviet ambassador to Paris, had dropped a hint to Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet which led France to consider her possible position in Europe without Russian support.

Britain Is Worried.

ROME, May 18.—(AP)—Britain's ambassador, the earl of Perth, conferred with Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano today as the stalemate in Franco-Italian conversations developed into a serious threat to the effectiveness of the new accord between Italy and Britain.

While the government prepared for newly announced military maneuvers in western Libya, near the French Tunisian frontier, the Fascist press blamed France for the hitch in negotiations for an agreement with France similar to that with Britain.

The press also made new charges that France was assisting the Spanish government forces in the Spanish civil war.

Says Peace Is Periled.

The British-Italian accord is not to become effective until all Italian combatants have been removed from Spain and, the press charged, the French government by its conduct in "delaying solution" of the Spanish situation is "imperiling" European peace.

The newspaper Corriere Della Sera of Milan said: "In France, notwithstanding the warm declarations of friendship from so many writers and statesmen, the government not only decides not to create conditions propitious for an accord but indirectly retards application of the Italo-British accord and leaves open that plague of European politics, the Spanish civil war."

A dispatch from Tripoli, about 100 miles from the Tunisian frontier, said the Italian Cirene division had arrived there en route to maneuvers in western Libya.

IL DUCE REAFFIRMS DEATH OF DEMOCRACY IN NEW CONSTITUTION

ROME, May 18.—(AP)—Benito Mussolini's definition of Fascism as a conception of the state in which collectivism replaces individualism, war is exalted, and democracy rejected was reaffirmed today in a new Fascist party constitution.

The document was published in the official gazette over the signatures of Il Duce and King Vittorio Emanuele. The new statute modified sections of the old one, but Mussolini's statement of party doctrin remained essentially unchanged.

"Fascism," Mussolini wrote, "is not indifferent to religion in general nor in particular to positive religion which is Italian Catholicism. The state has no theology, but a morality.

"Only war brings all human energies to the maximum tension and places the seal of nobility on the peoples who have the virtue to face it."

ATTACKED FOUR WOMEN, HAMMER MORON ADMITS

Louis Serraille, seized Sunday after he had beaten two women with a hammer when they resisted his attempts to rape them, confessed their charges last night and those of two other women who have identified him.

He made the confession in the presence of a board of education clerk, 22 years old, one of those who identified him. She was raped on April 8 in a vacant lot on 44th street near Cottage Grove avenue.

Serraille, a powerful man 42 years old, living at 818 East 51st street, said he had lured fifty women into his car in the last four years and raped most of them, according to Capt. Ray Crane of the Hyde Park police.

Filling Station Owner Shoots Fleeing Robber

Fleeing with $30 he had taken in a holdup at Frank Olson's filling station, 1339 West Hubbard street, Harry Seblik, 18 years old, of 1809 West Ohio street, was shot by Olson last night. Police took the young man to the Bridewell hospital, where his condition was said to be serious.

Ex-Convict, Dope Peddler, Gets 5 Years in Prison

William Fitzgerald, 3247 Broadway, a war veteran and an ex-convict, was sentenced yesterday by Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan to five years in Leavenworth penitentiary for violating the anti-narcotic act. He was arrested Feb. 24 after selling heroin to a government agent.

Emphasizes League's Weakness.

Halifax emphasized the weakness of the league, which, he said, was due to lack of support from the big powers.

The debate on foreign policy lasted eight and a half hours. At it conclusion the censure motion was withdrawn and a Conservative amendment supporting the conciliation policy advocated by Halifax in Geneva last week was declared carried without a vote being taken. Nevertheless, the trend of the debate indicated growing distrust in the opposition ranks and among some Conservatives at the eventual outcome of the government's stand for peace at any price.

The Ethiopian problem also cropped up in the house of commons tonight. Richard Austen Butler, parliamentary undersecretary for foreign affairs, rejected labor demands that the government delay recognition of Italy's conquest until an international committee reported on the extent of Italy's control of the country. Butler maintained that the Italians virtually controled the whole of Ethiopia and that only war could dislodge them.

Nazis Seek to Hang Jewess Accused of Slaying Four

VIENNA, May 18.—(AP)—State's Attorney Otto Wotowa today demanded death by hanging for Martha Marek, 44 years old, a widow accused of four murders. Mrs. Marek, whom the prosecutor described as a human cobra, is accused of killing her husband for his $30,000 insurance, and of slaying her daughter, her aunt, and a woman lodger. She denied all charges. Nazi newspapers called this the first Jewish murder case in Nazi Vienna.

SAN LUIS POTOSI, Mexico, May 18.—(AP)—President Lazaro Cardenas tonight charged Gen. Saturnino Cedillo with plotting an armed uprising against the government.

Speaking in the home state of Gen. Cedillo, the president said the "strong man" of San Luis Potosi had been engaged in "subversive activities" in his native state as well as in other parts of the republic with the "aid of agents who toured the country and abroad, trying to find proselytes for an inconceivable rebellion."

HOUSE PUTS O. K. ON PRESIDENTIAL RULE OF AVIATION

Bill Creates Board of 3 Members.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 18.—[Special.]—The house today passed a bill creating a board with jurisdiction over all civil aviation in the United States. The senate passed a similar measure last Monday and differences between the two acts will be worked out in conference.

The house bill, in effect, gives President Roosevelt supreme command over American aviation lines. It contains a provision that members of the aviation board may be removed by the President "for inefficiency, neglect of duty, or malfeasance in office."

This is the power over independent agencies which Mr. Roosevelt has been seeking for years and today's action gave him the power for the first time.

Expect Battle in Conference.

However, a battle is scheduled in conference between the two houses over this question. Senator Pat McCarran [D., Nev.] fought for the inclusion of a similar clause in the bill when it was before the senate but the senate would have none of it.

Not a word of protest was heard in the house today about this unprecedented delegation of power to the President. It has been pointed out that the President, under the house version of the bill, can remove any board member displeasing to him. A broad field is covered by the phrase "inefficiency or neglect of duty."

Mapes Leads Opposition.

Republican opposition to the bill was led by Representative Carl Mapes [R., Mich.], who argued against the creation of another bureau. Admitting the need of a central supervision over the air lines, Mapes suggested that the interstate commerce commission take over the job. His motion to recommit the bill to make this change was defeated, 213 to 94.

Under the house bill, a three man board is created. Members would be appointed by the President subject to the approval of the senate. The offices of administrator of safety and director of safety also are set up.

The board members and the administrator are to receive $10,000 a year and the safety director $7,500 a year. The senate bill provided for five members at a salary of $12,000 each and a three man safety board at $7,500 each.

Both bills permit air lines, with approval of the board, to merge or consolidate, not only with other air lines, but with railroads.

LAY 9 AIR DEATHS TO SELECTION OF SHORT CUT ROUTE

Find Plane Wreckage and Bodies on Mountain.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 18.—[Special.]—A pilot's decision to take a short cut route which saved less than ten minutes was blamed tonight for the crash of a luxury liner and the deaths of its nine occupants.

The wreckage was found today on a mountainside northeast of here. The scene is only thirty miles from Union Air terminal in suburban Burbank where the new plane took off Monday afternoon on its delivery flight to St. Paul.

Five bodies were taken from the blackened and twisted wreckage, some of them burned beyond recognition. The four other victims were thrown clear.

75 Feet from Summit.

Parts of the big ship, a redesigned Lockheed 14, were strewn along the mountainside, about seventy-five feet from the summit. The plane had cut a path through 400 yards of shrubs and timber.

Sid Willey, Lockheed test pilot, had charted the short cut route over the mountains to the Mojave desert and on to Las Vegas, N. M., instead of taking the longer regular route.

Leaving the beam directed route, which takes planes through the mountains by way of Saugus, Cal., Willey decided to fly through Mint canyon and cut off an angle of the normal route. He planned to pick up the guide beam when he emerged from the canyon.

Rancher Finds Wreckage.

The low hanging mist impeded air searchers for the lost liner for forty hours. Walter Peterson, Mint canyon rancher, found the wreckage.

Still in the forward compartment of the plane were the bodies of Pilot Willey and Co-Pilot Fred Whittemore. The bodies of Mrs. Henry Webb Salisbury and her baby were found together. Her son, Richard, 3 years old, and her husband, an engineer for Northwest Air Lines, lay some distance from the wreckage.

The other victims, all burned beyond recognition, were Miss Llola Totty, Glendale; Mrs. Carl B. Squier North Hollywood, Cal., and Miss Evelyn Dingle, St. Paul. The three also were employés of the Northwest Air Lines and the Lockheed plant.

FROZEN MOONLIGHT

By CALEB

NEAR THE turn of the century a humble young Danish artist knocked timidly on the office door of Professor Emil Hanover, famous judge of art and curator of the Danish National Museum.

Beneath his arm the young man carried a cumbersome package wrapped in newspaper. With hesitancy he removed it and exhibited some small, hand-wrought designs in sterling silver. Breathlessly he awaited some sign from the great authority.

There was a long silence. First from a distance and then in detail the curator examined each piece with great care. At last when the young man could scarcely contain himself longer, the older man sighed, shook his head and said almost in awe:

"Young man, you have awakened a beauty in silver that has long slumbered there unnoticed. These pieces are marvelous; I shall buy them for the museum!"

Thus immediately, beyond his wildest hopes, the young silversmith achieved a dream and began a long career destined to place him in the forefront of artists working in the medium of precious metals.

The young man's name was Georg Jensen, and for thirty years he continued to create masterpieces of art in silver. He was able to produce a peculiarly luminous and mellow quality in the texture of his pieces that set them apart, reminding the beholder inevitably of moonlight on smooth water.

"If they should melt," said one, "we would, I think, detect the notes of Beethoven's 'Moonlight Sonata' generated from their matchless texture and grace of form."

Georg Jensen fashioned pieces which today stand in the Louvre at Paris, and in famous museums at London and Geneva. The Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York, the Chicago Art Institute, and others in Boston, Detroit, Pittsburgh, Dallas and Omaha exhibit various Jensen pieces today.

In 1916 he founded a school to train younger men in his art, and although Jensen himself died recently, his traditions and artistry are faithfully carried out by associates steeped in the devotion and teachings of the master.

Recently our representatives chose from the current Jensen offerings a fine group of pieces large and small. Together they form a striking and worthwhile exhibit of the things for which the name of Georg Jensen stands in the realm of fine sterling silver creations.

SENATE DIGS OUT $60,000 MORE TO SMEAR BUSINESS

Funds Voted La Follette to Continue Inquisition.

Washington, D. C., May 18.—[Special.]—After a plea by Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley [D., Ky.] the senate today appropriated $60,000 from its contingent fund to continue activities of the La Follette "civil liberties" committee, which was created at the instance of John L. Lewis to harass employers.

The additional funds were voted after weeks of lobbying by the so-called Labor's Non-partisan league, political adjunct of the C. I. O. The committee to audit and control the contingent expenses of the senate, headed by Senator James F. Byrnes [D., S. C.] reported the resolution of Senator Robert M. La Follette [Rad., Wis.] without recommendation.

It came up on the unanimous consent calendar today, and when Senator William H. King [D., Utah] objected, both La Follette and Barkley implored him to withdraw his objection.

A Bid for Miners' Support.

Senator Barkley, President Roosevelt's "Dear Alben," faces strong opposition in the Kentucky primaries this year from Gov. A. B. [Happy] Chandler, and he wants the support of the C. I. O. United Mine Workers of America in Kentucky.

Senator King, who later withdrew his objection, ascertained from La Follette that the committee already has spent $95,000 and has "had the assistance of numerous departments and agencies of the government in connection with various phases of its work."

La Follette did not say so, but the National Labor Relations board and the Works Progress administration are among the government agencies which have assisted his committee. His committee, in turn, has been supplying material to the labor relations board, which has been accused by many members of congress and by the American Federation of Labor of prejudice in favor of the C. I. O.

Directed at C. I. O. Foes.

The La Follette inquisition has been directed exclusively against employers and organizations that resisted the activities of the C. I. O., particularly in connection with the violent steel strike last year. The committee undertook to smear the Chicago police department for repulsing a C. I. O.-communist mob in the Memorial day riot at the Republic Steel plant last year.

A request by the Progressive Miners of America, an A. F. of L. affiliate, that the committee investigate terrorism on the part of the United Mine Workers of America in southern Illinois was ignored.

A half dozen employés of the La Follette committee, sitting in the gallery, rushed out beaming with delight when the senate approved the additional appropriation.

WOMAN, 68, LEAPS TO DEATH FROM HOSPITAL ROOM

Mrs. Jennie Justinen, 68 years old, a widow, was killed late yesterday afternoon in a plunge from a fourth floor window of the Augustana hospital, 409 Dickens avenue. Her body struck the sidewalk on the Sedgwick street side of the institution.

Incurably ill of cancer, Mrs. Justinen, who lived at 4135 North Mobile avenue, had been a patient in the hospital in April. She returned for treatment on Tuesday. She was apparently calm, although depressed, and a nurse left her unguarded in her room. A screen was torn from the window when she plunged out.

Dr. L. M. Olson said she had not been told she could not recover, but may have suspected the critical nature of her ailment.

WORKER FALLS 9 FLOORS AT HOTEL AND WILL LIVE

When he survived a nine floor fall from the roof of the Orrington hotel, 1710 Orrington avenue, Evanston, yesterday morning, Paul Von Bargen, a construction foreman, was given a good chance to recover at the Evanston hospital.

Von Bargen, who is 42 years old and lives at 1259 Jackson boulevard, was helping to remove a cornice when he slipped. Plunging downward he struck the wall of the hotel and was thrown outward so that he shot over the sidewalk and fell into a clump of shrubs. Several ribs and an ankle were broken and his spine was injured.

ENGINE KILLS FARMHAND.

Belvidere, Ill., May 18.—[Special.]—Fred F. Miller, 61 years old, employed on the farm of Robert Hawkey, a county supervisor, was killed today. The truck he was driving was struck on a grade crossing west of here by a C. & N. W. railway switch engine.

PRESIDENT PLANS JULY VISIT TO SOUTH AMERICA

Will Cross U. S. on Return Trip.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 18.—[Special.]—Four trips are in prospect for President Roosevelt during the next two months, the White House announced today.

Chief among these is an extended vacation Mr. Roosevelt will take in July when he will carry his "good neighbor policy" to the western coast of South America. The trip probably will take a month, as did his 1936 visit to the eastern coast of South America.

It is expected he will leave from an eastern port of this country aboard a cruiser. He will go through the Panama canal and down the South American coast as far as Santiago, Chile, and stop at the capitals en route.

To Cross U. S. by Train.

On his return Mr. Roosevelt probably will disembark on the west coast and sweep across the country on a special train. During the transcontinental tour, it is expected, he will make speeches against congressional foes.

The first of his trips starts this Saturday afternoon when Mr. Roosevelt will motor to Annapolis, where he will watch the boat races between Harvard university and the Naval academy.

At Annapolis he will go aboard the presidential yacht Potomac and proceed up the river to look in on the annual baseball game between newspaper men and congressmen which will be played at Fort Hunt, Va.

Model Community Visit Next.

Next Thursday Mr. Roosevelt will leave the White House to go to Arthurdale, W. Va., where the administration spent more than a million and a half dollars to carry out Mrs. Roosevelt's pet scheme to give garden-factory livelihoods to stranded families.

The journey will give the President his first visit to the community which became a controversial center shortly after the administration, at the suggestion of Mrs. Roosevelt, undertook to make a model community out of 1,017 acres of mud.

The President will go to Massachusetts in the middle of June for the wedding of his son John and Miss Anne Clark.

GOVERNOR ASKS CHICAGO TO LEVY NEW RELIEF TAX

on traction law, said the money in the traction fund cannot be used for other than traction purposes.

"There must be a legal prediction of tax collections behind any securities placed in the traction fund," Sexton said. "The ordinance under which the fund was created is in reality a contract between the city and the companies and the money cannot be diverted to other uses without their permission."

It was suggested that the city might borrow from its motor vehicle tax fund or from its water collections. Mr. Upham said that a loan from these funds would not go far toward meeting the relief crisis.

Can't Tie Up Funds.

"Anything we borrow from these would have to be returnable on demand," he added. "These funds have been appropriated for use this year and we can't have them tied up indefinitly."

Ald. J. M. Arvey [24th], chairman of the city council finance committee, recalled that his committee has been trying for the last eighteen months to squeeze extra money for city pay rolls out of miscellaneous taxes. These include taxes on theaters, taverns, other places of amusement, and the various inspection fees exacted by the city.

"The only way we can get any additional money is for the assembly to give us power to broaden the field for such taxes," Arvey said. Proposals for such a course have included taxes on cigarets, cosmetics, bottled pop, and other articles labeled luxuries.

Senator Harold G. Ward [D., Chicago] yesterday reiterated his intention of introducing bills for $14,000,000 in additional state relief funds for the balance of the year. Ward said one of these will call for an emergency appropriation of $2,000,000 and the other for $12,000,000 for the balance of the year.

Mayor Going to Springfield.

Mayor Kelly said he will go to Springfield either tomorrow night or next week. He refused to make any comment on the governor's proposals.

The first of the 34,000 relief families which would have received checks today and for the rest of the month had not funds run out will get orders for surplus commodities and milk today. The orders will be sent out at the rate of approximately 4,000 a day for the balance of the month.

Families of four will receive four pounds of prunes, two pounds of dried beans, four pounds of butter, twelve pounds of cabbage, eight stalks of celery, thirty pounds of oranges, and two pounds of rice. The relief families would have received this amount of food, which is distributed by the federal government, if they had received their checks.

Milk orders also will be sent out by the Chicago Relief administration. These call for one quart of milk a day for children 2 years old and younger and one pint a day for children up to 12 years old.

Ex-Convict Shot Dead as He Flees a Burglary

Anthony Nosse, 23 years old, an ex-convict, was shot and killed by policemen early yesterday as he fled from the burglary of a gasoline filling station at 805 West Park avenue, Joliet. He was shot by Sergt. James Clark and Detectives Thomas Kwaita and Frank Skull, who later arrested his accomplice, Jacob Terlep.

PLANT PICKETED AS COURT HEARS CONTEMPT CASE

Rockford, Ill., May 18.—[Special.]—A hearing before Judge Arthur E. Fisher to determine whether five leaders of the United Auto Workers' union should be cited for contempt of court was adjourned late today until tomorrow as several hundred pickets maintained a mass vigil at the gates of the closed plant of the J. I. Case company.

Almost a score of witnesses remain to be heard. The five, Charles Fane, president of local 378, U. A. W. A., Leonard Key, John Grunau, Byron Heaton, and F. O'Donnell, are being tried for violation of a Circuit court injunction issued by Judge Fisher restraining the union from interfering with employés entering or leaving the factory.

Police Sergeant Folke Bengston testified that Fane shouted at the pickets "to hold the street" Monday morning when an attempt was made by a foreman to enter the plant. Special Deputy Sherif Merrill Gale said he saw copies of the Circuit court injunction order torn up by men in the picket line.

Only a few deputies were stationed at the factory gates this morning.

DYKSTRA CALLS EDUCATION ONLY HOPE OF LIBERTY

Clarence A. Dykstra, president of the University of Wisconsin and formerly city manager for Cincinnati, told a large audience of business men yesterday that education is the only hope of democracy. Democracy and freedom can be retained only if business and government find a way to live together and work out a solution of the problems of both, he said.

President Dykstra was the guest of the Association of Commerce and the Committee of Fifteen at a luncheon in the Palmer House.

"Conscious educational progress," he said, "can bring about the desired result. But society must be developing rather than merely maintaining the status quo.

"Democracy will be preserved only by providing for conditions that make for a democratic life; there must be a more widespread distribution of benefits. None of us will be free unless all are free and all are secure."

YOUR OIL FREE
(UP TO THE FULL MARK)
IF I FORGET TO CHECK IT—

WHEN you drive in my station, I'm going to remember to check your oil. We Shell dealers have agreed to this.

If we forget, just say, "Didn't you forget something?"—and without any hesitation we'll bring your crankcase up to the full mark with Golden Shell Oil. FREE!

Why the brainstorm? Well, we know we ought to keep your oil up to the full mark for safety's sake. Besides, we've got an oil that will do the job for your engine like never before.

It's made for the kind of driving you do—STOP and GO. About 10 times a day you shut off your engine. Your oil drains down in the crankcase.

When you start up again, engine parts grind together "dry" of lubrication until your oil gets up there. About 3/4 of all the wear on your engine comes in starting.

GOLDEN SHELL OIL LICKS THIS. It starts to flow instantly. And it's plenty tough to take the beating of high speed, too.

Remember—there's no finer oil than Golden Shell at any price.

HOOVER URGES EARLY TRAINING OF U. S. YOUTH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., May 18.—[Special.]—Herbert Hoover, former President, talked in Milwaukee tonight but not about politics, except as he described the problems of training American boys in particular and American youth in general as one of the major political problems to insure the future of democracy.

"The authoritarian governments of Europe," Hoover said, "start with the children of 7 to 9 years to make Fascists or communists of them. If we are going to make them able citizens of a democracy we must start as early building their individual characters and their sense of responsibility."

It was as chairman of the board of directors of the Boys' Clubs of America, rather than as former President of the United States, that Mr. Hoover visited Milwaukee today and spoke tonight at a dinner in celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the Milwaukee Boys' club.

It was a $5 a plate dinner with evening clothes specified. Some of the rank and file Republicans protested it, but the Boys' club officials explained that the former President was not here as a Republican but as head of their organization. About 500 attended the dinner.

SHANAHAN BRIDE SEEKS TO VOID $25,000 IN DEEDS

Mrs. Helen Troesch Shanahan, deathbed bride of the late David E. Shanahan, veteran Illinois legislator, sued in the Circuit court yesterday to have deeds to six pieces of property worth $25,000 set aside. Defendants in the case are William Gordon and John Costello, real estate dealers, who have possession of the deeds transferring the property to Mary Flynn, a cousin of Shanahan.

The suit states that Shanahan transferred the property to Miss Flynn as a matter of convenience and that she knew nothing of the transfer at the time, Sept. 26, 1935.

Meanwhile no date has been set for the second trial of the suit by Miss Flynn and her sister Margaret to set aside Shanahan's will, which leaves the bulk of the $850,000 estate to his widow. The first trial ended in a jury disagreement.

BABY WHO LOST EYE GOES HOME; MAY SAVE SIGHT

Helaine Judith Colan, 7 weeks old, a victim of glioma of the retina, dread cancerous disease, was removed from the Garfield Park Community hospital last night to the home of her grandfather, Dr. Morris L. Hershman, at 4110 Jackson boulevard. At noon today she will begin a series of X-ray treatments to be administered in Mercy hospital.

The baby, whose left eye was removed May 9, will receive the treatments for three weeks, it was determined yesterday by a conference of specialists who gave their services in the hope of saving the child. When her father, Dr. Herman Colan, dentist, and her grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. Hershman, emerged from the conference in the Hotel Sherman, they were asked if they still intend to save the child's life at any cost rather than let the disease take its course.

"Yes," said Dr. Hershman. "If an operation on the other eye is necessary at the end of three weeks we'll allow it, but we are hoping it won't be necessary."

The eye which was removed was wholly cancerous, while the remaining eye is about one-third cancerous and may respond to treatment.

SLAYER OF TWO ESCAPES ORDER OF DEPORTATION

Vincent Zupancic, 61 years old, who has served prison terms for killing two persons, was released from an order for his deportation to Jugo-Slavia yesterday by Federal Judge John P. Barnes. Zupancic, whose home is in Oglesby, La Salle county, has been held in the county jail since Sept. 7. In 1920 he was sentenced to eleven years in Joliet prison for killing his wife. He was freed in 1931.

The federal immigration department asked his deportation on the ground that his conviction of manslaughter in 1903 in his native state of Cilli, then a part of Austria-Hungary, involved a crime of moral turpitude. Judges Barnes held that the Austrian jury found the manslaughter was involuntary and therefore not moral turpitude. The judge remarked that Zupancic, although not the highest type of person, had supported himself, was never on relief, and probably would become a tramp if deported.

COURT APPROVES $100,000 OFFER IN PICK TRUST CASE

Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan yesterday approved a recommendation of a master in chancery that creditors of Albert Pick, former hotel supplies manufacturer, accept $100,000 from his wife and his son, Albert Jr., in settlement of all claims. The creditors will meet May 31 to decide on acceptance of the offer.

Master Charles A. McDonald recommended that the creditors take $100,000 from a $500,000 trust Pick established for his wife and son in 1930, three years before he was put in bankruptcy. Pick's liabilities totaled 5 million dollars, of which 3½ millions were secured.

The master said he doubted if the trust would bring more than $100,000 at a forced sale. Before the trust beneficiaries made their compromise offer, Master McDonald favored setting aside the trust as a fraud.

TESTS OF BLOOD FAIL TO SETTLE PATERNITY ISSUE

Blood tests made yesterday in the County hospital failed to settle the conflicting paternity claims upon José de Jesus and Ana Marie, 18 day old twins, who were taken from a room at 2340 Princeton avenue last Friday by Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health.

Dr. Bundesen said the tests showed that the father might be either Luis Ersing, who lives at the Princeton avenue address, or Lanzarin Timoteo, of 265 Alexander street. Each man asserts he is the father, but neither will agree to take one child. The name of the mother, a widow 36 years old, with eight other children, has been withheld.

BLAME LIGHTNING FOR $15,000 FIRE THAT ROUTS 60

Fire that firemen said might have been caused by lightning drove sixty colored tenants out into a driving rain from an apartment at 5034-36 Michigan avenue early today. Damage was estimated at $15,000.

Lightning struck the steeple of the Joyce Methodist Episcopal church at the height of the electrical storm. The steeple caught fire, but the blaze was quickly extinguished.

Trees were blown down in many sections of the city. Wires were blown down at Archer and Melvina avenues.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys—How To Get Happy Relief

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

COUNCIL DELAYS VOTE ON FRAME HOMES CHAPTER

Fight on Restrictions; Say It Chains Industry.

The chapter of the revised city building code dealing with construction of single family frame dwellings, the chapter that was looked upon as the key to the fetters of Chicago's building industry, reached the city council yesterday so limited by amendment that aldermen and building experts declared it will do little to ease the situation.

The council ordered the chapter published and deferred for action next week, but Ald. James J. McDermott [14th] and Ald. Thomas J. Terrell [29th] stated it would be necessary to revise it further if it is to become effective. This view was concurred in by Deputy Building Commissioner Robert Knight.

Seek Fewer Restrictions.

As originally drafted by the citizens' committee of engineers and architects, the chapter would have permitted erection of frame dwellings outside the fire limits. This meant that only in a small fringe of territory at the edge of the city could frame houses be built.

When the chapter went before the council subcommittee on revision, however, that group sought to relax its provisions by opening to frame dwellings all Chicago except blocks where 51 per cent of the buildings are of other construction.

Yesterday the amended section reached the council committee on buildings and zoning and was at once criticized as being too general and too lax. Ald. Dorsey Crowe [42d] declared it would permit erection of frame dwellings in the loop and on the gold coast; that it was a step backward and would react to the disadvantage of the city.

Amendments Limit Use.

The chapter therefore was amended further, after four hours of controversy, to permit frame dwellings only in sections of the city zoned for volume I. [smaller type commercial, industrial, and residential structures classed according to their volume in cubic feet].

In this form it was taken before the council and was ordered published. Immediately after the session, Deputy Commissioner Knight was asked what area of the city is zoned under volume I.

"About forty-five of its 212 square miles," he replied.

"Then the chapter opens forty-five square miles to frame dwellings?"

Leaves Only About Six.

"Not at all," said Knight. "Of that area it is highly unlikely that more than six square miles would be desirable for frame dwellings because commercial and industrial properties take up the bulk of it."

After pointing out that this restriction together with the other amendments and limitations materially reduces the effectiveness of the chapter, Ald. McDermott and Terrell declared that revision will be necessary before passage by the council. A meeting of the committee will be called before the council sits again.

In addition to its action on the frame dwelling chapter yesterday, the council passed four chapters submitted to it two weeks ago. These covered trussed steel joist and other construction, fire resistive standards for materials, the various types of buildings, and floor and roof construction.

Stop Victim with Auto Crash, Then Take $1,000

Police Draw Conclusions, but Nude Art Wins in Court

It was art, not license, Judge John V. McCormick of the Women's court ruled yesterday after hearing from Miss Lucretia Malcher and Miss Mary Brown. Miss Malcher operates a studio at 3 East Ontario street where for a fee of 35 cents artists may study Miss Brown, a model, who poses in the nude. Policemen raided the studio Tuesday night. The policemen, who tried to draw Miss Brown's figure, admitted that the class was quite decorous. Charges against the women of indecent exhibition were dismissed.

Edward Anderson Named on Lake County Tax Board

County Judge Perry L. Persons of Lake county yesterday announced the appointment of Edward G. Anderson, Democrat, as a member of the Lake county board of tax review. He will serve two years on the three man board. Anderson lives at 415 4th street in Waukegan.

SIX BADLY HURT AS SALOON MAN'S CAR HITS THEIRS

Six persons were critically injured last evening when the automobile in which they were riding collided in Lake county with another driven by a Chicago saloonkeeper. The accident occurred a mile and a half south of Lake Zurich.

Witnesses reported that the auto driven by William Nelson, 3838 Sheffield avenue, the saloonkeeper, first ran off the concrete and that Nelson, in swinging it back, threw it directly in front of the other car. Both overturned. Nelson, who was slightly hurt, was locked up in the jail at Waukegan and charged with drunken driving.

Injured Taken to Palatine.

All those critically injured were taken, unconscious, to the Community hospital at Palatine. They are Louis Kucaba, 32 years old, and his wife, Vlasta, 27, of Brookfield; Mrs. Nellie Cervanka, 26, and her son, Donald, 4, who live near 20th street and Oakley avenue; John Ganck, 22, of 2321 West 18th place, and Joseph Kubat, 21, of 2329 West 18th place.

A refrigerator trailer-truck collided yesterday with an automobile, and then smashed into the corner of an apartment building at 7300 St. Lawrence avenue, setting fire to the truck, the automobile, and the building.

Twenty-five tenants rushed into the street, but firemen soon extinguished the blaze. No one was injured. Both drivers were charged with recklessness. They are Russell Thomas of Kansas City, on the truck, which was loaded with 12,000 pounds of meat, and Russell Retterer, 7216 South May street.

Killed on His Bicycle.

John Sparagna, 15 years old, 1212 South 61st court, Cicero, was killed last night when he was struck by an automobile as he was riding his bicycle in the 1400 block of South 60th court. The driver was John Lindholm, 928 North Massasoit avenue, Cicero.

Fred Kroll, 64 years old, 3835 North Harding avenue, died yesterday in St. Anthony's hospital from injuries incurred Monday when he was struck by the automobile of Walter Solaiz, 1218 West 50th street, at Kedzie avenue and 31st street.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 318 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 244 were killed in Chicago, where 6,547 were injured in the same period.

SPEND SAFETY EFFORTS ON URBAN HIGHWAYS, ROAD OFFICIAL URGES

BY HAL FOUST.

Murray D. Van Wagoner, Michigan highway commissioner and president of the American Road Builders' association, yesterday urged trafic safety experts to concentrate their efforts and their expenditures in centers of population. Speaking before a luncheon of the Institute of Trafic Engineers at the midwest safety conference in the Sherman hotel, he cited statistics showing that motor mishaps are fairly well concentrated in urban areas and on main interurban highways.

"We must modernize the antequated environment in which automobiles operate," said Van Wagoner. "The long time phase of this measure calls for the construction of limited ways [roadways free of parking, pedestrians and cross-trafic, and also segregated physically from opposing vehicular streams]."

"Such construction will take time and money," Van Wagoner said, "but in the meantime there is much we can do toward modernizing our sign and signal system and inaugurating effective enforcement."

THREE AUTOISTS SENT TO JAIL FOR ERRATIC DRIVING

Judge Stephen Adamowski of the Safety court yesterday sentenced three reckless motorists to terms in the Bridewell. Each was deprived of driving rights for six months.

Milford Michels, 1812 Washington boulevard, was sentenced to thirty days for leaving the scene of an accident. On April 29 his automobile struck Miss Rose Berman, 1221 South Christiana avenue, at Madison and Honoré streets.

John Brzoza, 1624 West 19th street, and Frank Boris, 1300 Thomas street, were sentenced to ten days each for driving while drunk. Policemen testified that Boris told them to go away and let him sleep when they stopped his slowly moving automobile early yesterday at Stockton drive and St. James place.

Open 2 New Test Lanes, Making a Total of 16

Two new automobile testing lanes were opened yesterday at 5123 North Damen avenue, according to Deputy Vehicle Commissioner Edward J. Gorman. There are now sixteen lanes in operation at eight locations in the city, with two more planned for the southwest side. About 8,500 cars are being tested daily, Gorman said, and the longest wait at any of the lanes is about half an hour.

IS OPPOSITION SACRILEGE?

Senator Minton's hoodlum lobby committee will not hear Dr. Glenn Frank, chairman of the Republican policy committee. Dr. Frank is an experienced public speaker. The committee would attack and insult him, but was afraid to give him a chance to reply or to answer questions. He is editor of the publication Rural Progress, of which M. V. Reynolds is publisher.

While the Minton committee refused him a hearing Dr. Frank found the broadcasting field still open and at noon yesterday over the radio replied with complete effectiveness to the senator's bullying.

Minton had called the publisher to Washington to smear him. Dr. Frank as editor went to the hearings, hardly in the expectation that he would get fair play but to be there if the committee would permit answers to questions. The management of the periodical was put to the trouble and expense of the trip and suffered the waste of time and the interference with its business to face a bullying, sour faced body of sneering partisans who had only one purpose and that was to put an opposition journal, not intemperately critical, under the imputation of wrongdoing.

Nothing illegal could be remotely assumed against the publication, and even if it could be Minton and his hoodlum committee had no jurisdiction. There wasn't even the pretense that Reynolds and Frank were engaged in anything that was not within their perfect right. There was no excuse whatever for putting them to the trouble of going to Washington. The articles of the periodical, the views expressed, and the facts discussed, all fall within the privilege of American citizenship and no one in the government has the slightest right to stick a long, truculent, official nose, backed by the fist of authority, into the conduct of such a business or the expression of such opinions.

It is a gangster assumption on the part of New Deal bullies that a new prerogative has been vested in the federal government and that all political opposition can be harassed by government inquisitors merely because it presents a view not in accord with the governmental idea of what should be said of any federal activity. Mr. Reynolds was bullied; Dr. Frank was not allowed to speak, and Minton later demanded time on a radio chain to exploit the situation he had created.

The theory that opposition is the necessity of representative government is being destroyed by the political gorillas who operate under the ægis of New Deal idealism. There is a Nazi mentality behind this and apparently a good many Americans have been so befuddled by the pretentious moralities, in the name of which the outrages are committed, that they do not perceive the extent or the meaning of the storm trooper tactics.

The pretense by which authority uses the strong arm to intimidate opposition is one of examining the influences which seek to express opinions. In the instance of Rural Progress, Dr. Frank is well known. He is identified with the Republican national organization. As editor of Rural Progress he is not a mysteriously malign personality. He is a Republican publicist. The magazine is supported by people who agree with him.

Suppose we take another publication by way of contrast. The Democratic party produced a campaign book. For a de luxe edition Mr. Roosevelt wrote his name on the flyleaf. It was a book issued for political and revenue purposes. It was sold by the Democratic national committee and the copies which contained Mr. Roosevelt's name were offered at the absurd price of $250. The publishers announced that they had found a loophole through the corrupt practices act. They forced the book on corporations in blocks of ten and twenty. A corporation is prohibited by the corrupt practices act from making any contribution to a political party. This was a scandalous enterprise. It reeked of extortion and illegality. Men who had received favors of the federal government or expected them were sandbagged into buying copies. Some corporation heads thus forced to do an illegal thing found later that they had personally to bear the cost. It was the rankest piece of political jobbery that has been done in a generation.

The attorney general squirmed his way out of the predicament in which it placed him and the New Deal congress refused even to listen to complaints. It was a despicable piece of propaganda and profit taking. The lobby committee was silent. It hit bottom of political morality. There was an exhibition of unconscionable lobbying, if an approach to public opinion by publication is lobbying, which tore right through the intent and purposes of the corrupt practices act, using the name of the chief executive to put a $250 value on a book that would have been overvalued at $2.50.

That illustrates the hypocrisy of the Minton storm troopers, but it is only one of the shadows cast by this organization which uses the powers of government to coerce and intimidate the free expression of opinion and independence of thought.

The Republican party has been in the minority since 1932. The opposition whether Republican by name or independent in character, has been the minority. Its rights are inherent in our political system. It has been the theory of our government that the government itself and the people are safe only as a minority has the full and uncontested right, free alike from physical oppression and moral opprobrium, to present its case, argue its points, and make its criticisms. It may oppose persons and it may oppose programs. It not only has the right to be free from physical interference and restraint but it has the right to be free from governmental vituperation, moral opprobrium, and official damnation. If the latter be not a legal right, it is at least a moral one.

It is not seemly, ethical, or fitting that the governmental officials serving the entire people should use their authority to condemn the opposition on grounds of turpitude and infamy.

Unfortunately, the American people are becoming too familiar with this species of odium theologicum which endeavors to represent critical opposition as a lapse from human decencies, ideals, and good citizenship. The power of the government is great and when it is used ruthlessly the individual has little defense against it either to protect his physical security, his intellectual integrity, or his moral standing. Mr. Minton's gorillas are not the only ones, unfortunately, who have power not only to seize the persons of opponents but also to traduce them and block their avenues of reply.

When the vituperators get paid back in their own coin, as they should be, they yell sacrilege and treason and try to take refuge at the altars they build to their own pompous authority and vainglory. They have built up something sacrosanct and untouchable. For anything approaching this strong armed, mean spirited attitude toward opposition the country must go back to the slave state domination of federal government when even the right of petition was denied and when the majority ruled with insult, club, and pistol.

POOR OLD HARDING!

Warren Harding played poker, liked whisky, and had a way with the ladies. He enjoyed being a member of the senate, and wanted no office more exalted. It was only after the persistent pleading by his friends that he was persuaded to accept the nomination for the presidency. As President he continued to be himself. Some of his friends took advantage of his good fellowship and easy going ways, and the resulting scandals are what is most frequently identified with his name.

But the country has another reason to remember Harding. He was President when the country got out of a depression quickly. The post-war depression, which let no country escape, was fast developing as he came into office. If there had been elected in November, 1920, a more aggressive President, a more imaginative President, and one willing to be guided by radical thinkers, many things might have been done to head off the readjustment of business.

The pump probably would have been primed. The dollar might have been tinkered with. A Wagner act might have been enacted. Crops might have been destroyed.

But Harding would have nothing to do with pumps, except the one he visited occasionally for refreshment. The gold standard, which another Buckeye President had fought for valiantly, was something to be maintained at all costs. The retreat of prices toward "normalcy" was rather to be welcomed than resisted. Controling the economic forces was too much for Harding.

And what was the result? Commodity prices descended in record time to a level which encouraged commitments to be made. Production in nine months hit the low point and six months later a recovery started which ran on with brief interruptions for eight years.

Poor old Harding, he was so ignorant of economics that he let the country recover in record time. Now we have recovery managed, and with such poor results that some people are beginning to doubt that good times will ever come again.

PASS THE LONG HAUL BILL NOW!

In the minds of most people 1932 was the worst year of the depression. However, the railroads were not as badly off then as they are today. They are moving less freight now than in that unfortunate year. And their expenses are up. The result is that in at least two months this year the receipts of the roads have not been enough to pay the costs of operation. Thus there was a deficit before providing anything for interest charges.

More than one-third of the railroad mileage of the country is now being operated by receivers. Many more roads will be in the courts unless prompt relief is given. One cause of their difficulties is clear. They have lost trafic to other forms of transportation.

The Pettengill bill, which has been passed by the house and by a vote of 10 to 3 has been recommended for passage by the senate interstate commerce committee, would enable the roads to win back some of their lost trafic. This bill would make it possible to compete with steamship lines operating between the Pacific and Atlantic coasts through the Panama canal.

The plight of the railroads is desperate. It has even been suggested that a subsidy be granted them. The Pettengill bill would give them relief without adding to the treasury burden. This is urgent legislation for the national welfare. The duty of the senate to pass the bill at this session is clear.

Editorial of the Day

IT STILL LIVES.
[Baltimore Sun.]

The Ku Klux Klan languishes in most sections of the United States these days, but it still lives in Florida. At the beginning of Miami's winter season a delegation of hooded klansmen raided one of the city's "hot spots" and broke up the furniture. The other day, as recorded in the Miami Herald in a story reprinted in this paper, klansmen paraded only in motor cars, ignoring trafic lights and such few policemen as were encountered along the route of the parade. The chief of police, asked if he were a member of the klan, gave the evasive reply, "I haven't anything to say about that."

His reply takes us back to Tampa, Fla., where, in late 1935, a labor organizer named Shoemaker was flogged to death, allegedly by klansmen and policemen, a suggestive alliance. He had failed to heed a Ku Klux Klan warning to leave town. The men were convicted of kidnaping the victim by one court, but the state Supreme court reversed the verdict on the ground, unique for an Appellate court, that the conviction was obtained on circumstantial evidence. In the second trial the men were acquitted.

These and other episodes indicate that in Florida at least the klan retains considerable power and that it stands not for the rule of law but for rule by the klan. The aloofness of the police to klansmen in Miami is a particularly suggestive symptom—bringing up street scenes in Berlin and Vienna during the critical days when order was defied by clamorous Nazis and policemen stood idly by. Perhaps, and it is to be hoped, the comparison is merely superficial.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

READERS OF ADVANCE COPIES of Dorothy Baker's "Young Man with a Horn," the first novel to be devoted entirely to jaz, find similarity between the hero of the story, a young man whose genius for hot music was his undoing, and the late Bix Beiderbecke, gifted "hot" man, who grew up in Chicago and played in Paul Whiteman's band. The hero of the book dies tragically at 28; so did Beiderbecke in 1933.

SWING IS ITS OWN WORLD, with its own language. The newer phrases in swing slanguage:

icky—person who misunderstands swing music.
long underwears—musicians who read from notes.
killer-diller—an arrangement, tune, or solo extraordinarily fine; the nuts; terrific.
corny—to play in old-fashioned style, or too obviously simple and sweet.
gutbucket—good old low-down swing music.
swing out—to embellish a melody in rhythm; a spontaneous rhythmic phrasing; to "lay it in the groove."
sugarband—a sweet band; lots of vibrato and glissando.
schmaltz it—play it "long-haired."
skin beater—the drummer man.
sliver sucker—the clarinet player.
clam-bake—a pretentious program that falls apart due to airs or lack of practice.

WHEN BENNY GOODMAN, Tommy Dorsey, Glen Gray, or other masters of swing are in town they drop in at the headquarters of Down Beat on South Dearborn street. Down Beat is the magazine of swing, edited by two young Chicagoans, Glenn Burrs and Carl Cons. First published in July, 1934, when a few hundred copies were issued, it now has a circulation of 37,000 and goes to 26 foreign countries. Written in the idiom of swingdom, it is sometimes as difficult of comprehension to the uninitiated as Variety.

MAY WITCHERY.

Again I breathe the loveliness of May,
With spindrift perfume from an orchard sea,
The mystic charm of one more golden day,
Whose magic works within the heart of me.
Another May! but April, too, was dear,
With bursting buds and skies of blue and pearls;
But, May brings bloom for every April tear,
While poplar trees shake down their auburn curls.
The birds are nesting, for the year is young,
Where tender willows droop above the streams:
What rapture in the songs the birds have sung,
Of spring, of love and joy, and happy dreams;
But, oh the witchery of blooming bough,
Whose beauty and enchantment hold me now!

A large colored woman boarded a south side street car and an elderly colored man got up to offer her his seat. He bowed and raised his hat. "But, suh, I doesn't wants to deprive you-all of yo' seat," she answered. "No deprivicy, mam, no deprivicy," he said gallantly.

Protest.

Breathes there a man with soul so dead
Who never to himself hath said:
"I'll deem myself earth's lowest creature
If I again sit through a Double Feature"?

Jazbo of Old Dubuque.

CHICAGO—A CITY OF BEAUTIFUL WOMEN. There are far more lovely girls than good-looking males, it becomes apparent after careful observation of the pedestrians and shoppers, of the stenographers and clerks who pour into the restaurants at noon. Maureen O'Sullivans eating liver-sausage-on-rye; Norma Shearers washing down 16 cent lunches with chocolate sodas; Myrna Loy pans under perky lids. One girl in a maroon velveteen jacket and a little turned-up hat looked exactly like the girl in a Gerald Brockhurst picture that hangs in one of the finest private picture collections in town—the Walter S. Brewsters. Another, carrying a hat box, only needed the costume and the veils to be Jacques Emile Blanche's La Voyageuse that hangs in the Art institute. But the men—well, just males out for lunch—stereotypes in two-pants suits; rubber stamps in custom tailoring.

HOW THE HORMONES INFLUENCE LIFE.

HISTORY and fable are replete with illustrations of the influence of things and events so minor as to seem negligible, nevertheless of such importance as to change the current of world affairs. The same thing holds in the lives of all of us. A chance acquaintance or an incidental remark may alter or determine a career.

It requires only a spark to bring about the explosion of a charge of dynamite, a tiny force unleashing one of stupendous power. So it is within the human body, as we know that many of its operations are governed by infinitesimal quantities of chemicals which are manufactured by exceedingly small glands.

The behavior of the reproductive organs of women long has been a puzzle. Recent studies, however, have unlocked many doorways hitherto closed and have uncovered most interesting facts. For example, the functioning of the ovary seems to depend on certain products of the endocrine system. We believe now that the menstrual cycle begins with the secretion of the anterior lobe of the pituitary, which affects the ovary, which in its turn reacts on the uterus.

Two different pituitary substances are involved, one of which has to do with the ripening of the egg [pituitrin A] and the second with the production of a secretion from ovarian cells. This latter compound—estrin—stimulates the lining wall of the uterus. The balance between all these components must be maintained "just so," otherwise symptoms of no little significance will be experienced.

We can understand that with such a delicate bit of machinery figurative wires may not always make contacts, with the possibility of many upsets in the process. For instance, if menstruation does not appear at the normal period of life there is a lack, obviously, of ovarian performance. This may be due to some failure of the pituitary or of the ovary itself, and the injection of an artificially made glandular substitute will bring about frequently the development of egg follicles. The thyroid also plays a part and the use of small doses of thyroid extract daily has been helpful in some cases.

If much pain accompanies the episode and it is found that the uterus itself is either small or lies in an incorrect position, estrin offers relief. Not only does it promote growth, but it makes it unnecessary that the pituitary shall produce so much hormone. The sensitivity of the muscle of the organ is thus lessened. Sometimes huge doses of estrin are needed, and the preparation should be given plenty of time to do its work. Sterility may likewise yield to proper gland therapy. Unless there is an exact ratio of these elements, the egg may never mature.

Probably the greatest value of these hormones lies in alleviating the uncomfortable sensations which may become manifest at the change of life, when so many women are obliged to lead a miserable existence for from one to three or four years. A test of the urine of these patients may disclose that there is an absence of estrin and an excess of pituitrin A. This means that ovarian activity has ceased or that it has lessened because of the overactivity of the pituitary.

Most of the emotional signs, such as a tendency to weep, hot flashes, nervous excitement, and insomnia can be controled by the administration of estrin either by mouth or hypodermically. Large quantities are required at the outset, which may be lowered gradually as symptoms disappear. Effects are observable usually within ten days under this type of management. A few weeks later an examination of the urine will disclose that the amount of pituitrin A in the urine has dropped to its normal level.

Along with this procedure one can employ mild sedatives, with the result that a victory will be achieved over a distressing interval.

RALLYING FROM WEIL'S DISEASE.

M. M. W. writes: Your article on rats poisoning food attracted my attention. Last September I contracted Weil's disease while on a vacation in the country and was treated in the hospital for five weeks and at home for three more. To all appearances and from laboratory tests I am now free from the infection.

1. Is it possible that the spirochete, even after a dark field examination of the blood, will remain latent and fail to show up?

2. Why should the stools remain light brown in color after all traces of jaundice have disappeared?

3. Why should I continue to have heartburn?

4. Why should I feel tired all the time?

REPLY.

1. Not probable.
2. Since the liver was involved, complete recovery of its function may require more time.
3. Adjust your diet so that symptoms of indigestion will not appear. You may need more iron.
4. Convalescence is slow and may be attended with considerable weakness and anemia.

STOMACH'S HYDROCHLORIC ACID.

V. P. G. writes:

1. Is anything known about the underlying cause of low hydrochloric acid secretion in the stomach?

2. Is this condition more prevalent in women than in men?

3. Can anything be done to stimulate the secretion, since taking the substance at meal times is, after all, only a "crutch."

REPLY.

1. Reduced acidity may be only temporary if it is due to some nervous condition accentuated by worry and overfatigue. Digestive abuses may lead to atrophy [shrinking] of the acid secreting cells.
2. There is no preponderance in either sex.
3. If the glands are present and active the secretion will return. If they have been destroyed by disease the acid must be taken throughout life. A preparation can be taken in capsule form.

CONSULT SKILLED SURGEON.

Mrs. I. writes: About six years ago I noticed that one shoulder projected further forward than the other. At the present time I believe that I have a curvature of the spine. What can be done to stay its progress?

REPLY.

Consult a skilled orthopedic surgeon without delay. Much can be done to help you.

LONGS FOR A GLEAM OF CANDOR.

Lombard, Ill., May 16.—That editorial of yours entitled "Mr. Chamberlain and the Bankruptcy at Geneva" is the perfect example of propaganda in its basest form, devoid of all semblance of intellectual honesty and based on the assumption that your readers are too obtuse to formulate any individual judgment of European diplomacy. So poor Neville Chamberlain had no alternative, I presume, other than to liquidate bankrupt altruism by catering to the machinations of a Hitler, a Franco, and a Mussolini. That, of course, exonerates his policy of deliberately playing into the hands of the dictators by refusing the shipment of munitions to a friendly nation endeavoring to suppress a revolt within its own borders, while on the other hand encouraging the importation of foreign aid for those in rebellion.

Why cannot an occasional gleam of candor filter through the dark recesses of a reactionary press? Don't be obsessed with the delusion that there are millions who do not know Chamberlain's motives—the building of a wall against any forces of social change that show a reasonable chance for success. Should the Russian experiment perchance prove a success despite the unfavorable circumstances under which it was instituted, our Chamberlains, Hitlers, Mussolinis, and the forces of privilege—economic, social, and religious—would form a common front against it, providing the instrumentality through which a new dark age would be forced upon us, although science and technology had placed within our grasp an economy of abundance.

J. K. L.

PRECISELY.

Chicago, May 11.—Why criticize half starved men for leaning upon their shovels when they are trying to support families on WPA wages? Let the government practice what it preaches and give these men a living wage or quit interfering with business and allow these men to be absorbed in the industries where they can fill positions for which they have been trained. Throw away the shovels, give them a full dinner pail, and watch them come to life.

MRS. MARGARET JOHNSON.

A JOB FOR WPA.

Chicago, May 16.—The west drive in Columbus park between Jackson boulevard and Harrison street is one mass of holes, some of them as deep as eight inches. This road is dangerous, not to mention the damage to automobiles. The road is bordered by green grass, shade trees and, best of all, a golf course.

Why couldn't some one call this road to the attention of the WPA and arrange for the men to repair it in their spare time?

M. B.

THE HOLLYWOOD PARADOX.

Chicago, May 13.—I just wondered if any one else thought as I have about the Hollywood paradox. Hollywooders sing and shout, laugh and cry, talk and whisper more about love than any other group in the world, but don't even recognize the poor people who haven't been to Reno.

WILLIAM GARNESS.

JUST AN OVERSIGHT.

Fairbury, Ill., May 14.—I am sorry to note your editorial writer is slipping. He mentioned Hugo Black's name without saying he was a former member of the K. K. K.

K. D. T.

ANOTHER VIEW OF CHARLES XII.

Chicago, May 17.—I cannot agree with Mr. Muller that Charles XII. was a great soldier.

Like Napoleon, he was fortunate in inheriting an army far superior in its personnel, its organization, its officers, and its generals, to any army opposed to it.

Rehnskjold, Dahlberg, Steinau, Stenbock, and Levenhaupt were equal to the great field marshals which the monarchy and the revolution left for Napoleon—Massena, Soult, Lannes, Davoust, Murat, Victor—or the great generals that rose with Grant in the civil war—Sheridan, Sherman, Terry, Miles, and Thomas.

Like Napoleon, Charles embarked on a series of adventures—glamorous—but in the end fatal to his army, his country, and himself.

Not a madman, perhaps, but not far from it.

MACCARTY.

THE PARROT'S INTELLECT.

Belvidere, Ill., May 16.—The newspapers from time to time have given publicity to many erroneous statements in regard to parrots. May I, through your Voice of the People, correct some of these?

In the first place, African gray parrots do not talk better than the American parrots, and in the second place, parrots do understand what they say if they have been taught the meaning. It all depends on the teaching.

There are outstanding individuals in every variety of parrots just as there are outstanding people in every nationality. I can back this up from wide experience and investigation.

LILLIS HAMILTON.

PARK RIDGE HOSPITALITY.

Chicago, May 16.—During the formation of the youths' convention parade at Park Ridge last Sunday it was necessary to seek shelter from the downpour of rain and hail and the homeowners of Park Ridge immediately came to the rescue by allowing the paraders and onlookers to make use of their garages basements, kitchens, and even living rooms.

The success of the parade was largely due to this hospitality and should not be allowed to go unmentioned. Thank you, Park Ridgers.

LEGIONNAIRE.

MR. JUSTICE BLACK.

Laketon, Ind., May 13.—The article by Chesly Manly in today's TRIBUNE is the height of ignorance, pettiness, and spite. My, but you are little. You shouldn't have any trouble getting through a needle's eye.

You hate Justice Black, and like any little people, you print any mean thing that his enemies say about him. But if somebody said anything in his favor you aren't big enough to print it.

HILDA RYOR.

FOR THE CLASS IN LOGIC.

Chicago, May 11.—Today's TRIBUNE informs us that after May 17 there will be no more relief funds. That means no more sales tax, doesn't it? Or does it?

A. J. C.

EXPLANATION.

Chicago, May 9.—I see where the sheriff in Joliet says there are no slot machines there. The reason is they are all back in Cook county again.

C. S.

SLOT MACHINES AGAIN?

Chicago, May 16.—Early last fall, when the roadhouse season was about to close, our state's attorney informed us that he was cleaning out the "one-armed bandit" type of slot machines because they were against the law and were one of the most lucrative rackets for the Capone cutthroats. He impressively threatened tavern keepers throughout the county with revocation of their licenses for having them.

Now that the county roadhouse season has reopened these fixed cheaters are with us again—stronger than ever. Calumet City, for instance, where they formerly had one to a tavern, now has three or four to a tavern. Why?

EDWARD R. GRAHAM.

FINDS US FORGETFUL.

Chicago, May 16.—Your cartoon of today is no doubt interesting and expressive of facts. Apparently, however, you entirely forgot when "somebody" took over—should we say "grab" or "steal?"—Texas, Arizona, California, Colorado, etc., in the same fashion as the others are doing. So what? Well, I suppose it was different! Altogether different! Now you publish this.

M. M. GONZALEZ.
[A Mexican Greaser.]

WHY THE DISCRIMINATION?

Chicago, May 18.—I see that the park board has given the use of Soldiers' field for the use of the crown prince of Sweden. The same board refused it to Father Coughlin. Why are the Swedes favored over the Irish?

PATRICK MURPHY.

JUDGMENT NOTE.

Chicago, May 13.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Last month I signed a [1] judgment note for $150, [2] payable in one year or before. Now the lawyer for the other party insists on payment of this note, after only one month has elapsed.

3. Do I have to pay same? I bought a rooming house.

4. Can they take the furniture out of said rooming house without bringing me to court?

5. What is the difference between a judgment and a [6] promissory note? There is no chattel mortgage on the furniture.

J. K.

1. Illinois law is exceptional in giving effect to a printed judgment clause authorizing confession "at any time hereafter." If your note is on such a form, then presumably the creditor can take judgment at any time.
2. Where the written-in portion of a note states that the note is to be payable "on or before" a named date, it is interpreted as giving the option to the debtor rather than the creditor, but see 1.
3. We cannot advise to advantage without having the wording of the instrument before us.
4. Depends on the wording of the papers.
5. A judgment is a court order.
6. A promissory note is a promise to pay. The two expressions are often combined in the expression "judgment note," which means a note expressly authorizing the entering of a judgment without service of a summons.

MARSHALL FIELD & COMPANY

INSURANCE MAN PUT ON TRIAL IN $100,000 FRAUD

Complete Jury for Long Federal Hearing.

A jury in federal court was selected yesterday to try John M. Minnec on charges of defrauding 2,000 persons of nearly $100,000 in a mail fraud scheme by selling them insurance which, it is alleged, the issuer never intends to pay.

Minnec, who lives at 2721 South Wesley avenue, Berwyn, operated the Cosmopolitan Mutual Benefit association of Hammond and the Lincoln National Aid association of Berwyn from 1930 until his indictment last November.

Prior to that, according to Assistant District Attorneys Thomas B. Hart and Roy D. Keehn Jr., Minnec had run similar insurance associations. When they collapsed or went into bankruptcy, the prosecutors said, Minnec merely moved his office and opened shop again.

From 8 Months to 80.

He "insured" any one, babies less than a year old or octogenarians, without requiring a physical examination, as most insurance companies demand. Instead of policies Minnec issued what he called certificates of membership.

These cost from $1 to $6 a month, the prosecutors declared. They promised death benefits of $1,000, and $3,000 in case of accidental death. The advertisments, which were sent through the mails, also included assurances of sick benefits for as much as $30 a week.

"But," said Assistant District Attorney Hart, "here was the catch. At the bottom of each policy in fine type was the statement that no one could expect to share in any benefits of the association until he had been a member for from eight to twelve years."

Claims Paid Average $16.

Minnec misrepresented his policies and the benefits they advertised, the prosecutors declared, and he invited the sick and the aged to become members of his companies. He only paid out a few hundred claims, they added, averaging about $16 each.

The prosecutors said they expect to call about seventy witnesses, and that the government case may take nearly three weeks. Minnec's indictment carries 16 counts, on each of which he is liable to five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

GETS SAME OLD RUB FROM A GYPSY; YES, $50 WORTH OF IT

Fred Meyer, 79 years old, was sweeping the walk in front of his home at 5525 South Loomis street yesterday when an automobile in which two gypsy women and a man were riding drew up to the curb. They beckoned to Meyer and he joined them.

"You look so ill," said one of the women. "I will cure you. Just let me rub the back of your neck and your chest and everything will be all right."

Meyer accepted the treatment and his aches felt somewhat better for it. He thanked the gypsies and they drove away. And then Meyer's hand wandered to his hip pocket and he felt worse at once. His wallet and $50 were gone.

FIND OPERATOR'S DIAMONDS ALL IN LOOP PAWNSHOP

Robbery Theory of His Slaying Glimmers.

The possibility that robbery was the motive for the ganglike slaying of Henry Schneider, motion picture operator, was lessened yesterday when Coroner's Investigator Francis Donohue learned that diamonds he possessed, valued at $3,085, are in the hands of a loop pawnbroker.

Schneider, who was 42 years old, was a gem enthusiast and frequently conducted raffles of diamond rings. Papers found in his room at 64 West Schiller street showed that it was his custom at intervals to pledge his jewelry for amounts ranging from $15 to $150.

Inquest Finds No Clews.

An inquest into the death, conducted by Deputy Coroner James J. Whalen, brought out nothing to indicate the identity of the killer or killers. The known facts are that he was missing since he quit work early the morning of May 9 at the Adelphi theater, 7074 North Clark street, and that his body, with two bullet wounds through the head, was discovered Monday in the forest preserve in Glencoe.

One witness, Miss Mary Victor, 1429 North Clark street, said she had helped sell tickets for his latest raffle, that of a $650 ring, and was to receive 5 cents out of each.

Joseph J. Miller, tavern keeper at 1424 North Clark street, testified that he was not interested in the raffle but that he had allowed the use of his name in the ticket sale in the belief that the enterprise would attract patronage.

Both Are Questioned.

After the hearing Miss Victor and Miller were questioned by Assistant State's Attorney Mal Coghlan, and Miss Victor disclosed that Schneider once told her, "If anything happens to me, my mother will know why." The mother, Mrs. John De Gan, has disclaimed any such knowledge.

There has been no satisfactory explanation why Schneider had two pistols in his safe deposit box at the Upper Avenue bank, 919 North Michigan avenue, and a rifle and large amount of ammunition in his room. The inquest was continued to June 8.

TWO TERRORISTS SENTENCED FOR TRADE BOMBINGS

Richard Burke, an ex-convict, was sentenced yesterday by Judge John C. Lewe of the Criminal court to one to five years in prison for conspiracy to bomb shoe repair men in department stores with tear gas.

Aaron Sandler, who was on trial with Burke, was sentenced to nine months in the county jail. Ray Waters, 34, who testified for the state, was granted a separate trial.

Burke pleaded guilty and the jury was dismissed after Judge Lewe received his confession in evidence. Burke admitted that he and the others, by terroristic tactics, tried to force shoe repair men into an association.

After tear gas bombs were delivered to several department stores last December, policemen uncovered the conspiracy by tracing a shipment of the gas from Germany to Waters' home.

In 1921 Burke served eleven years in prison for bombing.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Vincent Gorecki, receiving stolen property, sentenced to one to ten years in the penitentiary; George Hoffman, burglary, sentenced to one to ten years in the penitentiary; Casimir Stanula and Stanley Leonard, burglary, sentenced to one year each in the Bridewell; Al Leving, robbery, sentenced to one year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Rudolph Desort.

George McFarland, assault to rob, sentenced to one to fourteen years in the penitentiary by Judge Francis B. Allegretti.

—that's why it's so long-lasting!

A man's muscles have to be lean and hard—free from flabby fat—to stand the long, hard grind of athletic contests successfully. It's like that with motor oil, too. Get rid of the short-lived portions of a motor oil and the remaining oil is bound to have greater staying-power. Standard's special refining "workouts" create Iso-Vis that way. Wax, and unstable, carbon-forming elements are literally worked out of Iso-Vis completely. That's why it LASTS. Try Iso-Vis this summer—and see how far you go before you need to add a quart!

U. S. JURY INDICTS 7 FOR HARBORING GANGSTER KARPIS

3 Ex-Police Officials and 2 Women Included.

Little Rock, Ark., May 18.—(AP)—Seven persons, three of them former police officials of Hot Springs, were indicted by a federal grand jury here today on charges of harboring Alvin Karpis, former public enemy No. 1.

Six of them were seized by federal agents at Hot Springs. The seventh, Connie Morris, 22 years old, described as a sweetheart of Fred Hunter, Karpis gangster, was arrested in St. Louis.

United States District Attorney Fred Isgrig said the six arrested at Hot Springs are Herbert Akers, former Hot Springs chief of detectives; Joseph Wakelin, former Hot Springs police chief; Cecil Brock, former lieutenant of detectives at Hot Springs; John Stover, manager of the Hot Springs municipal airport; Morris Loftis, caretaker for a boat landing near Hot Springs, and Mrs. Al C. Dyer, owner of the boat landing.

Six Released on Bonds.

The six arrested at Hot Springs, brought to the federal building here, arranged bail tonight, Akers and Wakelin posting bonds of $10,000 each, and the others bonds of $5,000 each.

Inspector E. J. Connelley of the federal bureau of investigation, said in a formal report that Akers, Wakelin, and Brock were charged with having harbored Karpis while they were on active duty with the Hot Springs police department, from June, 1935, to May, 1936. Akers and Wakelin resigned last year and Brock was dismissed.

Karpis now is serving a life sentence at Alcatraz for kidnaping William Hamm Jr., St. Paul, Minn., brewer.

Tells of Protection.

Connelley's report charged Karpis, Harry Campbell, and Hunter found protection in Hot Springs. Campbell is serving a life sentence for kidnaping Edward G. Bremer, St. Paul banker. Hunter is serving a two year sentence in federal prison for conspiracy to harbor Karpis and Campbell and is under a twenty-five year sentence for a mail train robbery.

Mrs. Dyer and Loftis were charged with renting a cottage to Karpis and Hunter.

Stover was charged with flying Karpis, Hunter, and their women companions to various parts of the country and aiding them in avoiding detection. Miss Morris was charged with associating with Hunter until federal agents captured Karpis at New Orleans on May 1, 1936, when he was accompanied by Hunter and Miss Morris.

Woman Held in Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 18.—[Special.]—Grace Goldstein, alias Jewell Laverne Grayson, 32 years old, asserted blonde sweetheart of Alvin Karpis, was arrested here today by federal bureau of investigation agents as she was making plans to leave for Honolulu. Miss Goldstein, according to federal officers, was indicted by a federal grand jury in Little Rock, Ark. She is charged specifically with renting a Hot Springs residence in which Karpis and his kidnap mob were harbored while government officers were searching the country for them.

3 JURORS SELECTED FOR YOUNG CRABB'S WIFE SLAYING TRIAL

Pekin, Ill., May 18.—[Special.]—Selection of a jury was begun today to try James Crabb, 22 years old, son of a wealthy Delavan, Ill., banker, on a charge of manslaughter in the fatal shooting of his young bride, Betty Collison Crabb, following a highball party March 1.

The trial began over the protests of defense attorneys, who sought without success to have Circuit Judge Joseph E. Daily grant a delay.

Both sides tentatively accepted only three jurors during today's session. They are John Schaefer, South Pekin farmer; Oram Aupperle, farmer of Morton, and Gerhardt Jenssen, Pekin Coal company employé.

RED CROSS GETS TENTH OF CASH TO AID CHINESE

One tenth of the $63,350 quota set for the Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross in its national China relief fund drive already has been raised, James T. Nicholson, local manager, said yesterday.

The first response to the appeal, Nicholson said, was made by the council of the junior Red Cross, composed of representatives from the various high schools, who appropriated $500 from their treasury. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy gave $500 and Mrs. P. A. Valentine and Mrs. Frederic W. Upham gave $100 apiece.

"Assistance must be given immediately on a large scale if a major tragedy of modern history is to be avoided," the manager said.

Butcher Is Found Dead, Apparently a Suicide

Oscar E. Stephan, 51 years old, a butcher, was found dead, apparently a suicide, yesterday in the rear yard of a building at 2205 North California avenue. The place is near a meat market at 2106 Milwaukee avenue, of which Stephan was part owner. A pistol was found near the body. Members of Stephan's family, who live at 2916 Palmer street, said he had been worried recently over financial troubles and ill health.

Band or Bond? The Result: Libertyville's Still in Debt

Because officials got the words bond and band mixed up, Libertyville must give up its hope of freeing itself of bonded indebtedness this year. The tax levy originally included an item marked "bond fund, $4,400," for the retirement of the last of the bonds. The officials decided "band fund" was meant and, as the band is self supporting, they dropped the item.

Mrs. Georgia Jensen, 45 years old, was found dead yesterday in her flat at 3425 Chicago avenue.

COURT MEDDLING ISSUE RAISED IN JUDGESHIP RACE

G. O. P. Backers of Gunn Assail Horner Tactics.

Bloomington, Ill., May 18.—[Special.]—The issue of political tampering with the courts will be raised in sixteen counties in east-central Illinois during the next six weeks, according to plans adopted at a Republican conference here tonight.

Walter T. Gunn.

Republican county chairmen and leaders in the third Supreme court district met to organize the campaign for Walter T. Gunn, Danville attorney and Republican nominee for the vacancy caused by the death of Justice Lott R. Herrick last year.

Without exception they agreed that, in addition to emphasizing the qualifications of their candidate, they will drive home to the voters the part that Gov. Henry Horner played in the selection of the Democratic nominee, Circuit Judge Joseph L. McLaughlin of Sullivan.

Charge Political Maneuvering.

The Horner organization throughout the district, it was charged, not only worked for the nomination of Judge McLaughlin but also successfully maneuvered to prevent several counties from indorsing favorite sons in the county conventions which preceded the district convention.

Attorney Gunn, who attended the meeting in the Illinois hotel, did not join in this discussion of campaign tactics and made it plain that his own part in the activities from now until June 27, the date of the special election, will conform with the dignity of the office he seeks.

Gunn Gives His Pledge.

"A candidate for judge," he said, "especially a candidate for the highest court in the state, can only say that he will perform his duty to the best of his ability, and that duty consists principally of construing the law."

Robert R. Bookwalter of Danville was elected general chairman of Gunn's campaign.

JUVENILE CRIME STUDY ENDS; NO PROPOSALS MADE

A committee of the Chicago Bar association which for several months had been making a study of the problem of juvenile crime, held its last meeting yesterday and decided to make no recommendations. Attorney Grenville Beardsley, chairman, said the results of the study would be available for any successor committee appointed, but, that his committee was not prepared to advocate any changes in the laws. Judge Frank H. Bicek of the juvenile court had asked the bar association to consider changes for juvenile crime laws.

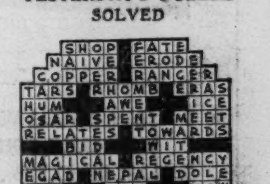
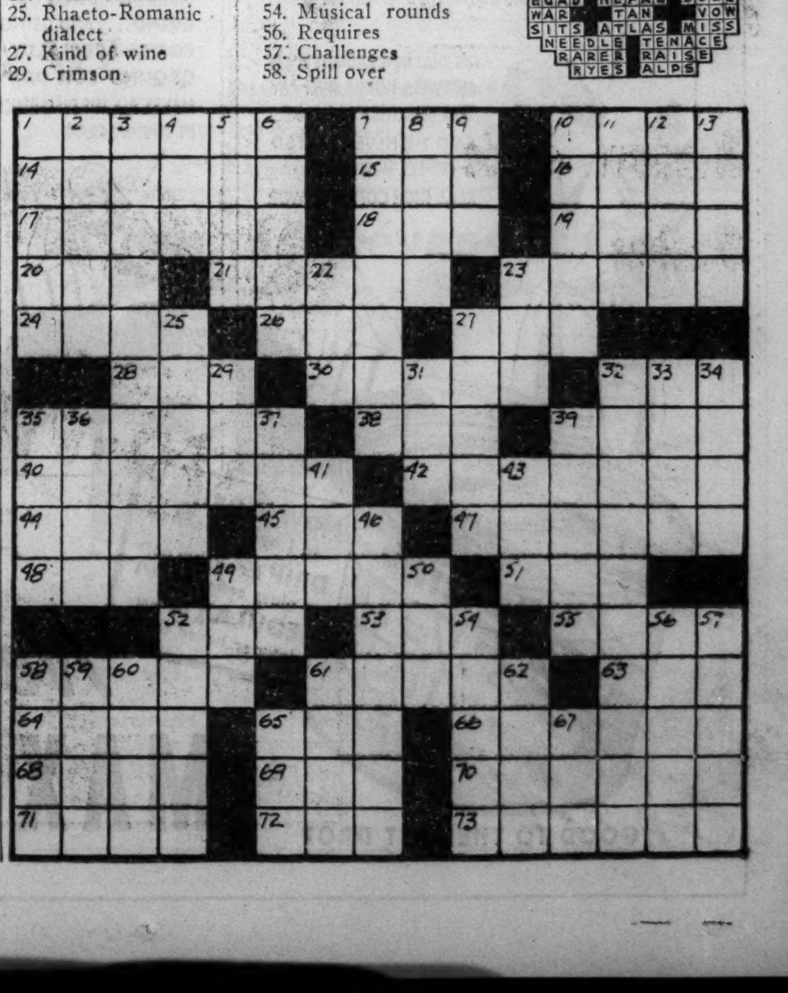
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED





Dr. A. C. Weng President of Lutheran Synod

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Sterling, Ill., May 18.—[Special.]—The Rev. Dr. Armin C. Weng of Elgin was elected president of the Illinois synod of the United Lutheran church here today. Dr. Weng has been president of the synod since the death of the Rev. Dr. Roy G. Catlin last September. He will retain his pastorship of Holy Trinity Lutheran church at Elgin at least during the coming year.

H. Truman Gordon, a secretary of the Townsend old age pension organization was removed from the ministry of the United Synod following a debate on what secular occupations ministers could undertake without effect on ministerial status. It was decided that ministers may teach or enter literary work and still retain their ordination papers.

Mr. Gordon had refused the synod's request to surrender his ordination certificate. He was dropped from the church's list of ministers.

The decline of church related colleges has occupied attention of the synod's sessions. Pastors and church educational leaders pointed to the phenomenal rise of publicly sponsored two year junior colleges as the principal cause of falling enrollment in the church colleges.

The synod voted increased support to Carthage college.

Dr. Weng reported that the church is in hearty accord with last week's organization of the world council of churches in Utrecht, the Netherlands. He said, however, that the United Lutheran position requires that the newly formed council be based on denominations rather than upon national churches. This would mean that the Episcopal and Anglican churches would form, for instance, a single denomination unit in the new council. He said that the Lutheran state churches of Norway, Sweden, and Denmark, together with all other Lutheran branches, would make another denomination unit.

According to CULBERTSON

A LESSON LEARNED TOO LATE.
[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

When the declarer's trump suit is headed by the K-J-10 it is, of course, desirable that the lead be from dummy toward his hand, rather than vice versa. But other and more vital considerations often enter the picture. Dummy's trumps may have more value as ruffers than as leads. Declarer, in today's hand, learned that lesson too late.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	3 clubs	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

South's three club bid was quite unorthodox, and also quite unsound. South was a player who prefers to use the opening three bid as a pure shutout, indicating a weak hand. West was aware of South's predilection, and this knowledge probably motivated the dangerously shaded double. West meant it as a takeout double, but really it was optional and East, with no five-card suit, properly chose to convert it into a penalty double by passing. Obviously East-West could not have "gone anywhere."

West hit upon the diamond ace as the opening lead and, when he saw the dummy and the dangerous appearing diamond suit, shifted to a low heart—an unfortunate choice. Declarer ducked in dummy and took East's ten with the queen, returning a heart to the ace. He then cashed the diamond king, discarding his own third heart. It was this choice of discards that resulted in his eventual defeat. It should have been obvious to declarer that his remaining heart could be ruffed with dummy's singleton trump, but that, in order to avoid the loss of two spade tricks, he would have to discard a spade. As far as maintaining dummy's trump for leading purposes was concerned, there was nothing in this thought because he would be able to make only one lead from dummy, and it would be better to lead a spade and finesse against the queen than to lead a trump with the hope of holding trump losses to one trick.

After discarding the heart on the diamond king declarer found himself in great difficulty. He led the spade jack, East ducked, and West won. A heart was returned, ruffed by declarer, and now the latter found that he still had to lead trumps from his own hand despite the preservation of dummy's singleton trump. The king lost to West's ace. West returned a diamond which declarer had to ruff. The club jack was taken by East with the queen, and East promptly exited with his last club, thereby preserving his spade queen as a trick. The contract was down one.

If declarer had used dummy's singleton trump for a sensible purpose, namely, to ruff a third heart, and had used the diamond king for a spade discard, then had let the jack of spades ride through East, he could easily have held his losses to one spade, one diamond, and two trump tricks.

Pay Special Attention to Growing Child

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS
[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Rest for the baby, food for the baby, sun for the baby, this for the baby—that for the baby. Well, that's as it should be—his royal highness needs all the care we can give him to get him off to a good start.

But, if we'll put on our seven league boots [or twice seven leagues is more like it]—we'll find a young person who's growing just about as fast and one who's in need of more physical care than he often gets. Or than he will often take—because the independent adolescent [who is the young person I'm talking about] is as impatient of supervision and restrictions regarding his physical affairs as he is regarding his social and other activities.

If you've been worrying about your teen age son or daughter's "moods and tenses" take this advice. If your boy and girl are keen about sports, keep a weather eye on them! Wise physical directors of colleges warn parents about letting their high school boys burn their young energy out in highly competitive sports.

See that your adolescent gets plenty of sleep. They drink it up like a sponge, but hate early hours at the front end of the evening. Just put your foot down for the school week, anyhow. And if your boy or girl is languid or lacking in appetite or losing weight, stage manage a daytime rest, and managing it takes, too. Doctors and nutritionists strongly recommend this.

See that these older children's diet is right. Not only enough food—sometimes they seem to have hollow legs—but the right kind. Keep an eye out for an excess of stupendous splendiferous sundaes and heavy sweets between meals, which are bad for appetite at mealtimes and bad for complexions in the teen years—a point that will help your argument. Since these cravings often indicate a real need of more energy or tissue building food than three meals a day will supply, try to switch the children to milk, fruit, cookies, hot chocolate, bread, and butter and honey, or molasses, sandwiches, or even a bowl of good, homemade soup for their extra nourishment.

Exercise that's pleasurable should be another item in physical care, preferably in the fresh air.

And last: Since adolescence is not only a healthful period, but also one of certain susceptibilities, a yearly checkup by a good doctor is advisable. His advice for more rest, for example, may tide a child over organic difficulties which are only temporary if properly handled, or may build up a lowered resistance. Or his okay may set your mind entirely at rest.

"Understanding the Adolescent" is a booklet helpful to parents and teachers. It will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

Wins Annual U. of C. Bible Reading Test

D. F. Littlefair.

Duncan E. Littlefair, a graduate student in divinity at the University of Chicago, yesterday won the university's 35th annual contest in Bible reading.

The contest, established in the will of the late Milo P. Jewett, is based on the theory that a well read passage from the Bible often lodges in the hearer's memory far longer than a sermon. Two types of passages, objective and lyrical, must be read by each contestant.

Only four students, all men, took part in yesterday's contest. Littlefair, 25 and blond, with flashing eye and dramatic voice, read three excerpts from the Scriptures, St. John 8:1-11, St. John 14:1-12, and Isaiah 5:1-7. The last, the parable of the vineyard, he said, is his favorite.

Littlefair is a graduate of McMaster university in Hamilton, Ontario. During his undergraduate days, he said, he won many oratorical contests, and entered yesterday's contest "just because $50 seemed too good to miss."

P.-T. A. Convention Told Our Intelligence Rating Is Declining

Salt Lake City, Utah, May 19.—(AP)—America's highest intellectual groups who decline to raise children are responsible for a lowering of national intelligence by 9 per cent per generation, a California educator told the National Congress of Parents and Teachers tonight.

Pointing to a fertility rate among college graduates half that found in unskilled and agricultural groups, Dr. John A. Sexson of Pasadena, president of the American Association of School Administrators, said "the average of intelligence must soon sink below the present 100 or middle point to 90, 80, or even 70."

He pleaded for community coöperation in providing services aimed to raise the intelligence quotient of American youth.

Casserole dishes which are combinations of meat and vegetables, or of vegetables alone, are popular with large families who like plenty to eat but haven't any extra pennies to spend for food. They are popular also with smaller families consisting of two or more frequently hungry persons who like the looks of a hot baked combination of foods. Left-over vegetables may be used in the first three of these recipes.

Baked Lima Bean and Salmon Loaf.
[Serves Six or More.]

- 3 cups cooked lima beans
- 2 cups soft bread crums
- 1 cup flaked canned salmon
- ½ cup canned tomatoes
- ⅓ cup chopped green pepper
- 1 tablespoon chopped pimiento
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- ¼ teaspoon chili powder
- 2 teaspoons lemon juice
- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
- ¼ cup fine buttered crums

Mash beans and combine with remaining ingredients except buttered crums. Shape into a loaf and place on greased ovenproof platter or in baking pan. Bake at 350 degrees, moderate oven, for about 45 minutes.

Meat and Vegetable Pie.
[Serves Six.]

- 1 pound beef, cut in cubes
- ¼ pound lean pork, cut in cubes
- 1 medium onion, sliced
- 4 tablespoons butter or bacon fat
- Salt, pepper
- 2 teaspoons prepared mustard
- 1 cup diced cooked or canned carrots
- 1 cup canned peas and liquid
- 1 small can mushrooms, sliced
- 3 tablespoons flour

Brown meat and onion in one tablespoon fat. Add salt, pepper, mustard, and one cup water. Cover and simmer until meat is tender, about one hour. Add prepared vegetables. Blend flour and remaining fat, and add. Continue cooking for ten minutes, adding enough water to make a medium gravy for the meat and vegetables. Pour into a greased casserole and cover the surface with baking powder biscuits. Bake at 450 degrees for 20 minutes.

Of course there are hundreds of variations of this recipe. Left-over cooked meat often is used, and with it left-over gravy, thinned with water or extended with medium white sauce. Left-over mashed potatoes may be rewhipped with a little milk and a beaten egg, and spread over the top of a meat pie instead of biscuits.

Vegetable Casserole.
[Serves Three.]

- 1 cup corn, canned or fresh
- 2 cup tomatoes, canned or fresh
- ¼ cup chopped celery
- 1 tablespoon chopped green pepper
- 1 tablespoon chopped onion
- ¼ cup fine bread crums
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon paprika
- ½ teaspoon sugar
- 2 slightly beaten eggs
- Grated cheese

Add beaten eggs to mixture of other ingredients. Place in a buttered baking dish, set in a pan of hot water. Bake 25 minutes at 350 degrees, sprinkling grated cheese over the dish just before it comes from the oven.

FRENCH VEGETABLE STEW.

Proportions may be varied to suit the size of the family. The original recipe calls for one eggplant, diced; one Italian squash, diced; three onions, sliced; four tomatoes, quartered; one stalk of celery, cut in pieces, and one small green pepper, chopped. All are cooked together in a covered skillet with a little salad oil or olive oil, and seasoned with salt, pepper, a little thyme, and a clove of garlic. When the vegetables are tender they are transferred to individual baking dishes, topped with grated cheese, and browned under a broiling unit.

Expert Advises Twenty Pairs of Hose a Year

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.
[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Every woman should have twenty pairs of silk stockings, minimum, says William Mondshine, the man who supplies stockings for most of the beautiful legs on the screen. Mondshine has a long history of chiffon sheathing dazzling underpinnings. He used to originate silk hosiery for Ziegfeld's famed Follies. Incidentally, Mondshine has done a lot of research on the silk hosiery subject.

For one thing, he says that the vogue for silk stockings did not begin with woman's vanity. Your old friend and lady killer, King Henry VIII., wore the first silk stockings. His daughter, Queen Elizabeth, stole the idea from her old man. And Elizabeth's took two months to make.

Hollywood, where Mondshine now hangs his hat, is reported as showing a lot of the brownish ochre shade at the moment. He sees these and stockings with a fleur de lis design, about 15 on each leg, introduced by Franciska Gaal, as current favorites. Franciska, incidentally, is accused of having switched the famous colony to brownish nail polish to wear with the ochre shade of stocking.

Ombre, which changes from a steel gray in the front through several faintly iridescent shades to a plum tint, has a following, too, it is reported, because it tends to slim the legs.

Among novelties is a zipper stocking of all things! Zips up the seam! An all-rubber stocking which can be stretched to opera length and looks very sheer! Hosiery with velvet heels and velvet seams, and stockings dipped in gold and silver sound like things in the land of fads and fancies that die a-borning. But they show, nevertheless, the trend to make the underpinnings even more resplendent.

But for you and me and a couple of other gals who'll take ours straight, Mondshine says when selecting stockings to choose good quality and take care of them ourselves. These twenty pairs, minimum, spoken of above, will last a year, says our authority, if we tend them ourselves. Dip them in suds [lukewarm or cool] rinse in almost cool water, roll in turkish towel, shape them a bit and dry away from heat.

If one is on the heavy side, we are told stockings with clocks or net stockings with perpendicular lines will slenderize calves and ankles. If your legs are too thin, get stockings with a very low heel.

Miss Edith V. Seldomridge to Be June Bride

BY JUDITH CASS.

PROBABLY no young woman who is preparing to be graduated from college this June is busier than Miss Edith Virginia Seldomridge, for she also is getting together a trousseau and furnishing a house where she will start housekeeping as Mrs. John Lansing Zabriskie.

Miss Seldomridge, daughter of Mrs. Howard Russell Schroyer of Evanston, will receive her diploma on June 13 from Wells college, which is located in Aurora-on-Cayuga, N. Y., where Mr. Zabriskie and his mother, Mrs. Nicholas Lansing Zabriskie, live.

Miss Seldomridge and Mr. Zabriskie will be married on June 29 in the Northwestern Presbyterian church of Evanston. The Rev. Austin Pardue of St. Paul's cathedral, Buffalo, will officiate. He is an old family friend of the bride. All three of the young women who will attend the bride will be graduated from Wells with Miss Seldomridge. Miss Jane Miller of Evanston is to be the maid of honor and Miss Mary Rawlins of Evanston and Miss Kay Watters of Gedney farms, White Plains, N. Y., will be bridesmaids.

Robert Wells Zabriskie will come from Dallas, Tex., to be his uncle's best man. Ushering will be William Robertson of Ithaca, N. Y., Gerry Spaulding of Buffalo, Abner Howard of Bronxville, and James Faulck of Elmira, N. Y.

Mr. Zabriskie will take his bride to Bermuda on their wedding trip.

Prenuptial Parties for Leslie Wilson.

The first of many prenuptial parties for Miss Leslie Wilson, daughter of the Morris Karl Wilsons of Winnetka, who is to be married to Roger Sherman on June 4, will be given this evening by Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert H. Scribner. They will give a dinner for Miss Wilson and Mr. Sherman at the Four Georges on top of the Hotel Sherman. Tomorrow Mrs. Roger Sherman, the bridegroom's mother, will entertain at a tea for Miss Wilson.

On May 28, one week before the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Ayres Boal will give a dance at their home in Winnetka. On Memorial day Mr. and Mrs. William Bacon will entertain for Miss Wilson and Mr. Sherman in the garden of their home in Winnetka.

Miss Wilson's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Little, will give the bridal dinner the evening preceding the wedding at their home in Evanston.

Caryl Nicolson Bride of James L. Abernathy.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Malcolm Nicolson of Chicago announce the marriage yesterday of their daughter, Caryl, to James Logan Abernathy of Kansas City, son of Omar Abernathy of Miami, Fla. The invitations for the wedding reception, which was to have taken place on Saturday, have been recalled.

Mr. Abernathy and his bride left immediately after the ceremony on their wedding trip.

Friday the 13th was certainly not an unlucky day for the Rev. and Mrs. W. Oliver Brackett of Lake Forest, for on that day their second daughter was born at the Alice Home hospital. She has been named Sarah Evershed Brackett. The middle name came out of the Domesday Book and has descended through the family for some 800 years.

The Bracketts have two other children, Joanna, 6, and Thomas Oliver, 2. Dr. Brackett is minister of the First Presbyterian church in Lake Forest. Mrs. Brackett is the former Miss Nancy Thompson of Edinburgh, Scotland.

Daughter of Torreys Christened in N. Y.

Mrs. Charles Y. Freeman Jr. and Miss Marion Gordon are the godmothers of the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Torrey, but neither was present at the christening Sunday of tiny Hope, whose mother, the former Betty Brawley, is the younger daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Frank E. Brawley.

The christening took place at the home of Mr. Torrey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Cates Torrey, in Scarsdale, N. Y., and Hope's month old cousin, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Cuddeback Jr. [Emily Torrey], was christened at the same time. It was the Cuddebacks' first wedding anniversary.

Little Suzanne Cuddeback wore her mother's christening robe, and Hope wore that of her great-grandmother, Mrs. Thomas McChesney, which was

Mrs. Frederick W. Nichols, in a new dotted Swiss evening gown, looks as if she were anticipating with pleasure a "Spring Swing" the Junior guild of St. Luke's procathedral is giving Saturday night at the Shawnee Country club. Mrs. Nichols is a member of the guild.

The free open air concerts in Grant park will begin on Friday, July 1, and run through Labor day, Sept. 5. There will be programs every night during that period excepting Aug. 20, the date of the ninth Chicagoland Music Festival in Soldiers' field.

The concerts will be given by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, the Chicago Civic Opera orchestra, the Woman's Symphony orchestra, the Chicago Philharmonic orchestra, the orchestras of MBS, NBC, and CBS, and a variety of other units taking their names from the names of the conductors.

The directors so far announced are Henry Weber, Walter Steindel, Rudolph Ganz, Leroy Shields, Carl Hohengarten, Jerzy Bojanowski, Izler Solomon, Ulderico Marcelli, and George Dasch.

The bands will be conducted by Armin Hand, A. F. Thaviu, Glen Bainum, and Pete Cavallo. Guests soloists have not yet been announced. In addition to the downtown schedule there will be free band concerts in Garfield, Lincoln, and Jackson parks throughout the summer.

WEDDING

The wedding of Miss Mildred Meiley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emery G. Meiley of Naperville, Ill., to Dr. Martin T. Norpell, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Norpell of St. Petersburg, Fla., took place on May 7 at St. Joseph's Catholic church in Downers Grove. Dr. Norpell and his bride are at home in the Kenilworth apartments in Downers Grove.

The Housewife

If you like to take one hot food for the picnic lunch or supper, or if you wish to substitute a cold salad instead, you may be sure the temperature remains constant if you take it in a specially made container which functions like a thermos bottle.

We have found one that will hold plenty of hot or cold food for the ordinary family, yet is not bulky nor heavy. It is porcelain lined, with a cover that fits securely. And the price is reasonable. EDITH WEIGLE.

Engagements of Three Menuhins Announced Within Single Week

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, May 18.—The third romance in the Menuhin family became known today with the announcement of the engagement of Yehudi's 16-year-old sister, Yaltah, to William Stix, of St. Louis, Mo. Yaltah is the youngest of the three gifted Menuhin children and an accomplished pianist. Stix is an attorney in the United States Government service. It is expected the young couple will live in Washington, D. C.

Yehudi's own engagement to Miss Nola Ruby Nicholas, Australian Heiress, was announced a week ago, and only yesterday it was learned that his sister Hephzibah, pianist, would marry Lindsay George Nicholas, brother of Yehudi's fiancée.

Yehudi will be married in London sometime this month. It is understood the two sisters will be married in America.

Critic Enjoys Sensitive Art of Helga Dean

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Paintings by Helga Haugan Dean are on exhibit in the Quest galleries, 810 North Michigan avenue, to June 1. Mrs. Dean is known in Chicago for the sensitive quality of her work. She uses light, high-keyed colors and an impressionistic manner that is attractive.

A round of her pictures is almost like conversing with some one who makes a point of never finishing a sentence. She gives you the main body of her sentence and then jauntily snaps her fingers and lets the detail do what it likes. It generally likes to remain hidden, so you find yourself busily trying to trace her various compositions to a final decisive period and never succeeding.

But her painting is fun, nevertheless. It has a suggestion of the French in it and an airy inconsequence which is intriguing. The "Still Life," of pitcher, bottle, and apples, is exquisite. Her "Portrait of Faith" is lovely. The two or three landscapes are delightful in color and beautiful in design. Her "Circus," painted for a child's room, is unusual in its combination of life and still life.

The "Portrait of Mrs. James Drain" is another thoroughly delightful piece of painting and the "Reclining Nude" is well done.

All in all, it is a gay, amusing, bright show.

In the Hoosier gallery, 211 West Wacker drive, there is an interesting exhibition of paintings by three women artists. Sara Bard is by far the strongest painter of the three and her forcible, virile landscapes make an amazingly brilliant showing. Mary Wright Witmer is less of the professional artist, but her attractive talent serves her own ends and supplies us with "Cozy," a rather pretty picture of two handsome cats.

Carolyn Bradley, who is the head of the water color department of Ohio State university, is a capable artist and her various Mexican water colors are excellently handled.

Leaders of Evanston Church Seek Funds to Avoid Foreclosure

Leaders of the Northminster Presbyterian church of Evanston, fighting to save their house of worship from a mortgage foreclosure, announced at a meeting last night that they had raised $30,525.

And almost $7,000 of this sum, they disclosed, came from nonmembers living in the fashionable Lincolnwood district, in which the church is situated.

The congregation is facing eviction unless $78,000 can be raised by midnight of May 26, one week from today, according to the pastor, Dr. Robert Lee Logan. Should the eviction order be issued, the church at 2515 Central Park avenue would have to be vacated Nov. 1.

Mrs. Goodman Gives $150,000 to Art Institute

BY MARCIA WINN.

A gift of $150,000 from Mrs. Erna Sawyer Goodman, widow of William O. Goodman, lumber magnate, was announced yesterday by the Art institute.

The gift, made in the name of both Mr. and Mrs. Goodman, is without restrictions. It was given, the institute said, to make the Kenneth Sawyer Goodman Memorial theater, erected by the Goodmans in 1925 as a memorial to their only son, a complete gift.

The theater, a model playhouse added to the institute, was dedicated on Oct. 20, 1925. Subsequently Mr. and Mrs. Goodman's donation being based on the original cost, trustees of the Art institute spent $150,000 on additions to the theater and the operating plant. Yesterday's gift reimburses the institute in full.

"This is a wonderful thing," Potter Palmer, president of the institute, commented, "coming at this time."

No plans have been made for the use of the money, Daniel Catton Rich, recently appointed co-director with C. H. Burkholder, said. Whether it goes into the maintenance fund or goes for new paintings rests with the trustees.

A portrait of her husband, executed by Louis Betts, also was presented by Mrs. Goodman. Mr. Palmer, in thanking her for it, pointed out that Mr. Goodman not only was an early member of the institute but a generous benefactor at all times. At the time of his death in 1936 he was honorary vice president, but he had been a member since 1888.

Among the important gifts to the institute of Mr. and Mrs. Goodman are a collection of historic pewter, prizes for the Art Students' league of the school, various generous gifts of paintings and the $100,000 Goodman theater endowment fund set up in 1926-'27.

Kenneth Sawyer Goodman, the couple's only son, died of influenza in 1918 while serving as a naval lieutenant at the Great Lakes Training station. A young man of brilliant artistic promise, his abiding interest was the theater and playwriting.

Thus, in the beautiful little theater built in his name, a quotation from one of his masques—"To restore the old visions and to win the new" is over the lintel, while carved into the wood above the stage is another, "You yourself must set flame to the fagots which you have brought."

A witness for the bridegroom was King Boris of Bulgaria, who was represented by his first adjutant, Gen. Gantscheff. The quiet ceremony took place May 14.

Looking at Hollywood By Ed Sullivan

It's a Fake.

Hollywood, Cal., May 18.—In "Give Me a Sailor" you'll see Martha Raye open her Grand canyonesque mouth and utter a piercing scream. An extra actually screamed the scream and got paid $25 for it. . . . You've seen closeups of the legs of Joan Crawford, Virginia Bruce, and other M.-G.-M. stunners. Ten to one the legs you saw in the closeup belonged to Claire Meyers.

In "Test Pilot" you saw Spencer Tracy bid good night to Clark Gable and Myrna Loy and step down from the sidewalk to the paved street. The "paved" street was covered with cork to eliminate the noise of his footsteps. . . . In "Jezebel" you saw a closeup of the hands of Bette Davis. The hands, however, were those of Alice Connors or Sally Sage. . . . In "Her Jungle Love" you saw blood on Ray Milland's head after the plane crackup. The blood was red tissue paper. The alligator was on the level, but it is unfortunate that the alligator didn't eat the script so they couldn't have made the picture.

You heard Eleanor Powell sing "Lucky Star." At least you saw her lips move as though she were singing it. Actually Marjorie Lane sang it. . . . You've heard the late Jean Harlow sing. Actually the voice was that of Eadie Adams. . . . In Goldwyn "Follies" you heard Andrea Leeds sing. The voice was that of Virginia Verrill.

It always has been a matter of puzzlement that Marlene Dietrich never sang after introducing "Falling in Love Again." Hollywood guesses that some foreign singer's voice was dubbed in for La Dietrich in Europe. . . . Because Hollywood is accustomed to that sort of sing. . . . Francia White, Virginia Verrill, Eadie Adams, Grace Saxon are a few of the proxy warblers in this town. . . . Despite the fact that Bette Davis refused to sing the "Jezebel" song on the radio, Warner's insists that she actually did sing it in the picture. . . . My guess would be that she did not.

In the last Gladys Swarthout picture she was pelted with tomatoes. [You didn't see it because the scene was eliminated.] The tomatoes were filled with tomato ketchup so that they spattered better. . . . Caviar on the screen is buckshot. . . . Tall actresses don't wear shoes with heels, thus reducing their film height. . . . Short actors wear built-up heels to appear manlier and more commanding.

When the three stooges belt each other over the head with bric-a-brac they wear wig protectors and the bric-a-brac is phoney. . . . When Laurel and Hardy eat a cake of soap it's made of yellow cheese. . . . In "Holiday" Lew Ayres drinks continuously from a champagne bottle. The wine is cream soda.

The major companies, compelled by the laws of France, Italy, and other countries to "dub" pictures in Paris or Rome [thus creating employment], have regular stock companies in those cities. . . . Greta Garbo has a voice stand-in or double in Paris and Rome and another in South America. . . . So have the other United States stars.

This works out with amazing results, because the ghost voice more often than not is a far greater actress than the American film idol she impersonates on the sound tracks. . . . As a result, and because of the fine dramatic ability of these ghost voices, American stars often remain tremendously popular abroad after they are washed up here.

Most of the faking in films is based on economy of money and time. It would be a waste of both to have, say, Myrna Loy pose for a shot in which she is signing a hotel register, a check, a letter, or picking up a magazine. These insert shots are posed for by a stock company girl or a girl from central casting. They use the same fingernail polish as the star so that there won't be any discrepancy in coloring. It's the same thing with closeups of keys on typing machines or telegraph keys or automobile wheels.

If you see a closeup of a run in Ginger Rogers' stocking, she didn't pose for it, not because there is anything wrong with the Rogers legs or "gams," but simply because it's more efficient to have an extra pose for it.

Process shots are used, not to fool you, but to save tremendous overhead charges. For instance, in "Wells Fargo," where hundreds of extras were employed, it would have cost a fortune to have sent Joel McCrea, Frances Dee, and Bob Burns to location with them.

So what happens is this: The director sends the horde of extras to the scene which is to be filmed and they are photographed. The film is developed and projected and Joel McCrea stands in front of the screen on which the film is being shown. Another camera now photographs this and blends McCrea into the background, so that it appears he is actually in the scene. It saves money, time, wear, and tear on the stars and frees them for more important work.

In "Adventures of Robin Hood" you saw actors felled by arrows that apparently went through their chests and stuck out through their backs. The arrows are sewed on their costumes. Same with the thrusts of sabers and spears.

Hollywood even has to fake nature, and it is a common sight to see men planting additional trees and shrubs in a scene to get the proper effect of foliage. . . . Just as oil is spread over lakes to get more of a glitter. . . . Cameramen rarely find that nature in the raw is sufficient, but that nature must be caricatured and touched up so that it will screen well.

On a sunny day they use lights and reflectors on outdoor shots. The net result of all of this faking and embellishment is the most magnificent camera work that the studios of the world create, because there is no doubt that the Hollywood technicians know their stuff. When it comes to their own work they don't fake.

Through the Looking Glass

The most lasting cologne to fall into our grateful hands in a long time is delicious, de luxe, and completely captivating. This is for the woman who loves beautiful fragrances, beautifully bottled. It is cologne in the scent of a famous French perfume and it's exquisitely presented in a Lalique bottle that your fingers itch to possess.

We got pleasantly exercised about this when our bottle was tenderly delivered, practically right off the boat. But while waiting until it came to the shops, so we could tell you about it, we discovered that that open bottle was wafting its fine fragrance over the entire cabinet—and that the fragrance clung. It was something of a sensation in our headquarters.

The perfume is a subtle one, but blithe and ultrachic. One of the smartest women we know wears it consistently—she'll be glad that it is now echoed in a fine French cologne.

The more we see of good colognes the more we marvel at their thousand and one charms as a perfuming agent. There just isn't anything more to be said about the refreshing virtues of cologne. Once you've experimented on a muggy day or on a day when you have the blues you'll know all about these for yourself. But, entirely aside from this, a good cologne with a concentrated perfume [preferably one that matches the scent you use] lends itself economically to perfuming oneself successfully.

Perfume can be dabbed lavishly on wrists, on handkerchiefs, even on the hair when it is freshly shampooed. A marvelous trick, if you're a woman who adores beautiful fragrances and finds them soothing, is to spray a bit of perfumed cologne on the bed linen. You waft off to sleep on gentle, blossom laden breezes and you feel too luxurious for words. Try it some time. ELEANOR NANGLE.

Dance Dresses Are Kind That Break Hearts

BY RHEA SEEGER.

For fine unfettered eye appeal, see the newest cotton dance dresses and you'll be seeing some of the best finds of the season. All of them have amazingly low price marks.

Floral printed or dotted swiss numbers can be devastating or demure. Firm stag lines will rock on their feet at the first glance. Full skirts swirl crisply around the floor and the bodice tops are fitted, boned, and coquettish, ready to be worn with or without the shoulder straps.

See the naughty black and white dotted swiss model with three rows of white beading around the skirt, with black velvet ribbon laced through the beading, with shoe string shoulder straps if you wish. If you're daring you'll wear the gown without them, for it's boned and fitted. The same thing comes in navy with tiny white dots, and a confectionery number in candy pink with black velvet ribbon.

For more money, but not enough to wreck the allowance, are more filmy numbers of printed organdy. The big red apple print in these will take top rating any time. A cherry print comes next. A pure white embroidery dress is made of bands and bands of the wide embroidery in circular formation in billowed skirt and fitted short sleeved bodice.

Summer dance dresses are heartbreakers. The colors can be anything found in a summer flower garden in full bloom. These frocks are made with more lure to the inch than anything that has been unpacked in weeks. And every one of the beauties will take a tubbing like a pocket handkerchief. Twenty-five dollars is the peak price!

SYNOPSIS.

Elizabeth Sandal is shocked to find her two children resent their father's will that unexpectedly left a fortune to her and did not mention them. Dorothea wants to have her own London flat. Oliver hopes to marry into wealth. Elizabeth goes off to Switzerland for a change and rest, and meets Andrew Leicester, who was a groom at her wedding. Andrew, a widower, is returning after years of absence in China to meet his children. William, his son, lives with a bachelor relative. His daughter, Shirley, is with his wife's people. Shirley has become involved in a scandal with an aviator who was engaged to another girl. Her mother's family, so they have written Andrew, can do nothing with her. Andrew hopes to have it out with Shirley before becoming involved with his in-laws. Shirley believes the older generation are all against her, and treats him coolly. Andrew turns to Elizabeth for sympathy. She tries to make friends with the boy and girl.

INSTALMENT XVI.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Shirley was flourishing her lipstick before the glass.

"I suppose you loathe this?"

She had actually volunteered a remark, and Elizabeth returned hastily:

"O, no. It suits you. You surely didn't think I looked disapproving?"

"You might be too polite."

"You think me a humbug?" she suggested mildly.

The question seemed to take the young lady by surprise, for she looked around.

"Not yet," she returned with a glimmer of a smile, which might mean almost anything.

"Ah well, all politeness is humbug in a sense, I daresay," returned Elizabeth, "and it is just as much a fashion as lipstick, my dear."

Shirley was ready and they went downstairs. Elizabeth was at least able to tell Andrew later when they were alone that she and his daughter had had almost a conversation. Looking back she supposed the minx had been taking her measure and hoping she would betray herself. She thought of Dorothea, who would certainly even at nineteen have considered nobody's feelings about her makeup.

Elizabeth for the first time found herself regarding her daughter in the round, as a person with qualities which must be accepted, with ways that were not her ways, and a destiny which she could not shape, and she thought:

"I suppose she is anxious to find this flat she talks about, and it isn't quite fair to keep her waiting. I must write to her."

She wrote that night, saying: "If you should find the flat you want while I am away, darling, you may give my name as reference of your financial stability, of course, and let me know how much money you are likely to need for furniture and fixtures, and I will send you a check. When I come home I must arrange for you to have an adequate allowance."

Meanwhile more assiduous correspondents than Elizabeth were busy. From his Paris hotel Andrew had written a brief note of apology to the Mortimers about his change of plans, saying that he would be moving on but would send them more definite news in due course. He had kept his sister informed of his movements, and Jay seeing that this was likely, addressed the following note to Miss Leicester's care, marked "Please forward. Important."

"Dear Andrew:

"Mother was delighted with your kind letter, though naturally would have preferred the writer in person.

"I suppose our girlie has told you about getting up in the wee sma' hours and running through the dark to catch the workman's train. The child wanted to meet William soon after seven, and I contrived it.

"I am terribly worried about it all the same, so I had better confess my sins at once. I don't know whatever you will say to me for being so silly, but I let them give me the slip at Victoria station. They were away three whole hours and only just caught the train. As there isn't anywhere to go in London at eight in the morning, I am afraid there can be only one explanation—that man. I thought I had done everything, Andrew, to prevent any communication with him, but I quite forgot William. Now I can see why she was so set on meeting William's train; he must have been a go-between, and I was too trusting. I never guessed.

"Well, now it's off my chest and I feel better. I wouldn't have worried you all the same if I hadn't been afraid this young Voisin might fly over to France and contrive to meet her under your nose if you were not warned in time. That's the worst of aeroplanes, nasty things.

"Please don't condemn me too much for being such a fond, believing aunt and poor watchdog, will you?

"In great distress, JAY."

"Dear Andrew: [wrote Miss Leicester].

"You can deal with the children's allowances now due, I suppose, as it seems senseless to send money on a wild goose chase about the continent. I am in the habit of paying them at the end of the holidays to teach them to be reasonably careful about money. Not that I have any complaints to make. They have always contrived to spin it out by fair means or foul. Please give William £3 and his fare [clothes go down on his school bills], and Shirley £10 as she buys her own.

"I send on a letter from Sussex marked 'important,' which I doubt, and insufficiently stamped for foreign post.

"The weather continues abominable here. You had better stay out of it as you can, until we get some sun.

"Yours affect'y, L. LEICESTER."

"My dear Millie: [wrote Miss Pett].

"Your friend Miss Sandal will no doubt desire news about her dear mother from an outside source, and I am glad to say she is already looking better for the bracing air of my beloved Switzerland.

"I could see at once that she was in deep grief, though I did my best to divert her mind, but poor Mrs. Sandal kept to her room for hours together but, now, my dear, a piece of news. Last week-end a most distinguished looking man called upon her and took her out to luncheon and also to dinner. He is certainly a somebody.

"League of nations, we thought, or a member of one of the legations. Undoubtedly a relative. I think he must be staying at one of the hotels near the Kursaal, for they were seen going in there the other morning and also walking by the lake.

"And, my dear, almost every day flowers are delivered here for her. She wears some in her coat as she goes out, and yesterday she actually sent me quite a big nosegay by the chambermaid, with her compliments. I was quite overwhelmed and was running at once to thank her, when Lisette explained that Madame had gone out to buy shoes and a warm pullover. For 'le golf' Lisette thought.

"Miss Sandal will be glad to think her uncle's visit has done so much good. Do, dear, find out tactfully for me who he is. Lester or Lassiter, the name is. I heard the hall porter—a telephone call, I think, and you know how they mispronounce even the simplest English words.

"Yours with much love, PHOEBE."

The younger Miss Pett translated her sister's letter into her own idiom, making an excuse to run in and see Miss Sandal at the offices of "Homes of Tomorrow," with an idea for an article which had already been rejected.

"I hear your mother is delighted with the hotel, Miss Sandal," she said, "and my sister Phoebe has introduced her to all the best people staying there. Is it your uncle who has gone over to Montreux?"

"Uncle?" echoed Dorothea vaguely.

"Yes, Lester or some such name. My sister is quite lyrical about him, and told me to tell you he was very wisely persuading your mother to go out to lunch and dine, and cheering her generally. And he sends her the loveliest flowers. Lester, Lassiter, Lister—something like that.

"Doesn't convey anything to me, I'm afraid," said Dorothea, indifferently, "but no doubt I shall hear."

Man's Ego His Weakest Spot; Feed It Well

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

"Yes, I know he likes flattery, but why should I cater to him?" The remark is typical of many girls. Since their early teens they have been coached by big sisters, cousins, and aunts, they have read in fiction, seen in movies that man's vanity is his weakest spot.

But thinking to introduce a bit of modern novelty into their particular love interest, certain of our young ones dismiss the knowledge that ego-bolstering is an old, unfailing art when artfully applied, as a left-over from an age of which they bear no part. Girls who believe they are smart about men, though not noticeably successful with them, condole themselves with the fact that they lower themselves by reverting to the age-old technique.

The clever French star, Vera Korene, opines that you do not need the proverbial set of beauty features to be the magnet that draws the most eligible men in Europe, nor the most eligible men elsewhere, if you know the art of catering to the masculine appetite for indorsement, shall we call it.

It isn't trowelfuls of "wonderfuls" he wants thrown at him. Nevertheless, it is a direct attack on his weakest spot which should not be called vanity. It should be recognized as that thing in him which he alone has difficulty keeping wound up to the efficiency point—his ego.

Not to his vanity are you catering with the artful word, look and phrase, but to that impetus to his success, business or social, namely his ego.

A woman is not belittling herself when she goes out of her way to bolster another human being.

Let the man have all the glory of the build-up and you earn power as a woman, is Mme. Korene's last word.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

Pearce Learns Listeners Like Old Favorites

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Al Pearce is doing a welcome piece of work in bringing to his Watch the Fun Go By broadcasts radio headliners who have been out of the spotlight for the last season or two. Answering the question "Whatever happened to ——?" he has already presented as guests such favorites of a short time ago as Jane Froman, Nick Lucas, Morton Bowe, Arthur Tracy the Street Singer; Irene Beasley, Morton Downey, and Connie Boswell, and has the Mills Brothers coming up. Pearce reports that all of these have been getting a great deal of fan mail.

That's one argument for bringing back a lot of other singers who have been crowded out because of the overdosage of Hollywood supercolossal shows and the quiz programs. Perhaps Pearce [and other sponsors] might be willing to look into the reasons why such carolers as these are missing from the program lists: Jessica Dragonette, Olga Albani, Alice Joy, Virginia Rea, Dorothy Page, Corinna Mura, Winifred Cecil, Francia White, just to mention a few feminine favorites, and Conrad Thibault, Phil Duey, Wendell Hall, Tommy Thomas, among the men. Nelson Eddy and Lanny Ross, who were on during the winter, seem to have vanished so far as summer radio is concerned, and Jimmy Melton is concentrating on recorded programs.

WBBM's trailer studio will be utilized at 2:15 Saturday in a broadcast to demonstrate the effectiveness of the new two way short wave police radio system just set up by the Chicago park district. Five radio equipped squad cars will be employed to track down, blockade, and capture a hit and run driver somewhere in the park system.

worn also by her grandmother, Mrs. Owen Torrey. The Rev. Alan Chalmers of St. James the Less church, Scarsdale, officiated, and a buffet luncheon followed for the families and close friends.

Mrs. Thomas Torrey stood up for Miss Gordon, and Mrs. Richard Gott, as proxy for Mrs. Freeman, held the baby. Little Hope and her mother are coming here to visit in October.

Tumlaren Owners to Have Dinner.

The thirty-three young people who own or sail in the eleven Swedish sailboats now in Chicago waters will have dinner tonight at the Swedish club to get acquainted. Tumlaren, meaning porpoise, is the Swedish name of the craft, and Chicago 's the home port of the Tumlaren Yacht association.

The most recent of the boats to arrive in Chicago is one belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Theodore T. Robinson Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. William B. Goltra. Other new owners are Robert Adams Carr, whose crew is made up of Mr. and Mrs. George Harvey, the Joseph E. Nolans, and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Tieken.

Vincent L. Gallagher, who is president of the national association, and Gordon T. Brummell, its secretary-treasurer, have been Tumlaren owners for a longer time. All of the above boats and the Friendship, the boat belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Richter and George Dalseg, carry the colors of the Chicago Yacht club. Each boat is manned by a crew of three.

Lake Forest Garden Party Plans Revealed.

The latest news concerning the garden party the Lake Forest Garden club is giving June 11 at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Bevan, in Lake Forest, is that tickets will be on sale at the gates; light refreshments will be sold on the estate, and an exhibition of period rooms arranged by some of the club's most artistic and talented members will be on view.

In connection with the exhibit of ten or so dining rooms, whose executors have been appointed by the club, there will be a competition of period vase arrangements, open to any one.

Mrs. G. Corson Ellis, publicity director for the party, is entertaining at dinner the night of the show for Mrs. Arthur Bissell, who is visiting in Lake Forest. Other Lake Forest visitors are Mrs. Ellis' sisters, Mrs. George Gillespie and Mrs. Alexander E. Spence, and their husbands. Mrs. Spence is not being very gay at the moment, for her two children have light cases of measles.

Mrs. George McLaughlin Is Visiting Her Mother.

Mrs. George F. McLaughlin left Monday for a visit of several weeks with her mother, Mrs. Frank Letts, in Washington, D. C.

Former Roycemore schoolmates of Miss Mary Fargo Reynolds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Reynolds of Montclair, N. J., formerly of Evanston, have heard with interest that she has been elected president of the senior class at Wellesley college for next year. Miss Reynolds may visit her aunt, Miss Ruth Fargo, in Chicago this summer.

The James H. Tatmans and their daughter, Ariel, have returned from a motor trip through England and France.

Chicago Nursery Will Hold Rummage Sale.

The Chicago Nursery and Half Orphan asylum will have a rummage sale tomorrow beginning at 8 o'clock in the morning at the nursery. Mrs. Carroll Sudler Jr. is chairman of the sale.

The 48th annual meeting of the Sacred Heart Alumnae association will be held at luncheon Saturday at Barat college in Lake Forest. Mrs. Walter Smith, who is in charge of arrangements for the national association meeting to be held in Chicago next year, will speak. Mrs. W. Jerome Byrnes is president of the Chicago alumnae.

Count and Countess Giulio Bolognesi, whose elder daughter, Catherine, will be graduated in June from Barat college, will not go abroad this summer, but will leave the apartment they have been renting in town to go to their country home in Wisconsin.

The United British societies will celebrate Empire day with a luncheon at the Congress hotel on Saturday. Proceeds will go to the British Old People's and Scottish Old People's homes in Riverside.

Tea to Open Show at Three Arts Club.

There will be a tea and musical at the Three Arts club in Dearborn parkway Sunday afternoon to open the annual exhibit of work by artist members. Lora Marx, sculptor; Jean Crawford Adams, painter, and Dorothy Graham, fashion artist, will judge the show, and Mrs. Clay Judson and Mrs. John A. Holabird are among those in charge of the affair.

Invitations have been sent out for tea at the Library of International Relations next Tuesday from 5 to 6 o'clock to open an exhibit of official and unofficial publications concerning the foreign policy and trade of the United States.

Members of the Chicago branch of the American council, Institute of Pacific Relations, will be guests, for the material is largely about the Pacific area.

Dirndl Styled Beach Coat

DIRNDL BEACH COAT, JUNIOR SIZES.

The full, shirred skirt is making its appearance all over the fashion world. Evening gowns, daytime dresses, house coats, negligees all have adopted the dirndl, and now the beach coat takes on new femininity with the same styling. Going to the beach, even by motor, presents difficulties in the way of clothes. No one likes to dress and undress many times to satisfy etiquet, so the logical answer is a beach coat you can wear right over your suit. The garment illustrated today is a graceful, demure model with lapel collarline, snug waistband, puffed sleeves and voluminous skirt. It's pretty in striped or gayly patterned prints. Piqué is a grand fabric, but other sturdy cottons make up equally well.

With a square neckline and a shorter skirt, this same garment may be designed as a morning coat or house frock. It's nice for gardening and marketing, as well as for hostessing at your country house.

The "babushka" bonnet to match, a welcome headpiece when motoring, is procurable with pattern 3471. It's designed in one headsize only and is available for 10 cents extra.

Style No, 2072 is designed for sizes 11, 13, 15, 17, and 19 years. Size 15 requires 4¾ yards of 39 inch material.

TODAY'S QUILT

Mosaic Rose.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Mosaic Rose" is one of the simple pieced patterns which may be set together quickly and without difficulty. The lovely colors of the original bloom are caught in this small 10 inch square. The center of pale yellow blends smoothly into pink, rose, magenta, and finally a soft leaf green. Set together block to block and finished with a nine inch white border and a one-half inch bias binding the completed coverlet measures 88 by 108 inches. The flowers are quilted in outline and a running feather design is used for the border.

CUBS DEFEAT GIANTS, 4-2, WITH TWO RUN RALLY IN 9TH

THE GUMPS—WORRY—WORRY—WORRY!

FRENCH YIELDS ONLY 4 HITS IN SEVEN INNINGS

Hubbell Is Charged with First Loss.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 18.—The Cubs finally are privileged to lift their voices and broadcast to the world that they have whipped the Champion Giants. They did it today in a crazy, argumentative affair, which was settled in the ninth when a couple of hits off the great Carl Hubbell and an error by Mel Ott let two Chicagoans scamper over the plate. These two runs were the last contribution to a 4 to 2 battle which Manager Charley Grimm had intended to protest if beaten. He had a wordy war with Umpire George Magerkurth.

If you want any heroes for the day's success you may take your pick. There were many men playing the rôle. Larry French southpawed seven innings on four hits but was a beaten man when he departed. Stanley Hack and Augie Galan, the latter the innocent cause of the row with Magerkurth, were responsible for the tying run in the eighth. Hits by old Gabby Hartnett and Bill Jurges got the winning tallies in the ninth. The 39 year old Charles Root earned himself a decision by pitching two perfect innings.

Gabby Starts It.

Hartnett started the winning splurge, when, with one out in the ninth, he banged a 450 foot double to center field. Hank Leiber made such a gallant effort chasing the drive that he pulled a charley horse and had to retire. Carl Reynolds, who had a single and two terrific although futile drives to his credit, was passed by the cautious Hubbell. Rip Collins hit an easy roller toward third and Ott was kind enough to let it trickle through his hands. It wasn't recovered until after Hartnett had scored to break the tie. Then Jurges singled to center and Reynolds scored the final run.

The Cubs nicked Hubbell for a run in the first inning and this slim lead held up until the fourth, when Ott hit his sixth homer and his third off French. It was only the third hit surrendered by the Chicago left hander. He yielded only one more. This, too, was a drive into the seats, Joe Moore being the author, but the champions didn't have much time in which to enjoy the resulting 2 to 1 lead. The bats of Hack and Galan dragged Hubbell back into a tie in the eighth, and in the ninth they dressed him up in his first defeat of the season.

Demaree Celebrates Return.

Hubbell opened the first inning by fanning Hack but this setback wasn't enough to discourage the Cubs from breaking forth with a run. Herman spanked a line drive single past Chiozza, who touched the ball but couldn't hang on. Galan was dispatched on a slow, twisting roller to McCarthy. Demaree marked his return to action with a single off the wall in left, Herman scoring. Hartnett popped to Bartell. The Giants also produced two hits in the first inning, Bartell and Ripple singling with one out. French then fanned Ott and tossed out Leiber.

The Cubs tried to annoy Hubbell in the second and again in the third but he refused to weaken. Reynolds led off in the second with a single to center and remained at first. Collins lifted to Ripple, Jurges went out on strikes and French tapped to Bartell. The third started impressively with a hard liner by Hack but Leiber made the catch. After Herman had

HOLD 3D LESSON IN TRIBUNE GOLF SCHOOL TONIGHT

Instruction Is Open to All Golfers.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The third class in the sixth annual free golf school conducted by THE TRIBUNE will be held tonight on the four courses of the Chicago park district—Jackson on the south side, Diversey in Lincoln on the north, Columbus on the west, and Marquette on the southwest.

This third set of instructions was scheduled to be given Tuesday night, but was postponed because of rain. The fourth and final lesson, originally set for tonight, will be held at the same courses tomorrow. All classes will be held at 7 o'clock. Every student is asked to appear about 15 minutes earlier.

You're Still Eligible.

Members of the Illinois section of the Professional Golfers' association will handle the lecturing chore at the four courses. Tom Walsh of Westgate Valley will be at Marquette, Jock Anderson of Techny Fields at Diversey, Lew Waldron of Mohawk at Columbus, and Harry Adams of Medinah at Jackson park.

If you missed the first two lessons last week, when a total of 37,000 lessons were given, you are still eligible to take part in the final week of the school. The only requirements are a golf club and promptness in reaching the course most convenient to your home. The grip and stance, subjects of the first two lessons, will be summarized tonight and Thursday.

Award Prizes Sunday.

The graduating exercises of the school will be held Sunday afternoon at the Diversey course. In this, the thirty-two prize students adjudged the best on the basis of form will be viewed by a jury of leading professionals. The four winners will be presented with a golf bag, a set of clubs, and a season ticket to the Chicago open championship, to be played at Olympia Fields on July 22, 23, and 24. Each of the other twenty-eight finalists will be given a dozen P. G. A. balls and a ticket for the final thirty-six holes of the Chicago open.

Exchange tickets to the Chicago open, giving a 25 cent reduction on daily admissions, will be distributed free of charge at all four courses tonight and tomorrow night.

DEAN TESTS HIS EXPENSIVE ARM; IT STILL SWINGS

New York, May 18.—[Special.]—Dizzy Dean tried his arm for the first time in two weeks today and said after a short workout before the Giants-Cubs' game in the Polo Grounds that it felt fine.

Dean pitched to Catcher Ken O'Dea from about thirty feet away. He didn't try to put anything on the ball, but merely lobbed it over, under orders from Manager Charley Grimm.

"Dizzy's arm was nice and loose," Grimm said. "I have every reason to believe he'll come back successfully."

Grimm said he planned to try out Dean in batting practice in about a week.

POLISH FIGHTER CONFIDENT AFTER ONE KNOCKDOWN

'Knew I'd Beat O'Malley,' Says Kolczynski.

"I knew I would score a knockout after the first knockdown," Antoni Kolczynski, Polish member of the European team, told an interpreter after his victory over Jimmy O'Malley in last night's international bouts in the Stadium.

O'Malley, Golden Gloves and National A. A. U. welterweight champion, was a technical knockout victim in the first round. Jimmy, who had built up one of the greatest reputations in amateur boxing, was floored five times before the match was stopped.

Czech Is Happy, Too.

John T. Czech, sports editor for the Polish Daily Union of Chicago, was one of the first to congratulate the 20 year old Warsaw motor mechanic on his achievement. They kissed each other on the cheek.

"Knockout?" Herbert Runge, heavyweight delegate from Germany, queried.

"Yes, Kolczynski won in one round," he was told.

"Ah, good," Runge replied as he reached for his teammate's hand.

"I thought Jeem was counted out when he was knocked down second time," Antoni said. "However, everything turned out all right."

Kolczynski had predicted he would win by a knockout.

He Was Inspired.

"When the Polish banner was shown and the Polish national anthem was played I was inspired," he said. "I knew all about Jeem's reputation, but what of it? Didn't I score thirty-seven knockouts in sixty-five previous matches? I also won from champions of Norway, Germany, Italy, Hungary, Denmark, Finland, and Ireland."

After his victory over Kenny Lottman, Miholy Bondi sat in the press row alongside telegraphers. He explained his interest in the fact that he's an operator in his home town of Budapest.

Z. Megyery reported the show for Nenzeti, sport newspaper in Budapest.

Dr. Franco Fontana, Italian consul general, was on hand to cheer for his color bearers, while Dr. E. L. Baer, German consul, rooted for Germany's champions. Other consuls in attendance were Dr. Elmer A. Forsberg, Finland; L. L. Medgyessy, Hungary, and Waclaw Gawroski, Poland. Daniel McGrath, Irish consul, was at home, sick, his place being taken by Terry Bannon, sports editor of the Irish-American.

Morton Downey, radio singer, was a late arrival.

Mrs. Joe Louis, wife of the heavyweight champion, and a friend had prominent places.

Promptly after the weighing-in ceremonies were concluded the fighters were served cups of beef tea. They then left for their quarters to await dinner, the Europeans on the eighth floor in the Medinah club and the Americans in the Illinois Athletic club.

During the afternoon Johnny Saunders, Ireland's featherweight representative, received a letter from his mother in Dublin. It made him more anxious than ever to score a victory.

During the Medinah club festivities Count Gerardo Leonardi of Milan presented Coach Johnny Behr of the Chicagoland team with a medal as a momento of the occasion.

Among the foreign correspondents at the Stadium ringside were Jan Erdman of the Warsaw Przeglad Sport Owy, whose coverage included sixteen newspapers in Poland; Oscar Soderlund, president of the Interna-

Chicago's Golden Glovers rule the world.

Last night in the Stadium, before a crowd of 22,234, which filled every seat and stood in the ailes, Chicagoland turned back Europe's greatest amateur boxing team. The score was 5 to 3, a victory completed when Linto Guerrieri of Rock Falls, Ill., Chicago's light heavyweight champion, won the decision from Richard Vogt of Hamburg.

That Herbert Runge, Germany's Olympic champion, who was knocked out in the Stadium a year ago, won the final match, thus saving Europe from an overwhelming licking, was in accord with the pattern of all that had preceded.

Surprise After Surprise.

Surprise after surprise was unfolded. Favorites who none thought could lose were whipped.

Ulderico Sergo, Italy's Olympic champion, hero of more than a hundred victories, who last year defeated Frankie Kainrath, Chicago's captain, in the Stadium ring, was beaten by Kainrath, who won because he would not give up.

Jimmy O'Malley, Golden Gloves and National A. A. U. champion, encountered a determined lad from Poland who carried heavier armament. Jimmy ran smack into a right hand and he never recovered from that first punch. Down five times in round 1, he lost when the referee stopped the fight and helped the befuddled Irish boy, Chicago's favorite, to his corner.

Bill Eddy, sharpshooting left hand puncher from Flint, Mich., another national champion, went down to defeat before Johnny Saunders of Dublin, Ireland. That, perhaps, was the greatest surprise in a series of surprises, for the European coaches had been so doubtful of Saunders' ability that they had contemplated moving Miholy Bondi of Hungary into the position.

But Saunders, by his courage and condition, kept moving in on Eddy and that brought him an international championship.

Some Fans Disagree.

Hundreds disagreed with this decision and they expressed that disagreement in the good old American fashion, a long Bronx cheer. Other matches also met with disapproval, but at no time was there the booming roar of poor sportsmen.

Booker Beckwith's victory in the middleweight division wasn't completely popular, but those who failed to approve may have forgotten a first round in which Beckwith had Adolf Baumgarten of Germany on the floor twice for counts of 2 seconds.

Richard Vogt, a far more awkward fighter than one would have suspected from reports of his long record of knockouts, aroused the crowd as he struggled back and forth with Guerrieri. The Chicago boy was a popular winner and his style of fighting was as confusing to Vogt as it had been to his opponents in the Tournament of Champions and in New York last March, when his vic-

TURNER AND BEES BEAT PIRATES IN 14 INNINGS, 2 TO 1

Fourth Straight Triumph for Boston.

Boston, Mass., May 18.—(AP)—After his second pitched ball went for a home run, Jim Turner braved the cold today and gained a fourteen inning, 2 to 1, victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates to give the Boston Bees their fourth successive victory.

The longest game played in the majors this season came to an end with one out and the bases loaded in the fourteenth. Catcher Ray Mueller drove a fly to right field and, after Paul Waner made the catch, Gene Moore sprinted down the third base line. He slid into the plate just as Al Todd caught Waner's throw and the force of the collision caused the catcher to drop the ball. Todd was not charged with an error, however.

Two All-Star Teams Up to 16 Managers

Cincinnati, O., May 18.—(AP)—Kenesaw M. Landis grumbled a bit about the weather today and announced that each American and National league manager would have a voice in naming his league's team for the All-Star game here July 6.

The decision to give each manager a ballot followed criticism last year when the rosters were chosen by Bill Terry of the National league Giants and Joe McCarthy of the Yankees. Terry and McCarthy, through having piloted their teams to pennants again last year, again lead the teams.

No Limit on Pitchers.

Another decision reached today was removal of the limit on the number of pitchers for each team. No hurler, it was decided, may work more than three innings unless the game goes into extra innings.

Landis conferred with Ford Frick, president of the National league; Will Harridge, head of the American league, and Warren C. Giles, general manager of the Cincinnati Reds.

Open Sale Monday.

National league players will constitute the home team and reservations for tickets will be accepted beginning Monday.

Regular prices—ranging from $2.00 for box seats to 60 cents for bleacher—will prevail and the game will start at 1:30 p. m. Chicago time. If postponed, it will be played the following day at 11:30 a. m. to permit resumption of regular league schedules July 8.

Yankees Win; Di Maggio Hits 2 Home Runs

St. Louis, Mo., May 18.—(AP)—The Yankees unleashed a fourteen hit attack, including home runs Nos. 5 and 6 by Joe Di Maggio, today and beat the Browns, 11 to 7, in the opening game of their western invasion. Neither starting pitcher went the route, Lefty Gomez retiring in the fifth after he had smashed an astonishing double with the bases loaded, and Buck Newsom leaving in the eighth when the Yankees clinched victory with a four run splurge.

SENATORS BEAT TIGERS.

Detroit, Mich., May 18.—(AP)—Allowing only six hits, Wesley Ferrell pitched the Washington Senators to a 5 to 1 victory over the Detroit Tigers today. Ferrell aided his own cause with a home run with the bases empty in the fifth. He was deprived of a shutout when Chester Laabs hit a home run for Detroit in the seventh.

Cletus Poffenberger started for Detroit, but was taken out in the fifth after yielding eight hits. Harry Eisenstat, young southpaw, held the Senators in check the rest of the way.

FELLER STOPS ATHLETICS.

Cleveland, O., May 18.—(AP)—Bob Feller scattered six hits among the Philadelphia Athletics today, had only one bad inning and won his fifth game of the season, 7 to 2. The victory pulled Cleveland to within 13 percentage points of the idle first place Boston Red Sox and even with Boston in the games won and lost column.

Feller, beaten only once this year, yielded eight walks and hit one batter, but he struck out five men and was effective when runners were on base.

Lee Will Oppose Giants Today; Hopes to Finish

New York, May 18.—Bill Lee, who hasn't completed any of his starts this year, will make the seventh attempt tomorrow when the Cubs close their current visit in the Polo Grounds. The Cubs will have to hit against Harry Gumbert, who usually is mighty tough for them.

After giving his lineup a thorough shaking up Tuesday night, Manager Charley Grimm made another change just before game time today. He removed Joe Marty from center, giving the place to Carl Reynolds, who has a reputation as a good spring hitter.

Larry French must have been a little peeved after Bartell and Moore had clipped him for singles in the first inning. He served warning on Ott with a pitch which looked suspiciously like a duster. Mel dove into the dust for protection and then finished his time at bat by fanning.

One fellow from whom Umpire Magerkurth didn't win an argument today was Doc Andrew Lotshaw, the Cub trainer. When the sixth inning disturbance started, Andy raised a window in the clubhouse in center field. Magerkurth waved his arm, indicating that he wanted the window pulled down. Andy merely waved a towel back at his countryman. Andy was sitting in the open window when the last putout was recorded.

Harper Beats Morgan Park; Bowen Wins

Harper won its eighth victory in eleven games in the south section of Chicago Public High School league baseball competition by defeating Morgan Park, 9 to 2, yesterday. The victory moved Harper closer to the sectional title. Morgan Park's only runs were scored when Russ Kearns hit a homer with a teammate on base in the sixth inning.

Bowen beat Parker, 8 to 5, in eight innings on Gadus' home run with two on in the extra inning. Gadus also hit a homer in the fifth. Parker scored a run in its half of the eighth inning and Bowen had evened the count when Gadus connected for his round trip smash.

Tilden defeated Phillips, 4 to 1, to remain a half game behind Lindblom in the race for the central section title.

Nine games were postponed because of wet grounds. Scores:

Cubs Get Two in Ninth; Beat Giants, 4 to 2

been tossed out by Ott, Galan singled to center and stole second. Demaree followed with a fly to Ripple.

After putting on the brakes by fanning Ott in the first inning French had a pleasant time until Mel came back for his second try. Larry permitted only three Giants to face him in the second. He breezed through the third in the same dazzling fashion. His effectiveness continued against Ripple, who led off in the fourth. This was where Ott came in with his No. 6 homer, which dropped into the right field upper deck to tie the score. French then fanned both Leiber and McCarthy. French also turned out a perfect fifth inning.

Grimm Protests Game.

The comic opera act in the Cub sixth began as soon as Herman had pasted a single past Bartell. Galan bunted and the ball rolled about ten feet along the first base line. Danning charged out to recover the ball. Galan's only thought was to get to base in the shortest possible time. Chiozza, who was covering the bag on the play, dropped the throw and Galan should have been safe, but Umpire Magerkurth, who was behind the plate, immediately began making gestures indicating he had detected something unorthodox.

The Cubs almost ran out of their shoes in their haste to get to Magerkurth and learn the cause of his wigwagging. The umpire claimed Galan had interfered with the fielder, whereas the onlookers thought that if there had been any interference it was by Danning giving Augie the shoulder. The Cubs, with Manager Grimm and Galan carrying the offensive, howled themselves hoarse, but it was wasted effort. Magerkurth abided by his first thought. He has had two decisions reversed in the last few days, so he wouldn't consult his fellow operatives. It was then that Grimm announced he would continue under protest.

Moore Earns a Cheer.

Having lost the argument the Cubs decided they were entitled to a little harmless fun. Just as play was about to be resumed there came an aerial display from the Cub dugout. Masks, chest protectors, sweaters, coats, baseballs, bats, Turkish towels, and even a box of paper drinking cups, which scattered like snowflakes, sailed into space. Umpire Moran finally called Magerkurth's attention to what was going on behind his back, so the latter strutted over to the bench and had a nice quiet talk with the boys. They consented to quiet down and the game went on.

The crowd, which supported the Cubs throughout the mêlee with Magerkurth, quit booing the umpires and turned to cheering the Giants as soon as the champions came to bat in the sixth. The cheers were occasioned by Moore's homer, which he drilled into the right field stands, giving the Giants a 2 to 1 lead, but only for a few minutes.

The Cub eighth opened with Lazzeri batting for French. All Tony could produce was a high fly which Danning caught in front of the plate. Hack then launched what developed into the tying run. He singled to center and scooted down to second on Herman's roller to McCarthy. Galan boomed a single into left, scoring Hack. Galan endeavored to steal second, but Danning's throw cut him down.

Root's rescue act was perfect. He set down Danning, Hubbell, and Moore in the eighth. In the ninth the 39 year old youngster struck out both Bartell and Ripple and got the final out on Ott's fly to Galan.

WINDY CITY LEAGUE PLAYS.

The Windy City Softball league will resume its schedule tonight at Mills stadium, 4700 Lake street, with two games scheduled.

IT'S HABIT NOW; SOX POSTPONE ANOTHER GAME

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The White Sox-Red Sox game was called off yesterday on account of suspicion, precedent, habit, caution, and general slyness. The reason given was damp grounds. It was the first of nine 1938 postponements affecting the White Sox which had a touch of genus phonus bolognus.

Showers Are Forecast.

Not that we are scolding. The invisible mist or eye-dropper downpour dodge long has been in vogue among harassed teams confronted with hot opponents. The Sox have ducked less frequently perhaps than any other club in the league.

If the White Sox had played yesterday, it would have been their first game since last Friday, their second since a week ago Tuesday. And they might have been further crippled, this time by sunstroke or heat exhaustion.

Whitehead to Pitch.

Despite the letup yesterday, the weather man holds out slight hope for today, the last chance Chicago fans will have to view the Red Sox this swing. Showers are forecast for today and, if Vice President Harry Grabiner or Manager Jimmy Dykes happens to be looking out of the window when one of said showers comes down, along will come postponement No. 10 if those gents are as foxy as we've always considered them.

The Yankees are coming to town tomorrow, to be here for two days. Johnny Whitehead remained on deck as the White Sox's when and if pitcher and Jack Wilson held a similar rating with the Red Sox.

Big Ten Tennis Teams to Open Tourney Today

First round matches in the Big Ten tennis tournament will start on the Northwestern university courts at 10 o'clock today. Play will continue daily through Saturday. Finals in both the singles and doubles are scheduled for Saturday afternoon.

All conference schools except Indiana have entered teams. The tournament will consist of six divisions in the singles and three divisions in the doubles. The winner of the No. 1 singles division will be the individual champion.

Chicago, the defending champion, is a favorite to win its second successive team title. The Maroons have won all of their dual matches this spring, including two from Northwestern.

Keen Fight in Singles Play.

The competition for the individual title is expected to develop into a fight between John Shostrom of Chicago and Marvin Wachman of Northwestern, who between them have defeated all other rivals in dual meets this year. Shostrom also holds two close victories over Wachman.

Chicago's twin doubles combination of Chester and William Murphy is expected to encounter little difficulty in successfully defending the title won last year. They have won all matches with ease this spring. The Maroon team is completed by Arthur Jorgenson, a sophomore; Arthur Krietenstein, a junior, and Charles Shostrom, brother of John, a sophomore.

Iowa Has Contenders.

Iowa has strong contenders in Capt. Charles Fleming and Robert Sandler, one armed sophomore. Sandler won all of his matches this year except one to Chester Murphy. Capt. Neil Levenson heads Michigan's contingent, which also includes Don Percial, John Kidwell, Steve Woolsey, Henry Cohen, and Ed Morris.

Minnesota will rely on Earl Petrich, a junior, in the No. 1 singles. Other Gopher entries are William Rhodes, Stan Brain, Charles Huntley, Phil Levy, and Tom Moore. Capt. William E. McCoy will hold down the No. 1 position on the Illinois team. McCoy, a Chicagoan, won four out of six matches this spring. William D. Rich, another Chicagoan on the Illini team, will play No. 2.

Du Sable Swim Teams Beat Roosevelt of Gary

The Du Sable High school junior and senior swimming teams won their fourteenth consecutive dual meets yesterday in the Du Sable pool, defeating Roosevelt High of Gary, Ind. The junior team triumphed, 50 to 14, and the seniors won, 55 to 12.

22,234 WATCH CHICAGO BOXERS WHIP EUROPE

Win Golden Gloves Bouts, 5 to 3.

tory there clinched the intercity title for Chicago, 9 to 7. Thus, twice Guerrieri has brought team titles to his team and by his record now must be rated as the greatest light heavyweight in the world.

Europeans Win Preliminaries.

There was one consolation for the Europeans. The boys from across the Atlantic won both of the International preliminary matches. Guido Nardecchia of Italy defeated Johnny Noto and Miholy Bondi of Hungary won from Kenny Lottman. But these bouts, by agreement of officials, were not scored in the fight for international supremacy.

The battle between Runge and Merritt failed to equal last year's climatic finish when Chicago came from behind to tie the Europeans, 4 to 4.

But in Kainrath's great conquest of Sergo and Kolczynski's knockout of O'Malley there were more thrills than in all of last year's bouts.

Colorful ceremonies preceded the struggle for supremacy. Promptly at 9:45 o'clock the lights in the Stadium were turned out. Giant spotlights caught a column of boxers, who marched down the northwest aile. Across these boys were the letters "Europe," and as they climbed through the ropes the crowd sent up a roar of welcome.

Ah, the Champions!

This sound was dwarfed almost immediately when from the opposite side of the vast amphitheater there came the column of Golden Glovers, each clad in a robe of the national colors.

Briefly Oscar Soderlund, president of the International federation, spoke words of appreciation to the thousands who had made possible this seventh international match. Arch Ward, sports editor of THE TRIBUNE, replied.

Then once more the Stadium was darkened and one by one the flags of the competing nations—Finland, Poland, Hungary, Ireland, Italy, Germany, and the United States—were unfurled. As the Stars and Stripes were raised aloft to the call to the colors the thousands stood at attention.

Then, as only Chicagoans can sing it, all united in the words of the national anthem. The stage was ready and the opening actors strode forward to determine the first of the eight international titles.

Off in Front.

Cavalieri gave the throng its first thrill when he rallied in the third round of the flyweight bout to defeat Lehtinen. Cavalieri held his own with the long armed Finn in the first round. He may have been a bit behind in the second round, but then he turned on the power.

His counter punches and his effective left hooks to the head staggered Lehtinen and the decision met with unanimous approval. Thus Chicago began its international battle far more auspiciously than when it lost four consecutive fights in New York before winning the intercity title, 9 to 7.

When Frankie Kainrath whipped Ulderico Sergo of Fiume, Italy, and ended the Italian's long domination of international boxing, the throng sent up a tremendous cheer. Kainrath fought carefully with a left hook which Sergo never was entirely able to stop.

Sergo's rushing tactics also helped Kainrath, but the Austrian lad, who came to this country eight years ago, reached his peak last night. Kainrath lost to Sergo last year. He was defeated in the Intercity matches in New York last March. But now he ranks with the greatest bantamweights in the world.

Kainrath Reaches Peak.

Sergo, who won the Olympic championship by whipping Jackie Wilson in the finals at Berlin and who defeated Johnny Brown in the International bouts with Italy here in 1935, met his master. And the tremendous applause of the thousands, who had come to watch this battle above all others on the card, was justified acclaim for Kainrath.

The decision which gave Saunders the first European victory at the expense of Eddy was roundly booed. The Irish royally supported Saunders and so did two of three judges, but about the only criticism of the match was that each failed to reach expectations.

Eddy Staggers Invader.

Eddy twice staggered the Irish lad, but he also permitted him to take the play away by rushing, although he seldom delivered an effective punch when in close.

The officials studied the cards at the end of the bout. After Roy Davis, National A. A. U. boxing chairman, had seen them he passed the cards to Arthur Kankovszky and Oscar Soderlund. The crowd hooted, but there could be no chance for a mistake.

Bess kept clear the record that no International fighter wins twice in succession. Nurnberg, who defeated Ed Kozole last year, lost a close decision last night. He won the plaudits by his game rally in the third round, but his blind rushing could not offset Bess' more effective punches. There was a distinct note of disapproval in the cheering.

Beckwith Guarantees Tie.

Chicago was assured of a tie when Beckwith defeated the German middleweight, Baumgarten. Adolf finished much the stronger, but it should be added that Beckwith tired himself out in round 1 when he chased the German from one side to the other. Twice he knocked Baumgarten down for two-second counts with solid rights to the jaw.

The second round was slow, with Beckwith apparently coasting, but in the last round it became apparent that Booker wasn't coasting, he was exhausted. Even so, Baumgarten didn't have the punch to do more than slap Beckwith around in close. One knockdown for the German might have turned the tide.

SMILIN' JACK—MY OL' GAL—MY OL' PAL

Detail of Chicago's Victory Over Europe

BY FRENCH LANE.

The details of last night's bouts in the Stadium between the amateur boxing champions of Europe and Chicago follow:

112 POUNDS

Walter Cavalieri, Chicago, beat Olli Lehtinen, Finland [3].

After fighting cautiously for half a minute, Lehtinen rocked Cavalieri with a hard right to the head. Cavalieri bounded back and scored with rights and lefts to the chin. He narrowly missed with a terrific uppercut. Lehtinen's right from long range bounded off Cavalieri's elbow. Both landed light rights and lefts to the chin. As the round ended Cavalieri shook his European opponent with a hard right to the chin.

Cavalieri was shooting his hard right in the second round, but he missed with it three times. Lehtinen scored with rights and lefts to the chin, but the blows had little power. Cavalieri missed with a hard right and slipped and fell, but he was up in an instant. He jarred the Finnish lad with a right to the jaw as the round ended.

Frank Kainrath, Chicago, beat Ulderico Sergo, Italy [3].

Kainrath was first to land a punch. It was a left to Sergo's ear. Sergo made Kainrath miss with a half dozen punches. The Italian drove a hard left to Kainrath's ribs. Kainrath sent a terrific right to the side of Sergo's head and the Italian boy's knees buckled. Sergo slammed Kainrath with a right to the head and followed with a left. These two blows slowed up the Chicagoan for an instant.

Sergo took the lead as the second round opened, scoring with a right to the chin. In a scramble in the center of the ring Sergo did the more damage with a left to the chin. He scored with it twice again. Sergo then landed rights and lefts.

Sergo carried the fight to Kainrath all through the early part of the last round. Then he became careless. While his guard was down Kainrath sneaked over a right to the chin that dazed the Italian. Sergo was hurt, but he carried the battle right back to Kainrath. It was a slugging match from this point until the finish.

126 POUNDS

John Saunders of Ireland beat Bill Eddy of Flint, Mich. [3].

Saunders carried the fight early in the second round. He took a left on the jaw, but came right back to pepper Eddy with rights and lefts. Eddy centered his attack on Saunders' stomach. He landed frequently with his left, but caused little damage.

Milton Bess, Indianapolis, beat Herbert Nurnberg, Germany [3].

Nurnberg, with the longer reach, tapped Bess on the chin a half dozen times with his left before Bess sent over a hard right to the German's chin. It did no damage. Nurnberg was back in an instant, frequently finding Bess' chin with his left. Bess missed with three hard rights.

Bess became the aggressor early in the second round. He backed Nurnberg into the ropes and slashed him with a right and a left to the chin. He followed with a straight right to the chin which shook the German. Nurnberg recovered rapidly. He rocked Bess with a right to the chin, then scored with more lefts.

Bess came out for the start of the third round smiling. Then he hit the German on the ear with a right. Nurnberg started slugging, but Bess let most of the blows fly over his head. Nurnberg connected with a sizzling right to the chin that staggered Bess. Bess had not fully recovered when the fight ended, although he did manage to stay on his feet.

Antoni Kolczynski of Poland stopped Jimmy O'Malley, Chicago [1].

The Polish boy tapped O'Malley with rights and lefts to the chin as the fight started. Kolczynski unleashed a terrific attack with both rights and lefts. A smash with his right to O'Malley's chin knocked O'Malley down. He was up before a count started. A left to O'Malley's chin knocked the Chicago boy flat on his back again. He was up again before the timekeeper could start counting.

Kolczynski drove another right to O'Malley's chin. The Chicago boy was dazed by this time. He went down for a count of seven. No sooner was O'Malley up than another terrific left landed on his chin. He crawled to his feet at the count of nine this time. Once more a right landed on O'Malley's chin. He never came up. Towels were tossed into the ring and the Polish boy was credited with a technical knockout.

160 POUNDS

Booker Beckwith, Gary, Ind., beat Adolf Baumgarten, Germany [3].

Beckwith landed with a right to the chin thirty seconds after the bout started. The German went down, but was up at the count of two. Beckwith hit Baumgarten on the chin again with his short right. The German went down for another count of two. He stayed out of danger for the remainder of the round.

Baumgarten was in trouble again early in the second round. Beckwith landed with his long right. It shook the German, who endeavored to sneak through some rights to Beckwith's stomach. All of them were blocked.

Linto Guerrieri, Rock Falls, Ill., beat Richard Vogt, Germany [3].

Guerrieri hit Vogt in the nose with a straight right as the bout started. Blood started flowing from the German boy's nose. He clipped Guerrieri with a left to the chin. The fight was delayed two minutes when the bulb in one of the floodlights directly over the ring burst. Guerrieri's rights and lefts had the German boy's head bobbing late in the round.

A slow second round followed.

HEAVYWEIGHT

Herbert Runge, Germany, beat Dan Merritt, Cleveland [3].

Merritt rallied and sent Runge back on his heels with a right to the jaw early in the second round. Runge then landed three rights on Merritt's chin.

Runge made Merritt miss through the early part of the last round. The German broke through and landed two stiff uppercuts to Merritt's chin. Merritt went back on his heels. They fought away with all they had through the final seconds, with Runge landing the more damaging blows.

Dinners consisted of filet mignon, medium rare, head lettuce without dressing, whole wheat toast, spinach, black tea with lemon, and prunes.

Mrs. Kenny Lottman came to watch her husband fight Miholy Bondi in one of the two contests which did not count in the international scoring.

Coach Bob Ciocca handled all ten of the European qualifiers, with assistance from Sam Buxbaum, Chicago second. Buxbaum also aided Ciocca when last year's foreign team held Chicago to a draw, 4 to 4. Felix Stamm of Poznan, Poland, who handled the Polish titleholders against the 1934 Golden Gloves champions, was a second when the Polish members of the European delegation competed last night.

Discus Record Is Threatened by Moline Star

Champaign, Ill., May 18.—(AP)—One record seems destined to fall and others will be threatened when approximately 500 athletes compete Friday and Saturday at the University of Illinois in the 44th annual state high school track and field meet.

Herndon Wright, East Moline star, faces the opportunity of wiping out the discus record of 139 feet 8 inches, set by Faymonville of Winnetka in 1934. Wright qualified last week for the state meet by tossing the plate 141 feet 3½ inches. The 195 pound youngster, who stands well over the 6 foot mark, may establish a mark which will stand for years to come.

Returning to action with Wright as one of three individual champions will be Floss Anders, colored youth of Moline High. Anders ran the 220 yard dash in :22.3 seconds over a slow track in bettering the district meet record.

RACE FAN FINDS A LUCKY NUMBER AND CASHES IN

No. 6 Horses Pay Long Odds at Aurora.

BY FRENCH LANE.

A fellow who hasn't had more than $7 in his pocket since Hickory Jim was a 2 year old had a basketful of it after yesterday's Aurora program ended.

"Been playing the No. 6 horses," he explained as he bought a handful of three for a half cigars.

The statistics show that the No. 6 horses have captured one race out of every five that have been run since the season opened. The Aurora meeting is no infant. There had been 107 races run there when the gates were blocked last night.

No. 6 Pays Long Odds.

And most of the number sixers have paid off at big, fat, juicy odds. No other post position has produced so many winners. It has twisted turf tradition, because the No. 3 position usually provides the most winners.

Three No. 6 horses galloped home yesterday. Not one was a favorite. They were Miss Europe, Domanio, and Sir Kai. They helped provide the greatest overthrow of favorites that has taken place this year at Aurora. Only one public choice was able to get home.

Miss Europe Wins.

Miss Europe, 4 years old and never a winner, was the one to graduate in the second race, a maiden event. Miss Europe was making her first appearance of the year and some support showed in the mutuels for the filly. After she led home The Tribesman, a Milky Way farm castoff, and Supreme Flag, she paid $17 and started off a long priced double.

Leana G., by a narrow victory over Sun Image and Ormont Girl, completed the double, which was worth $345.80.

Miss Europe, racing on top from start to finish, was the seventh winner in four days for Jocky James G. Wilson. She scored by three lengths, running six furlongs through the mud in 1:17.

Leana G. had a harder time of it, getting up by half a length after being well placed all the way. Andy Loturco was the winning rider. Leana G. paid $32.20.

Domanio Steps Out.

Frank Seremba's Domanio showed such a liking for the going in the juvenile event that he sprinted into a big lead soon after the start. Domanio needed all his lead, for both Tell and Master Morgan came with a rush in the stretch and all but caught the pace setter. Domanio was still in front by a length at the wire. He raced the four and one-half furlongs in :57 3-5 and paid $9.20. T. P. Martin was astride the black colt.

If It's Trout You Seek, Try Emmons Creek

BY BOB BECKER.

Mr. Trout Fisherman, if you have only a little time for a quick trip to some Wisconsin streams, here is a tip on where to go with your fly rod, the fly box, and your waders. The place is the Waupaca section. The town of Waupaca is about 150 miles north of Milwaukee.

If you stop in town, ask somebody about the Crystal, Radley, Emmons, Dopp, and Pine . . . all are pretty good bets for German browns and rainbows. Here are explicit directions on finding the fishing places:

Turn west off Waupaca's main street, follow Highway 22 five miles to the village of Rural, a block of houses and one store. You will cross the Crystal at that point. You will find side roads leading up and down the river, and can choose any of them.

There's Another Route.

A surer bet for big German browns is to leave Highway 22 at Rural, then go west one mile until you cross the Emmons creek, as near a sure fire creek for the novice as any stream in Wisconsin. You can fish near the bridge or turn to your left half a mile, left again for half a mile and reach a cross road where the Emmons goes under two bridges. Half an acre of public picnic ground is provided at this point and the fishing is good up or down stream. [This is the favorite fishing spot of Oscar Weber, one of Wisconsin's best known fly fishing authorities.]

To reach other nerby streams, go back to Highway 22 [not by retracting your route, but by going straight east one mile from the picnic grounds] and follow 22 south towards Wild Rose. From Rural to Wild Rose the highway goes over the Shoemaker creek, Radley creek and Dopp creek—all small easy-to-fish streams where you can fish from the highway. Best bet of these is the Radley.

There Are Places Aplenty.

At Wild Rose, 20 miles south of Waupaca, you can turn left on Highway K and you will hit two or three fishable trout streams before the road takes you right back to Waupaca. Our advice, however, for the chap who plans a one day trip is to stick to the Emmons or the Radley. Side roads will take you up or downstream along these creeks, in case the stream seems too popular near the highway.

The latest word from the fishing country up north is that heavy rains have boosted the water levels of both streams and lakes. [The Marinette county streams have been 'way up.] Any fisherman planning a trip around Waupaca might find it worthwhile to call the chamber of commerce in that town and inquire about stream conditions before going.

Time, :23 4-5, :49 3-5, 1:17. Two dollar mutuels paid: Miss Europe, $17.00 straight, $9.20 place, $7.00 show; The Tribesman, $19.20 place, $10.80 show; Supreme Flag, $10.40 show. Winner trained by M. D. Livingston. Went to post at 2:51¼. At post 2 minutes. Start good from Bahr gate. Won easily, place driving.

MISS EUROPE, rushed into the lead soon after the break and hard pressed for a half mile, increased her advantage steadily thereafter and drew away to win with something in reserve. THE TRIBESMAN began slowly, worked his way up on the outside and finished fast. SUPREME FLAG forced the pace for most of the trip, weakening under pressure in final stages.

THIRD RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse $600. Net value to winner, $425; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25.

Time, :24 1-5, :49 2-5, 1:03 2-5, 1:11 1-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Leana G., $32.20 straight, $14.00 place, $8.60 show; Sun Image, $12.00 place, $9.80 show; Ormont Girl, $5.60 show. Winner trained by G. Gorbet. Went to post at 3:20½. At post 4½ minutes. Start good from Bahr gate. Won driving, place same.

LEANA G., away well and racing on the outside throughout, improved her position gradually, assumed the lead in the last sixteenth, but required hard urging to withstand SUN IMAGE. Latter, probably best, was forced fack at stretch turn, recovered quickly when in the clear, and closed with a rush. ORMONT GIRL, slow to begin, made up ground rapidly in final furlong.

FOURTH RACE—Four and one-half furlongs. Purse $600. Net value to winner, $425; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25.

DOMANIO, fractious at the gate but away well, drew into the lead before going a sixteenth, opened up a good margin, but was extended to the limit in last stages to withstand TELL. Latter followed the pacemaker throughout and closed with a rush. MASTER MORGAN never far back, responded well to strong urging after entering the stretch and was gaining rapidly.

SIR KAI improved his position with a rush moved around leaders midway of the stretch, and rapidly drew away. POLANTE SETH, well up from the start, was in close quarters during stretch racing and finished strong when clear. WILLOW WAND was hustled into the lead after going three-eighths, set the pace under pressure, and tired in the drive.

SIXTH RACE—Six furlongs. Claiming. Three year olds. Purse $700. Net value to winner, $525; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25.

MY FENG, taken back off repeatedly in the first half mile, came through on the inside at the stretch turn, wore down LOW CUTS in last furlong, and drew clear under a hustling ride. The latter, a factor from the start, went extremely wide at stretch turn when holding a clear advantage and weakened when challenged. GENESEE was a strong factor for a half mile, then weakened.

SEVENTH RACE—One mile and 70 yards. Claiming. Four year olds and up. Purse $600. Net value to winner, $425; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25.

LIFELIKE, forced back going to the first turn, continued on the inside while working his way up, came around SLIP KNOT after reaching the stretch, and drew clear in last furlong. BABY JOE improved his position gradually while racing between horses and closed gamely under urging. SLIP KNOT came over sharply around the turn while taking the lead, set the pace to the final furlong, and gave way when challenged.

ROSS BOXES FOUR ROUNDS BRISKLY; IN TOP CONDITION

Armstrong Works Easily; Fear Staleness.

Grossinger Lake, N. Y., May 18.—(AP)—Barney Ross went through a brisk four round session of ringwork today, his first since Sunday, in preparation for the defense of his welterweight title against Henry Armstrong at Madison Square Garden Bowl May 26.

Bill Brown of the New York state athletic commission was on hand to watch the champion work and said Barney was "a finely conditioned man."

"There's certainly no chance of Barney going stale for this fight," Brown said.

Ross took on Augie Gonzales and Pete Galiano for two rounds each. His punching was fast and his spar mates were unable to hit him solidly. The champion will box again tomorrow.

ARMSTRONG EASES UP.

Pompton Lakes, N. J., May 18.—(AP)—Henry Armstrong has reached top form a little too quickly and his trainers are making him take things exceedingly easy in preparation for his 15 round championship fight with Barney Ross next week.

After laying off completely yesterday he boxed only two innocent rounds today with Frankie Genovese, Canadian welterweight champion, and tapered off with a trifle of shadow boxing. He didn't try to clout Genovese, whose style is something like that of Ross, but contented himself with learning to duck under the Canadian's jabs.

With that much work Henry didn't begin to work up a sweat. His handlers said it was the last boxing they would let him do before Saturday. It is believed the Armstrong board of strategy misjudged by a week the length of time it would take the colored boxer to reach fighting trim.

NO OTHER CHOICE SO SOUTH VOTES COTTON CONTROL

Past Due Subsidy Used as Government Weapon.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Mobile, Ala., May 18.—[Special.]—A survey among southern farmers reveals that they would have lost 230 million dollars of federal subsidy money if they had refused to submit to a drastic reduction in their cotton acreage under the government's AAA 1938 crop control plan.

There is no secret among planters about why the majority of them voted for the cotton marketing quota a few weeks ago and why most of them are complying with the federal cotton acreage allotment now. They had no choice.

Although the 130 million dollars in subsidies were to be for the 1937 crop, payments were conditional upon compliance with the 1938 program. If a farmer does not coöperate this year he gets no payment for his 1937 coöperation. Then he would also lose his part of the 100 millions in soil payments offered this year.

Also Subject to Fines.

In addition to facing a loss of the 230 million dollars, if they refused to comply with the government allotment this year, they would be subject to a penalty or fine of 2 cents a pound on all cotton the individual farmer sells in excess of his marketing quota. Next year's penalty will be 3 cents a pound.

Since the marketing quota is to become effective in the selling of this year's crop, virtually all of the south's 2,713,000 cotton growers, coöperative and noncoöperative alike, are subject to the penalty if they sell any of the cotton they are ordered to withhold from the market.

With most growers complying, the 1938 cotton crop will be approximately 19 million acres less than the base acreage the south started out with in 1933. The record crop of nearly 19 million bales last year is expected to leave this country with a carryover on July 31—end of the cotton year—of approximately 13 million bales.

Planters Expect No Relief.

Many planters say they are not expecting the drastic cut in cotton acres to bring any great amount of relief, excepting that which comes when they receive their government checks amounting to 230 million dollars. They estimate that the carryover at the end of July next year will be about as much as the huge stocks of cotton left on hand this year.

The AAA plan calls for the planting of about 27 million acres of cotton. As much as 44 million acres have been grown. The official estimate of the production for this year will not be available until Aug. 8.

Calculations made by planters indicate that this year's crop, with a normal yield per acre, will be in the neighborhood of 11½ million bales. Domestic consumption and exports from supply on hand after this year's crop is picked is expected to be about 11 million bales. None of the carry over of about 13 million bales would be needed to meet home and foreign demands.

Income Down 243 Millions.

Planters also have figured it out that their income from lint cotton grown this year will be at least 243 million dollars less than they were paid for the 1937 crop. Last year's crop brought about $860,000,000. It is estimated that the 11½ million bales this year will bring $617,500,000. Government payments are included in these figures. A smaller income from cottonseed is expected.

Farmers believe governmental loans will peg the price and establish an upper limit. Some of them predict that the price will be around 9 to 9½ cents a pound this fall.

It is explained that the government's commodity credit corporation already has loans to farmers on 1,600,000 bales of last year's crop at the rate of 12 cents a pound.

Loan Rate to Rule Price.

It generally is understood that a loan of 9 cents a pound will be made on approximately 5½ million bales of the crop to be picked this fall. With loans on more than 7 million bales, farmers think they have ground for expecting the loan rate to have a dominating influence on the price they get this fall.

One planter said that if this country had a normal carry-over of about 5 million bales of cotton farmers might hope for the government's acreage reduction to raise prices, but with a 13 million bale carry-over and government price pegging loans they cannot hope to raise prices materially on the 1938 crop.

WALLACE LOOKS TO NEW BATTLE ON COURT ISSUE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 19.—[Special.]—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace today forecast what he termed another battle to prevent the courts from invading the administrative functions of government.

In a formal statement, Wallace gave a new interpretation to the ill-fated attempt of President Roosevelt of a year ago to pack the Supreme court with six pro-administration judges. The secretary termed it "a battle to decide whether the courts could take over the function of determining the legislative policy for the nation."

"This year," the secretary said, "another battle seems to be opening. An attempt is being made to have the courts invade the administrative field by taking over the rate making and regulatory functions of administrative agencies."

The secretary was referring to the Supreme court decision of April 25, in which he was rebuked for conducting star chamber and ex parte hearings in fixing minimum rates for marketing agencies at the Kansas City stockyards.

MUNICH, Germany, May 18.—(AP)—Anton Lang, who played the rôle of Christ in the Oberammergau Passion Play in 1900, 1910, and 1922, died in a Munich hospital tonight. He was 63 years old and had been operated on yesterday for a stomach ailment.

Anton Lang.

He leaves a widow and three children. His eldest son is a professor of German in Washington, D. C.

In 1634, after Oberammergau had survived the ravages of a plague, the Bavarian villagers vowed to present the Passion Play every ten years as an act of thanksgiving. In 1680 the presentations were changed to the decimal years. Several times unsettled conditions caused a variation of several years.

Village Pottery Maker.

Following the tradition of his family, Anton Lang trained almost from birth for the rôle of the Christus. After passing the age limit he read the prolog in 1930 and in the 300th anniversary presentation in 1934.

His expressive head, with long blond curls, his average stature, and his quiet manner all combined to represent in him the traditional Germanic ideal of the Savior. His daughter Ria had the rôle of the Virgin Mary in the 1930 production.

Lang was the pottery maker for Oberammergau, a town of 1,700 population, and in recent years kept an inn. He had a liking for travel and visited America, Palestine, and many other countries.

VISITED CHICAGO.

Anton Lang led a party of Oberammergau citizens who had rôles in the Passion Play on a tour of America in 1924. They exhibited and sold objects of woodcarving, pottery, and painting made by them and other Oberammergau citizens to raise money to liquidate the deficit of the 1922 Passion Play. In Chicago they appeared in the Coliseum, with a reproduction of Oberammergau's main street as their setting.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—
Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go
The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.
A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25c. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

CLOSING PUBLIC VICE IS CALLED AID TO HEALTH

Springfield, Ill., May 18.—(AP)—Until the American people are ready to attack prostitution and promiscuity, the public health section of the Illinois Medical society was told today, "the public may expect to continue paying handsomely for the treatment of gonorrhea and syphilis."

The control of venereal diseases, he said, was the greatest coöperative enterprise that has challenged the united efforts of the American people.

TWO EXTREMES OF WEATHER HIT NATION'S CROPS

Far West Lacks Rainfall; Midwest Has Too Much.

Two extremes in weather conditions—lack of moisture in the far west, and excessive rainfall in parts of Kansas, Iowa, Illinois, and Missouri—last week made the outlook less favorable for crops, according to the weekly weather report issued last night by the government.

Frost in the Michigan fruit belt also caused heavy damage to apples, grapes, strawberries, peaches, and cherries, the report said.

Grain crops remain in good condition, however, because of the excellence of earlier weather. Heavy rains checked field work in eastern Kansas and Iowa, northern Illinois, and Missouri, and a period of sunshine would be welcome to farmers in that area. No damage has been reported to date.

Conditions by States.

Marlin-Rockwell.

Investors' Guide: I notice that Marlin-Rockwell stock has regained some of the ground it lost during April. Will you please give me what information you have on this company as I may buy some of the stock.—L. G. T.

Answer: The Marlin-Rockwell corporation makes steel balls and ball bearings for the automotive and other industries. Despite the low rate of activity in the industries it serves, the corporation operated in the black in the first quarter of 1938, earning $127,738, or 37 cents a share, compared with $373,942, or $1.10 a share, in the corresponding 1937 period.

Marlin-Rockwell corporation was incorporated Dec. 26, 1934, in Delaware, to acquire the assets of a predecessor New York corporation of the same name. The company now operates plants at Plainville, Conn., Jamestown, N. Y., and Chicago. Important customers include the Ford Motor company and the Chrysler corporation.

Net income in 1937 rose to $1,900,621, or $5.60 a common share, from $1,634,111, or $4.82 a share, in 1936 and net income of $1,112,186, or $3.28 a share, in 1935. The predecessor company earned $538,258, or $1.58 a share, in 1934, and $110,535 or 35 cents a share, in 1933. Loss in 1932 was $123,399 and loss was $23,053 in 1931. Net income in 1929 was $2,707,405, or $7.43 a share.

Marlin-Rockwell has 339,245 shares of $1 par common stock outstanding. The stock pays $2 a year. Including extras, total 1937 payments were $4.75.

The stock must be regarded as more of a speculation than an investment until business improves in the industries served by the company.

Rain Helps Crops.

May 18, 1938.

RAINS this week delayed field work at the Tribune's Du Page county farm, but supplied the surface soil with much needed moisture. Oats and spring seedings of grasses and legumes were beginning to need rain and corn planted more than two weeks ago still has not sprouted because of cool weather and lack of moisture.

Comparatively dry weather late in April and the first two weeks of this month enabled the workers to get the spring crops in the ground much earlier than last year. Oats seeding was finished more than three weeks ago. Last spring the oats were not all in until May 21. Corn planting was finished May 11 this year, while last year it was June 10 before all the field corn was in and some small plots were planted in test fields after the middle of June.

Corn to Be Harrowed.

The forty-six acres of corn will be gone over with a light harrow as soon as the ground is dry enough to work. This practice is followed each year. The harrowing loosens the surface of the soil and helps to check any weeds or grass that may be getting a start. The work may be done before the corn is up or when the plants are only a few inches high.

All the corn was drilled instead of being checked. The manager of the farm has found that by preparing an exceptionally good seed bed he is able to keep drilled corn clean, making it unnecessary to cultivate the fields crosswise as is the practice where the corn is checked.

Other field jobs that have been delayed by the rains are plowing soy bean ground and rolling some of the fields of oats. Sixteen acres of soy beans will be planted for hay when the soil dries enough to be plowed and worked into a suitable seed bed.

Fields to Be Rolled.

A roller will be run over all the oat fields that were not rolled when the seeds were sown. The rolling is to smooth the surface of the ground, making easier the work of harvesting the crop. It also is expected to increase stooling or tillering of the oats, the process by which individual plants send up extra stalks for the production of grain.

Gardeners at the farm started work with the spray guns last week in their regular summer campaign to control insects and diseases that infest the flowers and shrubs. The perennial borders were dusted with sulphur to kill red spiders Rose bushes were sprayed with Bordeaux mixture in an attempt to prevent black spot, a disease that attacks the foliage and sometimes, the stems of roses. The spraying will be repeated at ten day intervals throughout the summer.

WHEAT FUTURES RALLY AS ITALY STARTS BUYING

Crop Rust Reports Also Affect Market.

CHICAGO GRAIN FUTURES

Closing prices on the July delivery of principal grains on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday:

	Yesterday.	Tuesday.	Year ago.
Wheat	$ .76⅛	$ .75⅞	$1.23¼
Corn	.58¾	.58¼	1.18¾
Oats	.26⅝	.26⅝	.44⅝
Rye	.56¾	.56¼	1.08⅛
Soy beans	.91	.91¼	1.74

Wheat futures closed higher yesterday by rallying 1 cent a bushel from an early decline in which the May delivery touched 77⅝ cents, a new seasonal low mark. Reports that the long expected Italian demand for cash wheat had developed and a forecast indicating weather conditions in the southwest would be favorable for the development of black rust were the bullish influences.

Final trades in wheat were at net gains of ¼ to ¾ cent, the latter on September. Winnipeg closed ⅜ cent higher to ¼ cent lower with October at a new low price for the season. Liverpool wheat dipped ¾ to 1 cent.

Italy Starts Purchasing.

The first report of Italian purchases of 1,500,000 bushels of wheat failed to specify the countries from which it had been obtained. Some brokers on the Chicago Board of Trade believed the grain was purchased in the United States, but later it was said Argentine and Danubian grain had been taken.

There was fair buying of wheat futures, regarded as against sales to the United Kingdom, about 225,000 bushels of dark hard winter having been disposed of via the gulf. In addition 19,000 bushels of soft red winter were sold at Chicago to exporters.

Corn Futures Rally.

Corn futures eased early, but rallied quickly on commission house and export buying, and closed ⅛ to ½ cent a bushel higher. Although there were reports of fair amounts being sold for export, no figures were given.

Wet weather slowed up country offerings and only 61,000 bushels were bought for deferred shipment. A period of dry and warmer weather over the corn belt, it was said, would be beneficial as persistent rains have materially interfered with corn planting.

April Withdrawals of Malt Liquors Below Year Ago

UPTURN IN HOG PRICES UPSETS U. S. FORECAST

Brisk Trade Puzzles Live Stock Men.

In the face of a second government prediction of a slump in the hog market yesterday prices again rose sharply in spirited trading in the hog alleys at the Chicago stockyards. The rise in hog prices during the last few weeks has been so brisk and so unexpected that hog raisers and live stock traders yesterday were searching trade figures for an explanation.

Yesterday's monthly résumé by the bureau of agricultural economics forecast a slight decline in hog prices during the early summer to be followed by an advance late in the summer. The bureau reported that indications point to unusually heavy slaughter supplies in the immediate future and a reduction in hog receipts at principal markets later this summer.

Slack Meat Demand Predicted.

"The rise in prices will be limited by the continued weak consumer demand for meats," the report said.

Just a month ago the bureau made a similar forecast which was refuted by an almost continuous rise which began only a few days after the April 19 prediction was made. Prices yesterday rose 15 to 25 cents per hundredweight on the various classes of hogs traded on the Chicago Live Stock exchange. The average price moved up 20 cents.

Live stock men have been unable to explain the rise in hog prices which has been general in all markets. It is regarded by some as a "flash in the pan," but others, more optimistic, recall that hogs sometimes have led a general recovery movement not discernible in other markets until later.

Some Cuts of Pork Rise.

Some cuts of pork, such as fresh loins, shoulders and butts, have kept pace with the rise in live costs at the stockyards without any apparent effect on consumer buying. Fresh pork loins yesterday advanced 50 cents more, to a top of $22, the highest since April 8, and $2 above the pork top the day the government forecast of lower prices was released last month. Many market experts say the upturn has not had time to affect retail prices enough to show just what the consumer reaction to the higher prices will be.

The cattle market which has been following the rise in hogs showed some signs of falling behind yesterday. Most classes of good steers and yearlings held about steady, with a few selling a little stronger. Common to medium grades lost 10 to 15 cents. Several carloads averaging from 1,291 to 1,360 pounds reached $10.75, equaling the highest price since midde of February. The bulk sold from $8.00 to $10.25.

A two-way trade developed for lambs. New crop lambs sold strong to 25 cents higher, and aged sheep rose 25 cents, but old crop shorn lambs were bought weak to 25 cents lower.

COURT UPHOLDS BETHLEHEM IN PROXY DISPUTE

New York, May 18.—(AP)—Supreme Court Justice Pecora today denied an application of a group of minority stockholders of Bethlehem Steel corporation for an injunction to restrain officers and directors from soliciting and using proxies in favor of a plan to cancel the management's stock purchase plan. The new plan is to be voted upon at Bethlehem's adjourned stockholders' meeting tomorrow at Wilmington, Del.

The plan involves approximately $16,000,000 in connection with stock purchase obligations of certain officers and directors under the so-called management stock ownership agreement adopted in 1930.

The injunction was sought against Charles M. Schwab, Eugene G. Grace, C. C. Marshall, and Archibald Johnston who are among fifteen officers and directors named with Bethlehem Steel in the suit. Schwab is chairman and Grace president. The action was brought by Howard W. Lyon, Ruth Harris Yaeger, and Florence Haber Warshawsky, minority stockholders.

OVER-COUNTER BILL FOUGHT BY DEALER GROUP

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., May 18.—[Special.]—Enactment of the Maloney over-the-counter market bill in the form in which it is pending in the house would be a further impediment to the flow of capital into industry, the board of governors of the Investment Bankers Association of America declared in a statement at the conclusion of its five-day regular meeting here today.

The board of forty members, representing all parts of the country, declared that dealers in all sections have become "increasingly concerned about the unfavorable results that would occur if certain provisions of the bill were not amended according to specific recommendations made previously to the Securities and Exchange commission and to committees of both houses of congress.

U. S. Will Seek Indictments of Big Auto Firms

Washington, D. C., May 18.—(AP)—The justice department today inaugurated a policy of publicity for proposed anti-trust prosecutions by announcing that it would seek indictment of the three largest automobile manufacturers and their affiliated finance companies.

Homer S. Cummings.

Attorney General Homer S. Cummings told reporters at a press conference that the indictments would be asked of a federal grand jury at South Bend, Ind., next week. At the same time he gave them copies of a printed statement advising industry of the publicity policy.

The companies which the South Bend grand jury will be asked to indict, Cummings said, are those investigated by a federal grand jury at Milwaukee, Wis., last November. They are the Ford Motor company, the Universal Credit company, a Ford subsidiary; the General Motors corporation, the General Motors Acceptance corporation, the Chrysler corporation and its affiliated finance firm, the Commercial Credit company.

Dealer Coercion Is Charged.

The government contends, he said, that the manufacturers have coerced dealers to require that automobile purchases be financed through affiliated finance companies.

The Milwaukee jury was said by government attorneys to have voted Nov. 22 to indict the firms. Judge Ferdinand A. Geiger dismissed the jury, however, before the indictments were returned, when he learned that the justice department had discussed a consent decree with company representatives. He took the view that the conversations were improper.

Cummings explained in a statement that he was establishing the precedent of publicizing the department's plans before appearing before the grand jury in an attempt to clarify the "prosecution policy with respect to anti-trust laws."

Tells Aims of Experiment.

As an "experiment," he said, the department henceforth will issue statements from time to time describing anti-trust investigations or proceedings to serve as a guide to business men; to aid the department in formulating a consistent policy of anti-trust law enforcement; "to serve as a warning to those engaged in similar illegal practices, and to call the attention of the congress to the interpretation and application of anti-trust laws by the attorney general as they may have a bearing upon contemplated legislation."

B. E. Hutchinson, chairman of the finance committee of Chrysler corporation, issued this statement:

"Since early in the year consideration has been given to the problems referred to in the announcement of the department of justice regarding proceedings against the automobile finance companies and the automobile manufacturers. Discussions with the department looking to a settlement of the points at issue are proceeding, and until negotiations reach a more definitive stage detailed comment seems inadvisable."

Deliveries of Sugar Under Quota System Increase

Washington, D. C., May 18.—(AP)—The Agricultural Adjustment administration reported today that sugar delivered to American markets under the quota system in April totaled 536,531 short tons, raw value, compared with 509,837 in the corresponding months last year.

JONES OF RFC BACKS RECONSIDERATION OF BILL ON RAIL LOANS

Washington, D. C., May 18.—[Special.]—Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, today added his voice to that of an influential senate bloc favoring reconsideration of proposed new federal credits for the railroads in the light of carriers' announced plans to reduce basic wage rates by 15 per cent.

Jones' views were expressed in a letter to Senator Robert F. Wagner, chairman of the banking and currency committee. The letter was made public after that committee had decided to withhold action for the time being on a bill liberalizing RFC loans to railroads.

The bill was reported favorably by the committee last week, shortly before the railroads announced their intention to reduce wages, effective July 1. Following the wage announcement Wagner recalled the report and convened his committee in special session this morning. Jones was present.

Wagner said further action on the bill was delayed so that railroad labor as well as the managements could testify after study of the wage developments.

FRANCE IMPOSES IMPORT QUOTA ON TRUCKS, PARTS

PARIS, May 18.—(AP)—The Daladier government today set a restrictive quota for importation of motor trucks, truck parts, and chassis. These items, which previously have come chiefly from the United States, had not been under quota before.

The quota designated for complete trucks was fixed by decree in the official journal at 303,000 kilograms [approximately 334.8 tons]. This compares with 1937 imports of 1,223,700 kilograms [1,352 tons], of which 887,100 kilograms [894.27 tons] were from the United States. The new quota on parts and chassis was 201,400 kilograms [222.54 tons], compared with 1937 imports of 947,100 kilograms [1,047.5 tons], of which 877,100 kilograms [969 tons] were from the United States.

United States embassy officials said the action was a surprise, although not in violation of the trade treaty between the United States and France.

WESTINGHOUSE EMPLOYES' PAY CUT 10 PER CENT

Pittsburgh, May 18.—(AP)—The Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing company today announced a 10 per cent reduction in the pay of 13,000 salaried employés, including executives, effective June 1.

The adjustment does not apply to employés paid by the hour, nor does it affect the operation of a bonus plan by which employés receive additional compensation monthly on the basis of the company's average earnings for the preceding three months.

GAS COMPANY CUTS PAY.

Compressed Industrial Gases, Inc., announced yesterday that a general reduction of approximately 10 per cent was made in the salaries of its officers and employés, effective May 1. Directors early this month voted to omit the dividend due June 15.

Bendix Union Awaits Word from Its Leader to Strike

South Bend, Ind., May 18.—(AP)—The Bendix local of the United Automobile Workers today awaited authorization from Homer Martin, international president, for a strike that would remove approximately 4,000 workers from the Bendix Products corporation plant here. Union and company officials failed in conference yesterday to settle a dispute growing out of dismissal of two union plant policemen. Frank Scheepers of Cleveland, union organizer, who attended the conference here, flew to Detroit today to present the matter to Martin.

UTILITY OBTAINS DELAY ON TVA BID FOR PLANTS

New York, May 18.—[Special.]—Having obtained a 24 hour extension in the time limit on the bid of the Tennessee Valley authority and the city of Knoxville, Tenn., of $7,500,000 for the properties of the Tennessee Public Service company, directors of National Power and Light company postponed its meeting, scheduled for this afternoon, until tomorrow, it was announced today.

Directors of the parent company met Monday afternoon, but failed to reach a definite conclusion. The bid was originally set to expire at midnight, but with the extension it will hold good until tomorrow.

YOUNG AND BANK SETTLE FIGHT TO CONTROL C. & O.

Bailie to Join Board of Directors.

New York, May 18.—[Special.]—The fight between the management of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway and the Guaranty Trust company, trustee for Alleghany corporation bonds, was settled by a compromise today. It was agreed by the C. & O. management and Robert R. Young, chairman of the Alleghany corporation, that Joseph A. Dart of Richmond, Va., and John C. Myers of Ashland, O., would be retained on the board in deference to wishes of the C. & O. management.

Robert R. Young.

In return, the C. & O. management agreed to place Earle Bailie of J. & W. Seligman & Co., and another nominee of the Guaranty Trust company on the C. & O. board. This would leave the numerical strength of the railroad's management and that of the Guaranty unchanged.

Agree to Vote Proxies.

As part of the agreement, the Guaranty nominees are to vote their proxies at the adjourned annual meeting of the Chesapeake and Ohio today. Until now, the Guaranty forces have held out their proxies and thus prevented a quorum at the meeting.

It was estimated that 85 per cent of the Chesapeake and Ohio's stockholders, representing 51 per cent of the stock of the company, had sided with the management in its tilt with Wall street. This estimate was made before allowance for revocations in response to an appeal for proxies issued by the Guaranty's nominees.

Guaranty Holds a Third.

The Guaranty Trust company holds proxies for 33 per cent of Chesapeake and Ohio stock by virtue of a default in the collateral ratio of Alleghany bonds for which it is trustee. As long as O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen, who now are dead, were in control of the Alleghany corporation, Guaranty voted this stock in their favor, but it reversed this policy when Young and his associates took control of Alleghany.

The Guaranty's nominees for Chesapeake and Ohio directors, besides Bailie, were John L. Dickinson, president of the Kanawha Valley bank of Charleston, W. Va., and John B. Hollister of the Cincinnati law firm of Taft, Stettinius & Hollister.

Carnegie's Prices on Steel Extended to Third Quarter

Taking the expected action with respect to prices, the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation — largest of the United States Steel corporation's subsidiaries—announced last night that it is reaffirming its present prices for delivery and consumption in the United States during the third quarter of this year, which covers July, August, and September.

Action by the Carnegie-Illinois company usually is followed by the other steel producing companies.

There are some minor exceptions to the reaffirmed price scale, the company said, and these affect certain flat rolled products on which adjustments have been made, largely downward, to retain the present price balance between the various steel items.

Rumors Set at Rest.

The action taken by Carnegie-Illinois sets at rest rumors of impending price reductions. With the prices set for the period, price uncertainty for the period is ended. When there are reports of impending reductions industries consuming steel are hesitant about buying in the hope of getting better prices later. Conversely, when there are reports of price boosts there is a big rush to buy steel before the increases go into effect.

Although the present demand for steel is continuing light because of the general business setback, the action by Carnegie-Illinois is expected to stimulate any demand that may exist, because there now is no likelihood of price decreases before Sept. 30.

Minor Changes Explained.

Explaining the minor price adjustments the corporation said:

"The advisability of effecting certain adjustments in the relationship between hot rolled strip, hot rolled sheets, cold rolled sheets and tin mill black plate was indicated by the company's production experience during 1937, which was the first good year since the installation of the new wide continuous mills.

"Therefore, new lists of extras and new deductions have been developed. Inequalities created by new methods of production have been corrected. In addition, in the interest of simplification, a few products' names have been eliminated, gage and extra widths combined and a realignment of the sizes covered by each specific product has been effected."

Tell How Inequalities Arise.

As an example of how these inequalities have arisen, officials said that before the introduction of the continous method for cold rolled steel this type of steel had certain advantages over the hand operated hot rolled product, and that consequently the cold rolled steel sold at a premium over the hot rolled steel.

The new continuous mills, which reduce operations in the production of steel, have effected economies in the making of this steel which the companies now are passing on to the consumers.

The reaffirmed price schedule is as follows:

Hot Rolled Strip.
$2.325 base delivered Pittsburgh
$2.43 base delivered Gary
Hot Rolled Sheets.
$2.325 base delivered Pittsburgh
$2.43 base delivered Gary
Cold Rolled Sheets.
[Primes with second arising.]
$3.375 base delivered Pittsburgh
$3.48 base delivered Gary
Tin Mill Black Plate.
$3.325 base delivered Pittsburgh
$3.43 base delivered Gary

An announcement on galvanized sheet prices will be made later, it was said.

STEEL MAKERS CUT PRODUCTION BY LIGHT MARGIN

Steel ingot production dipped half a point to 30 per cent of capacity this week, Iron Age reported yesterday. Output has slipped in nearly all districts, with the important exception of Pittsburgh where the rate has risen 3 points to 29 per cent because of a temporary accumulation of orders.

Chicago area operations are down 4 points to 29 per cent. Activity in the south, which has been better than in any area except the Wheeling-Weirton district this year, is scheduled to drop as spring rail orders are nearing completion.

"After a halting period, steel scrap has resumed its downward trend," the publication said. "At Chicago declines occurred in every item, the majority only 50 cents, but some as much as $1. The Iron Age scrap composite price has dropped to $11.42, lowest since July, 1935, and only $1.09 above the 1935 minimum."

HOUSE GROUP VOTES $300,000,000 BOOST IN HOME PROGRAM

Washington, D. C., May 18.—[Special.]—A bill to carry out President Roosevelt's recommendation for a $300,000,000 expansion of the housing and slum clearance program of the United States Housing authority was approved today by the house banking committee by a vote of 9 to 8. The measure would increase from $500,000,000 to $800,000,000 the amount of bonds the authority may issue.

The committee agreed to waive for a year a requirement that municipalities provide 10 per cent of the capital cost of housing projects.

The committee in the morning had reported favorably a bill requiring the 10 per cent contribution, but a switch of votes caused a reversal in the afternoon.

A fight over the 10 per cent contribution provision is expected in the house.

Most European Currencies Gain Ground on U.S.Dollar

The dollar declined moderately in terms of most European currencies yesterday. The British pound closed ⅛ of a cent higher at $4.96⅞, the French franc 0.00¼ of a cent higher at 2.79¾ cents, the Netherlands guilder 0.01 of a cent higher at 55.35 cents, and the Swiss franc 0.04 of a cent higher at 22.84½ cents.

AM. TELEPHONE WILL PAY USUAL $2.25 DIVIDEND

Distributions Cut by Many Firms.

The American Telephone and Telegraph company yesterday declared the usual quarterly dividend of $2.25 a share on its capital stock, payable July 15 to stockholders of record June 15. The dividend will involve distribution of about $42,000,000 among more than 640,000 shareholders.

The $9 annual dividend rate has been maintained on the capital stock of A. T. & T. since 1921, despite the fact that in several years prior to 1937 the company failed to earn as much as $9 a share. The dividends were covered by earnings last year by a narrow margin.

Other dividend news yesterday was mixed, with several omissions and a larger number of reductions announced in addition to a larger than usual number of dividend declarations at the rates previously paid.

Pay Regular Dividends.

Among companies declaring regular dividends were Pullman, Inc., American Cigarette and Cigar company, U. S. Tobacco company, Liggett & Myers Tobacco company, Addressograph-Multigraph corporation, and the Plymouth Oil company.

Directors of Congoleum-Nairn, Inc., floor covering manufacturer, decided to omit the common dividend which ordinarily would have been paid June 15, because "in the opinion of the board current profits do not warant declaration of a dividend at this time." The last previous payment was 25 cents on March 15, a reduction from the 50 cent quarterly payments made during 1937.

Directors of Paraffine Companies, Inc., deferred decision on the dividend on common stock for this quarter until a special meeting to be held on June 6. A dividend of 50 cents was paid on March 28.

Transue & Williams Steel Forging company took no action on a common dividend for this period. The company has not been on a regular basis, but disbursed a total of 60 cents during 1937.

Declares $2.50 Special.

Directors of the Consolidated Car Heating company of Albany, N. Y., declared a special dividend of $2.50 on the common stock, payable May 25. The company paid a dividend of $2 last Dec. 24.

The Chicago Rivet and Machine company declared a dividend of 10 cents on its capital stock. It paid 15 cents on March 15, and a total of $1.75 in 1937, including 50 cents on Dec. 15 and 50 cents before the 2 for 1 splitup of the stock on March 9, 1937.

Directors of the General American Transportation corporation will meet early in June to declare a dividend for payment July 1, according to Max Epstein, chairman. The size of the payment has not been determined.

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 18.—The stock market closed fairly strong today after a session of narrow price movements and quiet trading. Opening prices were higher in a continuation of the better tone that prevailed in the late trading Tuesday, but a slight reaction followed when the move was not supported. Around mid-afternoon there was some improvement and most of the day's losses were pared or replaced by gains. A number of issues added a point or so, but the majority of changes were fractional.

Volume was slightly below yesterday at 398,370 shares.

Steels, motors and coppers strengthened in the late trading and closed fractionally higher. Leaders were United States Steel common, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Anaconda, and Kennecott.

Aviation issues were mixed. Douglas, most active in the group, lost a minor fraction, as did North American Aviation, but Glenn Martin and United Aircraft were higher.

Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing gained 1⅜ points and General Electric 1 point. Other heavy machinery issues added up to 1½ points in nominal trading.

Favorite public utility issues did not stray far from preceding finals. Electric Power and Light, Consolidated Edison and North American company were active but irregular.

Gold mining issues again pushed higher. Alaska Juneau, Dome Mines, Homestake and McIntyre Porcupine advancing fractions to 1¼ points.

Oils were unchanged to fractions lower in moderately active trading. Rubbers and merchandising issues gave up small amounts. Chemicals were higher. Although Allied Chemical remained unchanged, du Pont, Air Reduction, and Union Carbide added one point or so. Johns-Manville and United States Gypsum added 1 and 1½ points in the building stocks.

New York Bonds.

New York, May 18.—(AP)—United States government obligations, utility, and industrial issues showed strength today in the bond market, while rails were lower.

Fractions to about a point higher were American Waterworks 6s at 92¼, Anaconda Copper 4½s at 105½, Armour 4s of 1955 at 94¼, Bethlehem Steel 3¾s at 98, International Paper 5s at 89½, National Dairy 3¾s at 101½, Pacific Gas 3¾s at 106⅜, and Western Union 5s of 1960 at 59⅛.

United States government issues showed gains ranging as high as 8-32. Foreign government liens weakened.

Heaviest pressure in the carrier list, with losses confined to fractions, was felt by Great Northern 4s of 1946 at 87½, Illinois Central 4¾s at 32½, New York Central 5s at 53, Nickel Plate 4½s at 36¼, Pennsylvania general 4½s of 1965 at 95⅛, and Southern Pacific 4½s of 1969 at 42.

Chicago Stocks.

Stocks closed irregular after another dull session yesterday at the Chicago Stock exchange. Sales totaled only 9,000 shares, the smallest volume for any full session since April 7.

Only 41 issues were traded, of which 14 advanced, 10 declined, and 17 held unchanged. Almost all price changes were small. THE TRIBUNE average of 20 stocks ranged between 8.38 and 8.50, closing at 8.53, down .01.

Middle West capital stock was the most active issue, closing unchanged at 6 after a turnover of 1,500 shares. Small gains were made by Katz Drug, Marshall Field, and Armour common.

Bank Stocks.

Chicago bank stocks were stronger yesterday. Continental Illinois National advanced $1.50 a share to $59 bid, $61 asked. First National moved up $1 to $174 bid, $177 asked. COTTON

Cotton futures moved a little higher yesterday. Scattered trade and commission house buying was based on less favorable crop reports from the south and firmness in Liverpool. Aggregate trade was not large, however. The weather bureau weekly crop summary was not as unfavorable as expected, but private reports indicated that the Texas crop was one to two weeks later in development than last year because of excessive rains. Growth in parts of the Mississippi valley and in the southeastern states also was said to be behind.

Closing futures prices on the Chicago Board of Trade were .01 to .03 cent a pound higher. Other American markets were .01 to .05 cent a pound higher.

Demand for textiles was relatively slow, pending release of the WPA specifications on requirements estimated at 40,000,000 yards.

Spot cotton closed unchanged to .05 cent higher, with New Orleans 8.85 cents, New York 8.65 cents, Houston 8.60 cents, and Galveston 8.50 cents a pound. Prices follow:

FOUR CHICAGOANS PUT ON BOARD OF ILLINOIS CENTRAL

Director Control Shifted Here from New York.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Director control of the Illinois Central railroad was shifted from New York to Chicago yesterday when members of the board held their first meeting at the railroad's general offices in the Illinois Central station building. The management earlier this year announced that hereafter meetings of the directors would be held in Chicago, at the scene of action in the railroad's operations, instead of in New York.

The meeting was held immediately after the annual meeting of the stockholders, at which seven new directors, four from Chicago, were elected. The stockholders approved an increase in the size of the board to fifteen members and from thirteen members. Under the road's charter the governor of the state of Illinois is an ex-officio member, so the actual working membership is fourteen.

Harriman Back of Move.

W. A. Harriman, chairman of the road's executive committee, is credited with having inspired the transfer of the director control from New York to Chicago, holding the opinion that directors should meet in the territory in which a company is operated. Harriman is the son of the late Edward H. Harriman, one of the most noted figures in American railroad history.

This first regular Chicago meeting of the board was occupied yesterday with routine business, including the reëlection of the officers of the railroad. L. A. Downs, veteran president of the road, commented after the election that "I am happy to say I am still the president."

The present board includes seven Chicagoans—including the four new Chicago members elected yesterday—and four New Yorkers. The four New Yorkers were present, but only three Chicagoans were there. However, four of the Chicagoans did not become members officially until after the stockholders' meeting.

Seven New Members.

The seven new members are: Gen. Robert E. Wood, Chicago, president of Sears, Robuck & Co.; Thomas E. Wilson, Chicago, chairman of the board of Wilson & Co.; James Norris, Chicago, president of the Norris Grain company, John L. Beven, Chicago, senior vice president of the Illinois Central; C. W. Gaylord, St. Louis, president of the Gaylord Container corporation; W. R. King, Memphis, president of the William R. Moore Dry Goods company, and A. D. Geohegan, New Orleans, president of the Wesson Oil and Snowdrift company.

Those who left the board's membership to make way for persons in the territory served by the Illinois Central were Vincent Astor, New York; Robert E. Connolly, New York; Robert W. Goelet, Newport, R. I.; John D. Peabody, New York, and Cornelius Vanderbilt, New York.

Presiding at the stockholders' meeting, Downs commented briefly on the road's achievement in reducing its funded indebtedness by a total of approximately $10,000,000 during the last eight years in a period when competition was cutting heavily into the road's freight revenues.

EGG CONTRACTS YIELD AGAIN ON PROFIT TAKING

Profit taking continued to force egg futures lower yesterday on the Chicago Mercantile exchange. Both the storage packed firsts for May delivery and the October refrigerator standards contract closed ¼ cent lower. Cash markets also were weaker, prices averaging a quarter cent lower despite light receipts.

November butter lost ⅛ cent a pound at the opening and held steady at 26⅛ cents throughout the trading session, purchases by the Federal Surplus Commodity corporation helping to maintain the market. Standards [90-score] eased a quarter of a cent to 24¾ cents, their low of the year, in the cash market.

SEC Drops Proceedings Against Three Brokers

Washington, D. C., May 18.—(AP)—The Securities and Exchange commission today dropped its proceedings against three New York brokers it had accused of violating the securities act by manipulating Auburn Automobile stock. The commission said two respondents, Gerald M. Loeb and Gordon B. Crary, had announced they were resigning from the New York Stock exchange firm of E. F. Hutton & Co.—Loeb for a period of ten months and Crary for eight months. No reason was given for discontinuing the proceedings against H. Terry Morrison, except that the commission had reconsidered its charges.

Newark, N. J., May 18.—(AP)—Three individuals claiming to own stock valued at $800,000 in the Reynolds Investing company filed in federal court today a petition asking reorganization of the company under section 77B of the federal bankruptcy act. The company was one of ninety-one defendants named in a suit started in federal court Monday by Arthur A. Ballantine, trustee for the Continental Securities corporation, to recover more than $3,300,000. Judge Guy L. Fake directed the Reynolds company to show cause May 25 why the petition should not be approved.

POWER OUTPUT GAINS SLIGHTLY IN LAST WEEK

Production of electricity in the United States increased moderately during the week ended May 14 and showed a slightly smaller decline from year ago figures than in the preceding week, according to figures made public yesterday by the Edison Electric institute.

Output aggregated 1,967,613,000 kilowatt hours, a decrease of 10.3 per cent from the 2,194,620,000 kilowatt hour production in the corresponding 1937 week. The industry turned out 1,939,100,000 kilowatt hours in the week ended May 7, a decrease of 10.9 per cent from a year ago.

The Commonwealth Edison company group's output in the Chicago area also gained, but the decrease from a year ago was 8.7 per cent, the same as in the week ended May 7.

Indianapolis Is Reported Likely to Buy Gas Company

Indianapolis, Ind., May 18.—[Special.]—Sale of the Indianapolis Gas company to the city of Indianapolis is imminent, it was reported here tonight. The city three years ago acquired property of the Citizens Gas company, which in turn had leased property of the Indianapolis Gas company. A group purporting to represent a majority of Indianapolis Gas bondholders and also a majority of stockholders is negotiating with the Indianapolis utility district for sale of Indianapolis Gas property.

BEG YOUR PARDON

Net income of Caterpillar Tractor company was $7,434,277 in the twelve months ended April 30, compared with $11,002,176 in the corresponding 1937 period. Incorrect figures previously reported, $54,803,231 and $60,986,254, respectively, were net sales.

A dispatch from New York which appeared in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE last Tuesday said the New York Stock exchange firm of Reynolds & Co. was a defendant in a suit filed by Arthur A. Ballantine as trustee for the Continental Securities corporation. This was an error. The firm actually named was the Reynolds Investing Company, Inc.

WOOLWORTH CO. PROFIT RUNNING ABOVE YEAR AGO

Consolidated Oil Is Covering Dividend.

Earnings of the F. W. Woolworth company to date this year are running well ahead of those for the corresponding period of 1937, stockholders were told yesterday at the annual meeting of the company. Stockholders of the Consolidated Oil corporation also received a word of encouragement when they were told that the big petroleum company's dividend is being covered, although earnings are not running as high as they were a year ago.

E. C. Mauchly, vice president of the Woolworth company, who presided at the annual meeting, said that the ability of the company to show a sales increase of $2,111,600 in the first four months of this year over the like 1937 period by advancing its volume to $87,192,528 was held to be most encouraging in view of general economic conditions.

Every effort is being made, he said, to show continued increases in sales.

Most Goods Made In U. S.

Mauchly declared that of the merchandise purchased for resale in the company's stores 98 per cent is American made. The company's program of store improvement and enlargement has shown such satisfactory results, he continued, that it is the intention of the management to continue its present improvement policy.

At the end of 1937, he said the company's chain consisted of 2,010 units in operation in the United States, Canada, and Cuba, and there are now eighteen new locations under lease to be opened this year. The company's affiliate in Great Britain at the end of 1937 had 711 units in operation and 82 units were being operated by the German subsidiary.

Discussing the company's huge tax bill, Mauchly said that last year it totaled $11,397,225, equal to $1.17 a share on the common stock. This was about a third of the company's net income for 1937 of $33,176,509, or $3.40 a share, after deducting $10,011,192 for amortization, depreciation, and reserve for federal taxes.

Wage Bill Higher.

Other factors contributing to increased operating costs, he said, were advances in wages totaling approximately $4,500,000, unemployment insurance, federal old age pensions, and the increased expense of operating the new and enlarged stores.

Harry F. Sinclair, presiding at the Consolidated Oil meeting, told the stockholders that earnings are not running as high as they were last year. "However, we are covering our dividend," he said.

The stockholders authorized a reduction in the preferred shares from 1,000,000 to 306,758 shares by reducing the number of athorized but unissued shares from 943,242 to 250,000 shares.

An unusual aspect of the Consolidated Oil meeting was the participation of an oil labor leader in the session. Harvey Freming, head of the International Oil Workers' union, who was invited to the meeting, declared that general business looked none too bright.

Optional Odd Lot Trading.

Optional odd lot trading may benefit the small investor or speculator and also swell trading volume on the exchange using the system. It has been adopted by the Chicago and Boston Stock exchanges.

Round lot orders are those for 100 shares, or multiples of 100, on the New York exchange and for 50 shares and multiples on the Chicago exchange. Odd lot orders are executed ⅛ point "away from" the next round lot sale. That is, if an order is placed for 10 shares at the market, and the next round lot sale of the stock involved is at 20½ a share, the buyer pays 20⅝, and the odd lot dealer gets ⅛ point for his services. If the order were to sell at the market, the seller would get 20⅜, and the odd lot dealer his ⅛. Thus, odd lot quotations depend on the round lot market.

The optional odd lot rule of the Chicago exchange provides that odd lot orders for stocks listed on both Chicago and New York exchanges may be executed in Chicago on the basis of either the next round lot sale on the Chicago exchange or the next round lot sale on the New York exchange. In New York, odd lot orders may be executed on the basis of New York round lot transactions only. Odd lot transactions in Chicago previously were on the basis of round lot sales in Chicago only.

The optional method of determining the odd lot price gives the buyer or seller the advantage of a more "continuous" market, because of the larger number of round lot transactions on two exchanges than on only one.

LAKE SHIPMENTS OF CHICAGO CORN CONTINUE HEAVY

Despite the handicap of unfavorable weather conditions Chicago grain elevators on Tuesday loaded 605,000 more bushels of corn into lake steamers, making a total of 4,500,000 bushels loaded from May 13 to 17 inclusive, it was reported yesterday. Shipments from Chicago on Tuesday were placed at 1,728,000 bushels, including 1,130,000 bushels to Canadian ports, 220,000 bushels to Buffalo, and 378,000 bushels to Oswego, N. Y.

The amount of corn loaded at Chicago elevators and the shipments during the five days established a new all time record. Shipments of corn by lake from April 10 to May 17, according to a report by Lyman C. West, statistician of the Chicago Board of Trade, aggregated 20,903,000 bushels, of whcih 13,792,000 bushels were shipped so far this month.

Shipments of corn during the entire 1937 lake navigation season were only 7,079,000 bushels.

ASK CANCELING OF 'PITTSBURGH PLUS' DECISION

U. S. Steel, Subsidiaries Take Court Action.

A petition asking that the order issued by the federal trade commission in 1934 stopping the practice in the steel industry known as the "Pittsburgh plus" method of establishing steel prices be set aside was filed yesterday in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals by the United States Steel corporation and its principal operating subsidiaries.

Spokesmen for the corporation said there is no desire on the part of the corporation to return to the Pittsburgh plus method of establishing prices. The petition was filed, they said because there are certain minor provisions of the order with which the steel companies have not been able to comply and the deadline for any action to stop the enforcement of the order is May 21.

"Pittsburgh Plus" Defined.

"Pittsburgh plus" was a practice of selling products at delivered prices which were equal to the "freight on board" prices Pittsburgh, plus an amount equal to freight from Pittsburgh to destination, regardless of the point where such products actually were manufactured.

As an example, Chicago buyers of steel under the Pittsburgh plus system would have to pay the price asked at Gary plus the amount of the freight rates from Pittsburgh to Chicago. This practice was attacked in the middle west as being unfair because it forced buyers from middle west steel plants to pay an added amount equal to the freight cost to destination from Pittsburgh.

No Action to Enforce Order.

The steel corporation explained that although the federal trade commission never has taken any court action to enforce its order, the order has not been actually rescinded. Under the provision of a recent amendment to the federal trade commission act, the order would have become final had no action been taken before May 21 to set it aside.

United States Steel and other steel companies, it was explained, have not found it practicable to comply with all the provisions of the order, although complying with the general order. The provisions not being complied with, it was explained, would prevent the steel companies from meeting price competition in many markets.

CANADIANS FIGHT TEXAS CORP. FOR CONTROL OF FIRM

MONTREAL, Que., May 18.—(AP)—A fight between Canadian interests and the Texas corporation for control of McColl-Frontenac Oil company, big dominion refiner and marketer, took shape today as shareholders of the latter were circularized with an appeal to retain Canadian dominance of the company.

Nesbitt, Thomson & Co., Canadian firm which has financed McColl-Frontenac since its inception, said in a letter to shareholders:

"We are sending you this proxy appeal because we object to the attempt of an American company [representing, according to their own statement, less than 35 per cent of the common shares] to control the management and policies of a Canadian company . . . which has been financed and built up by Canadians."

The annual meeting, for which proxies were solicited, will be held May 26 in Montreal.

Senate Group Approves Bank Gifts to Charity

Washington, D. C., May 18.—(AP)—The senate banking committee approved today a bill permitting National banks to make contributions to charitable organizations. John Burke, president of B. Altman & Co., New York City, and vice president of the Greater New York fund, urged approval of the measure, citing a ruling by the controler general that such contributions were not permissible under strict interpretation of the national banking act.

LESS U. S. GOODS SOLD TO JAPAN, MORE TO CHINA

Washington, May 18.—(AP)—China has increased and Japan has decreased purchases of American goods in recent months, the commerce department said today.

Exports to China totaled $22,356,000 in the first quarter of 1938, compared with $18,358,000 in the first quarter of 1937. Japanese purchases dropped to $62,572,000 from $77,322,000 in the similar period last year.

Both nations, however, sold less goods to the United States. Chinese sales dropped to $12,753,000 from $32,766,000 last year, and Japanese sales declined to $30,312,000 from $53,718,000.

Japan cut down sharply on purchases of American cotton, scrap iron, and steel, oil, scrap copper, automobiles, and lumber. China bought more automobiles and parts, gasoline, copper, and cotton.

The major shrinkage in American purchases from Japan was in raw silk.

CO-ORDINATION OF HOUSING UNITS SOUGHT BY U. S.

Washington, May 18.—(AP)—Secretary Roper today disclosed that Frederic A. Delano, uncle of the President, is attempting to coördinate federal housing agencies.

Roper said Delano, who is chairman of the national resources committee, is conferring with representatives of the Federal Housing administration, the Federal Home Loan Bank board and other agencies connected with housing in an effort to coördinate or consolidate some of their activities.

Consolidation of the FHA and the home loan bank board has been urged by Senator Byrd [D., Va.]. The home loan bank board and many administration congressmen opposed.

"The various agencies charged with phases of the housing problem should be brought together in one national endeavor to meet the situation," Roper said.

DODGE—1934 4 DOOR SEDAN—IN THE much sought METALLIC TAN finish. Very easy to keep clean. This car was traded to us by a man who insisted on his automobile running like clockwork at all times. Incidentally we had very few adjustments to make to bring it up to our standard of performance. The de luxe equipment includes 2 horns, 2 windshield wipers, heater and seat covers. Tires are certainly capable of many miles of carefree driving.
